PLANKING OF BRIDGE IS STILL IN DOUBT

Southern Pacific Officials Have Not Consented to Plan. But May

A telegram was received this morning from the higher up officials of the Southern Pacific at San Francisco that the matter of planking the bridge was under consideration, but nothing definite had been decided.

The state highway commission will submit to the county court next Wednesday its estimates of costs and maintenance of different types of bridges, both steel and concrete, and high or low level. The government requires a distance of 65 feet between the bridge and the low water.

Since the cost of steel has advanced and the delays in securing steel have become known, there is a general sentiment towards the cement bridge. Polk county has always been in favor of a cement bridge, as expressed in a resolution at a meeting of county road men October 28 of last year.

DIAZ BROTHERS IN CONTROL OF STATE

Have Plenty of Ammunition, Which Reaches Them by Way of South America

Galveston, Texas, Jan. 13.—Practically the entire state of Vera Cruz is controlled by Felicistas and Felix Diaz is receiving all the ammunition he wants from this country, it being first sent to Belize and South American ports for trans-shipment.

Many persons were killed, it was reported, when Felicistas attacked a Mexican National train at Paso Del Macho, January 5.

DIED

BURR—At his home, 1195 North Twentieth street, Friday, January 12, 1917, Theron Burr, in his 69th year.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. A. N. Thompson, of Seattle, and one brother, Almon Burr, of Waterloo, Wis.

The funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the home. Burial will be in Lee Mission cemetery.

At the funeral, Mr. A. Slaughter, president of the Butter Makers' association, were heartily in favor of such a move, and we decided to call a meeting at the Marion hotel, Salem, Ore., January 17, at 2 p. m.

"It is urgently requested that your manager or representative be present, as you cannot afford to miss being represented and no creamery can have business of more importance than this meeting will be, and our success depends upon the number represented.

"The object of the meeting will be to discuss all problems for the betterment of our business, whether pertaining to markets, butterfat prices, cream grading, legislation or what not, and providing ways and means of accomplishing whatever we decide to take up.

"We sincerely hope that you will appreciate the importance of this meeting to you and that you will be in attendance."

It has not been decided whether to organize a permanent institution or to devote the meeting solely to a discussion of conditions in the butter industry.

There has long been a feeling that the creameries outside of Portland have been handicapped in selling their product here and an effort may be made to bring the prices of butterfat and butter closer together.

At the present time the outside creameries are forced to meet the competition of the city creameries in buying butterfat at high prices, yet their surplus products, when sold on this market, goes at a much lower quotation.

It is also understood that the Portland Produce Exchange will be a subject of discussion and an investigation into its workings may be ordered to determine whether or not it is being manipulated in the interest of creameries and packers here.

The matter of needed legislation for the protection of the creamery and dairy interests of the state will also be taken up.

GERMANS CAPTURE RUMANIAN TOWN AND 400 PRISONERS

British Make Small Gains in West, and Rumanians at One Point

Berlin, via Sayville wireless, Jan. 13.—Storming and capture of the Rumanian town of Mihalea, with its Russian garrison of 400 soldiers, a number of other Russians being drowned in attempting to escape across the Sereth, was reported in today's official statement.

"At the junction of the Buzaul and Sereth rivers the Bulgarians captured a number of attacks against Serre, the statement said. Northwest of the town of Mihalea, of the Russian garrison 400 were taken prisoner and the remainder drowned in trying to escape across the Sereth. Ten machine guns were captured."

The statement said a dense fog was covering the battle front. Successful attacks north of the Sianic valley were reported, with the capture of four officers and 170 soldiers of other ranks, together with seven machine guns, seven mine throwers and large quantities of rifle ammunition and hand grenades, left behind by the enemy.

British Advance. Berlin, via Sayville wireless, Jan. 13.—British forces gained a footing in one place north of the Ancre, following a number of attacks against Serre, the German official statement said today. "North of the Ancre the English launched new attacks against Serre," the war office said. "The greater part of them were sanguinarily repulsed, but in one fore-position the enemy gained a footing. We hold the main position."

Force Teutons Back. Petrograd, Jan. 13.—East of Monestrika and Kachinul, Rumanian forces succeeded, after a violent struggle, in throwing back Teutonic troops and occupying some of their trenches, today's official statement declared. Three machine guns were captured in the Rumanian attack. "The enemy pressed us back from the height north of the River Sloniki," the statement continued. "Enemy attacks on the height south of the Oituz were repulsed."

On the fighting along the Riga front the statement said: "South of Lake Babyt the Germans attacked in dense masses east of Kalcem. They were beaten back."

Navy Has a Scrap. London, Jan. 13.—A Russian naval squadron raided the Anatolian coast on January 6 and sank forty Turkish sailing vessels bound for Constantinople, with heavy cargoes, according to an announcement attributed to the Petrograd naval staff by the Central News today. Sixty three prisoners were reported captured.

Attack Repulsed. Berlin, via Sayville wireless, Jan. 13.—Repulse of hostile companies east of the Cerna Bend, who were advancing toward Stravnia, was announced in today's official report from the Macedonian battle front.

The "steam shovel case" decision of which was reported yesterday, must not be confused with the celebrated "steam roller case," decided in 1912.

ions of the measure. He admitted the auto struck the boy but states that the machine was going slow, as he never drives very fast at any time and he slowed down in passing the car. After going on a short distance he says he stopped the car and took the boy home. Judge Race fined him the minimum, $5.

Unitarian church: Sunday school 10 a. m. Morning service at 11 o'clock. Subject, "The Church Where You Feel at Home." All members of patriotic societies in Salem are invited. No evening service. The general public always welcome. Rev. James M. Heady, pastor.

On account of the death of the mother of Jay Stevens, of Portland, who was on the program for an address at the Congregational church Sunday evening, he will not be able to appear. Mr. Elvin announces other arrangements will be made for the evening program.

With about two weeks of January gone, the weather record shows two clear days and 11 days cloudy with the wind from the south and only .69 of an inch rainfall. The river now has fallen to the five foot mark. Last night the mercury dropped to the 27 notch.

R. E. Anderson, of Ft. Dodge, will soon make his home in Salem and in selecting a site, has secured a five-acre view tract in Morningside, buying from G. M. Yorke for a cash consideration of $2,600. The tract is partly in orchard. Mr. Anderson intends to remove the buildings on his newly acquired property and erect a modern home. The transfer was handled by W. H. Grabenhorst & Co.

William J. Hollis, who died at his home, 1009 South Twelfth street, January 12, at the age of 75, is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Laura McPeck and Mrs. C. Wood, of this city, and a son, Frank W. Hollis, of Medford. The body was shipped to Berrien Springs, Michigan, by Webb & Clough, for burial.

The next Cherrian jitney dance will be given Wednesday evening of next week, January 17. It will be in the way of a special dance to which all legislators will be invited, whether they can fox trot or dance just the regulation round waltz. The committee appointed to have charge of the dance, which means the men who will have to do all the work and worrying, consists of W. C. Cross, W. D. Evans, D. W. Eyre and John D. Coughlin.

"Don," the shaggy animal that loafed about the sheriff's office, is a city dog. The county has no allotments for him with its quiet lanes and dark, star-light nights. Not for him are the rambles over the open fields or the noises of the barn yard. He loves the pavement under his toe nails, he likes the bright lights and the noise of traffic, and the many children to play with. That's why he is back in the sheriff's office after a sojourn in the country, where he was not contented.

How to make rose cuttings will be told next Monday evening at the Commercial club at the monthly meeting of the Salem Floral society. J. W. Marney, landscape gardener of the Oregon state hospital, has been asked how to successfully make rose cuttings and has agreed to go into detail on the subject Monday evening.

The two silver cup awards of the Marion County Poultry association were as follows: For the best pen of heavy weights, any variety, the cup offered by the United States National bank, was awarded to Poisel & Shaw. For the best pen of lightweights, any variety, the silver cup offered by the Salem Bank of Commerce, was awarded to H. B. Rupert, of Salem.

Notwithstanding the fact that potatoes are bringing one dollar a bushel wholesale, business in that line has been lively the past 10 days. This is accounted for by the fact that shippers have been able to get cars. Since Christmas, Mangis Brothers have shipped 28 carloads containing each an average of 500 bushels. Since the sudden advance about 10 days ago, the firm has paid out $10,000 for potatoes and during the season, has distributed about $45,000 among the potato farmers of the valley. Trade papers estimate there is at least 2,000 cars of potatoes still in the hands of the farmers in this state.

The Rev. James M. Heady was regularly chosen as the permanent pastor of the Unitarian church at the annual business meeting held last night. Mr. Heady pledges his loyalty to the church and promises to do all in his power to build a progressive Unitarian organization in the city, to be known as the people's church. A number of interesting events are promised in the near future by Mr. Heady. During the two months he has been temporary pastor, Mr. Heady has doubled the church membership. Tomorrow morning he will deliver a sermon especially for all patriotic organizations in the city.
