THE MARKETS

The following prices for fruits and vegetables are those asked by the wholesaler of the retailer, and not what is paid to the producer. All other prices are those paid the producer. Corrections are made daily. The market changes today are mostly in the fruit and vegetable line, of interest most to retailers. For instance, cabbage is now selling wholesale at 2 cents, sweet potatoes at 4 cents, onions a little higher and lemons a little lower. There was an advance of 20 cents a barrel on flour yesterday, which brought several brands up five cents a sack. The potato market is strong. The quotations of $1.25 to $1.50 mean that to bring the higher price, the spuds would have to be of mighty fine quality.

Falls City Sawmill Will Resume Operation Some Time This Week

After an almost continuous shut-down for a year and a half, the large sawmill at Falls City will resume operations today or tomorrow. W. T. Grier stated yesterday that it was expected that the mill would be operated continuously, and a large number of men who have been idle for a long time are to be given work again. The plant, together with the thousands of acres of standing timber west of Falls City, was formerly owned by the Falls City Lumber company. The old company has ceased to exist, all its holdings having been turned over to the new organization—the Falls City Lumber and Logging company. In the mill pond at Falls City thousands of logs have been piled up for the purpose of insuring a continuous run when the mill commences operations this week. There is a considerable portion of the timber wintered when logging in the mountains to the west of Falls City is impossible owing to the snow, and it is for the purpose of providing logs during these periods that the supply has been stacked in Falls City at this time. The car shortage existing has been responsible for the failure of the company to open up sooner. Falls City citizens and business men are elated over the prospects of resumption of business by the mill company. Since the shutdown nearly two years ago conditions have been bad in the lumbering center of Polk county. A large percentage of the population depends mainly upon the mill and the logging camps for their labor. There are few sawmill plants in the Willamette valley of larger capacity and more modern than the institution at Falls City. It has a capacity of approximately 75,000 feet a day, and $100,000 is invested in the equipment. The company has 15 or 20 miles of railroad intersecting its timber holdings, and maintains two logging camps—Dallas and Oregon. Oregon City: The contract for concrete work and construction proper for the new addition to the Oregon City woolen mill was let Saturday to the Russensen-Grace company, of Portland. The same contractors built the station A addition to the Hawley Pulp & Paper company's plant here recently. The amount of the Russensen-Grace bid was not made public by A. B. Jacobs, president of the company. Construction will start with good weather, it is expected. Other contracts in connection with the construction have not yet been let. The Baker Democrat believes there is "a good deal of nonsense about high prices keeping men from entering on land." It says further: "Real farmers have no trouble getting land and making good, even when they are compelled to pay what seems to be high prices when compared with the charge for government land in remote localities."
