SOCIETY

By ALINE THOMPSON

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Hofer were hosts last night for a charming dinner party in honor of their sister, Miss Florence Hofer, who is home from the University of California for the holidays.

Dinner was followed by an evening of bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Carrier, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Carrier, have returned to their home in Centralia, Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Roma Hunter will be hosts tonight when they will entertain the members of the T. A. N. O. club with an informal "500" party.

Judge Peter H. D'Aray and his sister, Miss Teresa D'Aray, who have been sojourning in California for the past month, arrived home yesterday. They have had a delightful trip, visiting many places of interest.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rickett, on the Garden road, was the scene of a jolly informal party recently, when the Busy club and their families gathered to celebrate the third anniversary of the club.

The house was effectively decorated in keeping with the season and at a late hour the party closed with a supper.

During the evening a short program was given which included the following numbers: Reading of the chronicles of the neighborhood, by Mrs. Alex Martin; vocal duet, Annie and Myra Gleason; reading, Mrs. C. H. Holms; vocal solo, Mrs. Pinnel; vocal duet, Mrs. Pinnel, Mrs. Ethel Wilson; short talks by Mr. Craig, Mr. Swegle and Mrs. Lansing.

A feature of the festivity was the old fashioned spelling match for which the losers are to honor the winning team with a supper in the near future. Mr. Surlges was captain of the winners and Mrs. Rickett of the losers.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rickett, Mrs. Henry Savage, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Husselman, Mrs. Alex Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Savage, Mrs. Al Hasemussen, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kuckelberg, Mrs. Geo. Gosper, Mr. and Mrs. Craig and small daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Springer and little son, Mr. and Mrs. P. Steward, Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kostenborder, Mrs. Homer Steward, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cavanaugh, Mrs. Matt Gleason, Mr. and Mrs. P. Stark, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Gralup, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Holms, Mrs. Geo. Swegle, Mr. and Mrs. Al Mason and son Joe, Mr. and Mrs. Pinnel, Mrs. Ethel Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. John Konrad, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Lansing, the Misses Ada Simpson, Veruetta and Mable Rickett, Maud, Mable, Mary, Nancy and Helen Savage, Vera and Sadie Bishop, Beryl Cooper, Edna Kostenborder, Lillianna and Ruby Steward, Annie and Myra Gleason, Meta Stark, Louise Martin and Mill Wilson, Messrs. WEAR THOSE SHOES THAT TORTURED YOU

Cincinnati Authority Tells How to Dry Up a Corn So It Lifts Out

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezeone applied directly on a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once and soon the corn loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A quarter of an ounce of freezeone costs very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue or skin.

Lawson Takes Fling at Congress' Action

New York, Jan. 4.—Thomas W. Lawson is sailing for Europe Saturday and will not be able to tell the house rules committee all about the leaks of Wall Street, he announced in a telegram to Speaker Clark today.

The telegram as given out by Lawson this afternoon reads:

"I deeply regret that my long standing intention to sail for Europe next Saturday will make it impossible for me to listen to some of the distinguished statesmen of the body over which you preside so ably, denouncing the leaves whose greed for easy but dirty wealth has made a nasty dollar brother of congress and Wall Street."

"At the invitation of Chairman Henry, I went into conference with him. He showed me (that the administration affairs of the government were such a condition that a good citizen should lend aid in smoothing any investigation of recent financial floundering of public officials, at least temporarily.

"Had I known that the verbal garbage dumped upon a private citizen was so highly scented I would have seen your august body in the southeast hall before putting myself in the way.

"If the testimony should be needed, kindly postpone the investigation until my return."

ALKAHI IN SOAP BAD FOR THE HAIR

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mildified coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mildified coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

GREWSOME EVIDENCE IN TRIAL FOR MURDER

Head of Woman Is Brought Into Court Room to Show Jury

Osage, N. H., Jan. 4.—The head of Mrs. Florence Arlene Small, murdered wife of Frederick B. Small, on trial here charged with the crime, was shown to the jury today by Dr. George B. Magrath, Boston medical examiner. A shudder ran through the court room.

Dr. Magrath lifted the head from a white cloth in his bag. During all the time that he freely handled it, describing various wounds to the jury, Small kept his face buried in his hands.

Before the head was brought into court Judge Kixel said:

"I will say now I think it wise for the ladies to step out of the court room, especially the married ladies. I warn you now, you can stay in or go out, but you will be responsible for any physical injury that may come later."

About 30 women filed out of the court room. Several women remained, in addition to the stenographer and one reporter.

Dr. Magrath then lifted a white cloth from his bag and unfolded it, placed the head in a standing position on the shelf of the witness stand, with the face turned toward the jury box.

He described in detail the condition of the body. The jurors gave close attention.

There was no evidence of a criminal assault according to the witness.

The head was displayed for 15 minutes, after which it was put back in Magrath's handbag.

FIFTEEN CHILDREN TORNADO VICTIMS

Storm Sweeps Up Canyon, Wrecks School House, None Escape Injuries

McAlester, Okla., Jan. 5.—The death toll in the Mission school house tragedy at Vireton, north of here, went to fifteen when four children died today from injuries sustained when a tornado wrecked the school house yesterday. Jesse Rose, age 8, and Florence Rose, 15, died at their home near Vireton, and Elsie and Raymond Perry, aged 13 and 8, respectively, died in the hospital here.

Ripping everything from roots and foundation as the tornado swept along, a little Baptist Indian mission at Vireton, with twenty eight within, was picked up and tossed in the air, scattering its human debris as it was dragged along. But two escaped injury.

The dead:

Jessie Bristow, 17.
Lilly Bristow, 7.
Budge Brummett, 6.
Marta Davis, 9.
Olie Davis, 7.
Albert Dickinson, 6.
Floyd McFall, 7.
James Padley, 13.
Etta Pabblerton, 17.
Alta Warren, 18.
Verda Warren, 14.

Originating at Richville, the storm gained momentum as it swung up the ravine and when it passed the Choctaw Indian mission it had sufficient force to tear that frail building from its foundation. Further up the narrow valley the tornado struck the Vireton school house and let nothing but three boards to mark the spot where it stood.

It was nearly midnight before all children had been accounted for. A couple of miles farther on the storm had spent itself.

Output 45 Per Cent of Normal Mill Capacity

Portland, Or., Jan. 5.—There was a big curtailment in the production of lumber in the Pacific northwest during the past week because of the holiday shut down which resulted in a production of only 45 per cent of normal. With both mills and salesmen idle, orders and shipments were also less. At that there is on hands at 131 mills of this territory, according to reports just issued by the West Coast Lumbermen's association, a total of unshipped transcontinental rail orders amounting to 13,175 carloads, the greatest total yet reached and passing the small calibre rifle with which he later sought death was newly purchased. Newspapers shrieking the ghastly details of the beautiful model's murder and the relentless police pursuit of the then unknown murderer, littered the floor. But Lewis did not add the final touch to the tragedy of the Primrose path until he heard the long feared knock of detectives at his door. Then he put the muzzle of the rifle to his forehead and fired.

Detectives who burst the door open found his limp body in the bath tub, found suspicious scratches on his fingers, as if they had been the ones which in fury beat and tore the beautiful flesh of Mazie Colbert, found a handkerchief stained with what looked like blood in his bureau drawer.

Wore Woman's Undershirt

Search of Lewis' effects today disclosed two important items—first, that Lewis wore a woman's pink silk undershirt; second, that the bloody shirt and collar found in Miss Colbert's room after the murder are of the same size as that worn by Lewis and are of the same make. Efforts will be made to identify the pink silk undershirt as one belonging to the dead girl.

Practically without money and driven to frenzy by the suspicion centered on him, Lewis apparently was in a hopeless condition. His clothes were unkept and he wore a shirt of cheap material—a direct contrast to the neat society man of several years ago.

While detectives say they believe Lewis killed the cafe butterfly, friends

HOSPITAL BUILDING NOT YET VACATED

Board of Control Takes Up Matter—May Make State's "Juice"

Matters of general interest came before the board of control yesterday afternoon at its regular monthly meeting. It was brought to the attention of the board that the Salem Hospital, which was to have vacated the present site on December 1, 1916, was still doing business at the old stand. On that date the state had expected to occupy the site and the building.

Representatives of the hospital board were present and stated they believed they would be able to raise money soon for a new building. It was the opinion of Secretary of State Oleott that one of three things might be done—the matter might be let go for some time as it is, or the state might evict the hospital and take possession, or else the whole affair might be cancelled and the money paid refunded. The hospital representatives assured the board they expected an early solution to the problem, and the board allowed the matter to remain undecided for some time.

On account of a threatened nervous breakdown on the part of Mrs. Esther Hopkins, matron of the Girls' Industrial school, she asked the board yesterday for three months' leave of absence. Pending the report of the advisory committee which was investigating the availability of a suitable substitute, the matter was not acted upon.

On account of the announcement that the contracts for supplying electricity to the state institutions here will expire July 1, 1918, the proposition of the state manufacturing its own electricity came up before the board of control yesterday. It was shown that it costs the state from fifteen to eighteen hundred dollars a month for light and power. It is the belief of the board that the state could install a plant on North Mill Creek and make it "juice" at very little expense.

Old record by about 2000 cars. Production at the 131 mills last week was 39,646,757 feet, which was 48,993,243 feet below the normal capacity of these mills.

Orders amounted to 59,655,930 feet, or 33.54 per cent above production. The new transcontinental business amounted to 44,300,000 feet, or approximately 1772 carloads. Shipbuilding and local requirements resulted in orders for 5,210,308 feet. California and Alaska orders amounted to 8,991,422 feet; and export orders, 2,054,000 feet.

Shipments by rail amounted to 35,325,000 feet or 1413 carloads. Local team and auto deliveries amounted to 4,772,935 feet. Coastwise cargo shipments were heavy with a total of 13,261,406 feet. Export clearances for the week totaled 4,212,617 feet.

Shipments, while estimated at more than 34 per cent below normal, were still more than 31 per cent above production for the week.

All orders exceeded all shipments by approximately 3 per cent. Orders from rail trade territory were 20 per cent heavier than shipments to that territory; but cargo shipments, which were 7,628,401 feet heavier than cargo orders, evened up the relationship of orders to shipments, partially wiping out the heavy gain in rail orders as compared with rail shipments.

At the beginning of business on Tuesday the mills participating in this week's trade barometer had unshipped balances on their books as follows: Transcontinental trade, 13,175 carloads or approximately 33,583,308 feet; coastwise, 59,735,960 feet export, 59,576,800 feet.

Snobbery Wrecked Her Life.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 5.—Three members of Pittsburgh's exclusive social set were paying today the toll that Mazie Colbert declared in Warren, Pa., seven years ago, that she would exact from society because it refused to accept her. They were Wenman Lewis and his wife, father and mother of Bernard Wesley Lewis, and the widow of the spendthrift broker, who ended his wife in an Atlantic City hotel yesterday.

"They will pay; I'll make them or die in the attempt," Mazie is said to have told a girl friend shortly before she left Warren to embark wilfully upon the course that brought death to her and to Lewis. By "they" she meant society.

Mazie was a waitress in the Exchange hotel in Warren. There she fell in love with a young millionaire, member of one of the wealthiest and most prominent families in northwestern Pennsylvania. The match was broken through the interference of her fiancé's parents.

Her friends there declare that it was a real love match—the part of each—and probably the only sincere affair of the heart that the Kane beauty ever had. Because of the refusal of his family to permit the marriage, Mazie declared vengeance, swore quietly but emphatically that she was through with the path of rectitude. A few days later she left Warren, went to Erie and was initiated by a woman, notorious throughout the east, in the baiting, bleeding, heartbreaking and home-rendering game that she pursued for the next six years in Philadelphia.

MUSTEROLE—QUICK RELIEF! NO BLISTER!

It Soothes and Relieves Like a Mustard Plaster Without the Burn or Sting

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. It does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster—does it better and does not blister. You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and usually the pain is gone!

Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients. They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

Detectives are now working to trace every movement made by Lewis after he left Powell at the curb waiting for his money.
