Prices Were Strong But Trading Light

New York, Dec. 27.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said: Although trading was somewhat more active than on Tuesday, there was but moderate interest displayed today in the movements of the stock market. Prices were generally quite strong in the industrial list, but the railroad shares were neglected and price changes in that department were narrow. Such as these changes were, however, they were firm under the influence of vague reports of a tacit agreement between the railroad managers and brotherhood representatives on a nine hour day as substitute for the Adamson law. There appeared no ground whatever on which to base such a report.

May Increase Room of Salem Postoffice

The following letter was received by Postmaster August Huestein from Senator Harry Lane, dated December 20, at Washington: "The Omnibus Public Building bill is still pending in the house, and when it reaches the senate, I will endeavor to have the amount asked for in the bill introduced by Senator Chamberlain incorporated therein. I assure you I will do everything I can do in this connection." The appropriation for an addition to the Salem postoffice mentioned in the letter of Senator Lane is for $60,000. About two years ago Postmaster Huestein brought the needs of the Salem postoffice before the two senators and just at present it seems that Salem's chance will depend on whether the bill for the amount introduced by Senator Chamberlain will be incorporated in the Omnibus public building bill, now in the house.

Death Toll Still Unknown

Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 27.—With wire communication from the south central portion of the state still badly crippled, it was impossible to get the exact death toll in the tornado that swept that portion of the state late yesterday. The known dead this morning were four white persons and five negroes. More than a score of persons are reported injured.

Allen Ray Smith, whose home is at 2590 Fairgrounds, has enlisted in the navy through the local office. He has been sent to the training station at San Francisco. He is 17 years of age.
