Famous Male Quartet to Sing at the Mathis Vassey Meeting

The audience at the Mathis-Vessey evangelistic services this evening at the First M. E. church will have an opportunity to hear a male quartet composed of singers who are known to be the best that can be found in Salem. This quartet is composed of Superintendent John W. Todd, Frank S. Barton, Richard Barton and Bernard Vessey. It will be a rare treat to hear these men famous for their wonderful voices sing those good old fashioned hymns that we all want to hear.

There will also be a chorus of about one hundred voices. The Mathis-Vessey meetings are becoming famous for the music. They have real music that causes one to feel it through and through. It is music that one will always remember and wish that it might be sung over and over.

The talk given by Mr. Mathis last evening was direct, forceful, and to the point. He spoke upon the "Devil and How He Works Us." His presentation of the subject was original and exceedingly interesting. Mr. Mathis has his way of treating a subject which cannot fail to appeal to all fair-minded persons. He treats his subject in a common sense manner and he is always fair and square toward those who come to hear him.

The following are a few quotations from the address delivered last night by Mr. Mathis: "The devil can quote scripture, he can beat some church members at that." "There is only one way in my humble opinion to interpret the scriptures and that is in the light of the scriptures themselves."

"Some folks think they have too good a voice to sing for God, too good a voice to sing with the common herd. God never made anything too good to praise him."

In the parlance of Wall street, Sherman's celebrated axiom is no longer axiomatic. It's 't'other thing that's it.

Much Power In Britain's Council Is Held By These Three Gentlemen

Unconventional portraits of three men who are leading powers in the new British war council are shown in the accompanying picture. No. 1, Arthur Henderson, Laborite, sending a letter to South African labor leaders; No. 2, Earl Curzon, Unionist, government leader in the house of lords; No. 3, Andrew Bonar Law, Unionist, who declined the premiership, but acts as leader of the government forces in the house of commons. He is seen here conversing with Viscount French, who commands the home forces in Great Britain, after having been relieved of the chief command in France.

Hides to the Orient Tallow to Russia

Portland, Or., Jan. 3.—For the first time in the history of this country the exportation of hides is toward the orient. It is said that practically all the hides of the Pacific coast are being shipped to Japan to make shoes for Russian soldiers.

Tallow shortages are causing the large soap manufacturers some concern as Russia is bidding for the supply of the western states.

There is great curiosity in the world concerning the date on which the salesman shall begin to say "the price has gone up on account of peace."

BAR PAYS TRIBUTE TO JUDGE GALLOWAY

Long Time Friends Gather to Honor Man Who Honored the Bench

No finer tribute to a living man was ever paid than that received in the circuit court rooms yesterday when about 20 members of the Linn County Bar association met in the presence of Judge William Galloway, who retires from office January first, and adopted resolutions of confidence and appreciation of his services on the bench for the past 12 years.

Judge Galloway was taken completely by surprise and was considerably overcome by the eloquence and words of praise in his behalf. He sat with head bowed during the entire time that every member in the room spoke, and when all was through he found it difficult to phrase the appreciation of the many tributes paid him by his fellow members of the bar.

Especially was he touched by the talks of J. K. Weatherford, Judge H. H. Hewitt and W. R. Bilyeu, with whom he has been associated for many years. He was moved by the references of Mark V. Weatherford whose father was associated with Judge Galloway in the early days when they were freighting down the Columbia river. Willard L. Marks made an impressive talk, voicing his appreciation of the many courtesies of the judge. And so on through a list of speakers which included C. C. Bryant, Victor Oliver, L. M. Carl, L. G. Lewelling, Gale S. Hill, Dan Johnston, Judge L. L. Swan, Geo. W. Wright, Carl Sox and F. E. Van Tassel.

J. K. Weatherford presided and put the resolutions which were made a part of the court's record. Last evening the members of the bar tendered Judge Galloway a love feast in the Hotel Albany as a final compliment before his leaving the bench in Linn county. On Jan. 1 he will be succeeded by George G. Ingham of Salem, who was elected last November. Judge Galloway has been judge in the equity department of the circuit court of Marion and Linn counties for the past 12 years. His decisions have never been questioned from a standpoint of honesty and he is always known to have done the right thing as he saw it. Before coming to the bench in 1905 he was for eight years receiver of the U. S. land office in Oregon City, where he gained much valuable practice and information that assisted him materially in rendering his decisions in many land cases. He was appointed by President Cleveland and served through the terms of President McKinley and part of Roosevelt's. Prior to that he was county judge of Yamhill county from 1890 to 1894. In 1891 he was a candidate for governor on the democratic ticket. Not only among the members of the bar in Linn county has Judge William Galloway made many friends, but among hundreds of people who have had the pleasure of personal associations with him. Following is a copy of the resolutions adopted: Be it resolved, That

Whereas, Judge William Galloway has presided over the equity department of the circuit court of the state of Oregon for Linn county during the past 12 years; and

Whereas, his term of office is expiring; and

Whereas, during said time through the intimate association of the judge and the bar, Judge Galloway has established himself in the affection and friendship of the bar.

Now, Therefore, We, the members of the bar of Linn county, Oregon, assembled, hereby express our belief and confidence in the honesty and integrity of Judge Galloway and congratulate him on retiring in all his judicial acts and at all times an earnest desire to accomplish the right and to administer justice and equity to the litigants who came before him, without fear or favor.

We also desire to express to Judge Galloway our appreciation of and thanks for the kind and considerate treatment accorded by him to the attorneys who practiced before him, granting ample opportunity to be heard and fair consideration. We recognize in Judge Galloway a painstaking, careful, honest, able and conscientious judge and hope in the years to come our associations may become more intimate and our friendships more enduring.

Respectfully submitted, J. K. WEATHERFORD, H. H. HEWITT, GEO. W. WRIGHT, Committee on Resolutions. —Albany Democrat.

Guarantees Not to Sign Contract with Strikers

Portland, Ore., Jan. 3.—As an answer to the statements of striking metal workers in persuading workers at the Willamette Iron and Steel company's plant, where 400 men are striking, to join the ranks of the unionists, President B. C. Ball of the concern today has posted $10,000 which he guarantees to divide among his employes in case his company signs any agreement with the strikers during 1917.

The strikers' pickets had been approaching some of the 60 men still working with the arguments that the company was to sign a closed shop contract with the metal trades council and pointing out to the strikebreakers that they would be left out in the cold unless they join the strikers.

SAYS HE DISCUSSED DANISH WEST INDIES

Secretary Lansing's Call On Stone Had No Bearing On Peace Notes

By Robert J. Bender. (United Press staff correspondent.) Washington, Jan. 3.—Secretary Lansing went to the capitol today and held a half hour conference with Chairman Stone of the foreign relations committee.

The secretary refused to discuss his conference, except to say he talked over with Stone the question of raising the $25,000,000 purchase price of the Danish West Indies.

Senator Stone voluntarily offered the information that "peace was not discussed." Neither Stone nor Lansing would listen to other questions.

Whether the matter of congressional endorsement of President Wilson's notes to belligerents was discussed could not be learned immediately following the conference.

The administration has studiously avoided renewing its threat to break relations with Germany in event of a resumption of relentless submarine warfare. But many interpreted the president's consultations and Lansing's visit today as being significant of a desire to have congress on record in support of the president's note, which was admittedly a warning to Germany.

announcing the death of Jesse Chamberlin, a former resident of Macleay, who resided at Mill City at the time of his death. His death occurred Tuesday morning, caused by pneumonia. The funeral will be Thursday, at the Fox Valley cemetery. He was well known here and his many friends in this community offer their sympathies to the family. Mrs. F. E. Goodell has been quite sick for the past week, but is able to be around again. It is reported that Mrs. Wilbur Morris, a former resident of Macleay, is also ill. School resumed operation again Tuesday after the holidays, with the usual after-vacation results of absence and unlearned lessons. Harlan Hoffman was a visitor at the school during the afternoon Tuesday. Mrs. Theron Russell spent Christmas with her parents at Shelburne. Mr. Frink, of this community, was called to Washington state recently on account of the death of his aunt, Mrs. Wilson. He accompanied the body to Minneapolis, where it was to be buried.

It is not known when he will return. An epidemic of chickenpox has struck Macleay and the Buile and Omie Martin children are suffering from this disease. The J. M. Martin children have just recovered from it and are able to go to school. The others, however, are still shut in at home. The Chamberlin children, Clara and Dorothy, also are victims. A small watch party was held at the Frank Robinson home Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Martin and daughter, Alva, were guests. The Misses Hilda and Beulah Witzel were visitors at the J. M. Martin home last week. They returned home Saturday. Emory Todd, of Sutter, Cal., a cousin of Homer Russell, has been visiting at the Russell for the past two weeks. He expects to return home soon.
