COURT HOUSE NEWS

Verdicts were returned yesterday by juries in the cases of Rehfus vs. Weeks and Johnson vs. George Riggs and wife.

In the former case, the jury returned a verdict for the defendant, with no damages, and in the latter, the plaintiff was awarded $33.

The court today is hearing the plaintiff's evidence in the case of Cavalaugh vs. Fox, concerning the failure to deliver sheep sold to the plaintiffs.

A hunting, and also a fishing license was issued today to K. R. McReynolds of Salem, by the county clerk.

A demurrer in the case of the Crooked Finger Cemetery association vs. William Wellman, Elizabeth Wellman and E. Plas, was interposed today by the defendants on the grounds that the complaint of the plaintiff did not contain facts sufficient to warrant the institution of a suit.

A motion for a new trial in the suit of Benson vs. Adin was filed in the county clerk's office yesterday. The defendant claims that there was an insufficiency of evidence submitted in the trial by the plaintiff, and that there were errors in law brought up in the trial, which alone would warrant the holding of a new trial.

A writ of execution in the case of S. M. Ray vs. J. H. Minty, was returned to the county clerk's office yesterday with the memorandum that $19 had been obtained as a partial satisfaction of a judgment against the defendant for the sum of $173.63.

A motion in the case of Joseph A. Cornely vs. H. G. Campbell was filed yesterday by the defendant asking that the complaint of the plaintiff be made more definite.

Louis Weber, executor of the estate of Jacob G. Miller, announced the date of the appraisal of the estate would be the 3rd of February, 1917.

The papers in the estate of the late George S. Downing were filed in the county clerk's office today by the county judge. The order, permitting the executor to turn over the sums due the heirs was among them. The order gives to each of the heirs the sum of $1000, and further awards the personal property to the widow, Elizabeth A. Downing. The heirs are: Elizabeth A. Downing, widow; W. F. W. H., and R. E. Downing, sons, and Janthe J. Schelbrede a daughter.

George McDuffy, sheriff of Morrow county, and J. C. Parker, sheriff of Lane county, were business visitors at the sheriff's office yesterday.

BAD HABITS

Those who breakfast at eight o'clock or later, lunch at twelve and have dinner at six are almost certain to be troubled with indigestion. They do not allow time for one meal to digest before taking another. Not less than five hours should elapse between meals. If you are troubled with indigestion correct your habits and take Chamberlain's Tablets, and you may reasonably hope for a quick recovery. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Obtainable everywhere.

Press and Public Commend Latest Note Issued by England

By Ed L. Keen (United Press staff correspondent)
 London, Jan. 18.—Press and public today unanimously applauded Foreign Minister Balfour's note to America. Many editorials characterized the note as the greatest paper of the war. Particularly interesting to the house was the warmly enthusiastic approval of the document voted in the newspapers controlled by Lord Northcliffe. It was recalled that in the past the Northcliffe group of newspapers have been violently antagonistic to Balfour. The editorials agreed that England, speaking in behalf of the allies in Balfour's note, has strikingly revealed the broad humanitarian motives behind the determination to press the war until the objects announced in the allied note have been attained.

BRIDGE QUESTION AND OTHER MATTERS

Commercial Club Held Interesting Monthly Meeting Last Night

The bridge question and how to get across the Willamette should the Southern Pacific railway officials refuse permission to plank the railroad bridge occupied the attention of the members of the Commercial club at the monthly meeting held last evening. The special committee, of which Fred Steusloff is chairman, appointed to confer with the railroad, reported that no official word had been received.

It is known, however, that the officials in Portland are working on the proposition through its legal department and that some definite action will be taken within a few days by the S. P. officials.

Various plans were suggested as to what should be done providing the railroad bridge could not be used. These included the using of a launch, a ferry boat and the suggestion that piles might be driven on each side of the old bridge to steady it during a high wind. But no action was taken, awaiting action of the S. P. officials.

Senator Conrad P. Olson of Portland, by invitation, addressed the club. Lack of interest by the business man in legislative affairs, he declared was one of the greatest difficulties in securing right legislation. He referred to the highway legislation, assuring the club that every effort would be made to raise funds in Oregon to secure federal aid during the next five years. On account of the six per cent limitation, passed at the late election, there would be no extravagant legislation. On interest to the business man, Senator Olson referred to the proposed bad check legislation, insurance code, the punishing of those making false statements to secure credit and the bill providing for a fire marshal.

As a corporation, the Commercial club is worth $897,35, according to the monthly report of the manager, Ivan G. McDaniel. The cash balance on hand January 1, 1917, was $125,234, with an additional $2129.26 in the savings account.
