

SOCIETY

By ALINE THOMPSON

One of the delightful events scheduled in the calendar for tomorrow is the informal tea for which Mrs. Oliver C. Locke will be hostess in honor of three attractive visitors, Mrs. Robert Stanfield of Pendleton, Mrs. Jesse Flanders and Mrs. Ralph Watson of Portland.

About 50 matrons and maids of society have been asked to meet the visitors.

Mrs. Edwin L. Baker entertained today with a charming bridge party in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Ralph Watson of Portland.

A number of matrons, old friends of the visitor, were guests.

Silver teas are still the order of the day among society women, and the second of the series of affairs being planned for the benefit of the scholarship loan fund of the Salem Woman's club, will be given tomorrow afternoon at the residence of Mrs. E. M. Hoffnall on D street.

Mrs. Hoffnall and Mrs. Fred S. Stewart will be joint hostesses for the afternoon and the calling hours will be from 3 until 6 o'clock.

Another affair also scheduled on the calendar for the benefit of the fund this week is the informal evening for which Mrs. George J. Pearce will be hostess, Friday, at her home on North Winter street.

The Ladies Aid society of the United Brethren church will meet on Wednesday (tomorrow) afternoon at the home of Mrs. Herbert A. Richmond, 1430 North Fourth street.

The afternoon will be devoted to sewing.

The members of the Garden road Busy club and their families will gather at the home of Mrs. Frank Bishop on Friday evening to participate in a supper and informal gayeties for which the losers of a spelling contest will give in honor of the winning side. Members of the club who did not participate in the match will be asked to do the serving.

The first of a series of gatherings being held in observance of Christian Endeavor week, was the banquet given last night by the senior society of the Christian Endeavor of the First Presbyterian church.

The affair was planned in celebration of the thirty-sixth birthday of the Endeavor and the parlors were thronged with members and friends.

Miss Rosemond Gilbert acted as toastmaster for the evening and appropriate responses were made by Miss Lucille Ross, Miss Ruth Hodge, Clinton Ostrander and Mr. Hall of La Grande.

Tonight another informal gathering will be given at the home of Miss Gertrude Eakin, 1484 State street.

Mrs. O. M. Gardner of Lakeview, Oregon, who has been the guest of Mrs. A. E. Caldwell of Fairmount Hill for a few days left Monday for Astoria to visit her son, W. O. Gardner, who formerly was associated with the Oregon Electric Railway Co. in Salem.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Jason Lee church held a meeting several days ago at the home of Mrs. J. Frank Dunlap.

The interesting study of Old Spain and New America was begun at the meeting and will continue for six months. The first chapter of the study was given by the pastor's wife, Mrs. W. P. Ingalls.

A farewell party was given Carl Book by a group of friends, Saturday night at his home a few miles south of town. Mr. Book leaves the fifth of February for Bloomfield, Nebraska.

With games and music a gay evening was enjoyed and at a late hour dainty refreshments were served.

Those gathering for the gayeties were the Misses Emma Fabry, Della and Ida Hillicker, Pearl Foster, Florence, Ruth and Alta McLeary, Sadie Smith, Alice Book, and the Messrs. Orton, Alvin and Barney Hillicker, John Fabry, Lester Dobbin, Walter Holman, Verdie and Harold Foster, Bert Tompkins, Herbert Smith, Charlie Adams, Carl and Albrecht Book, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Grabenhorst, Mrs. King and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Book.

A meeting of the missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will be held in the church parlors on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. D. P. Junk and Mrs. George J. Pearce will be hostesses and the interesting subject "A Tour Through India" will be given by Mrs. Carl H. Elliott.

Chester Griffin Murphy, a prominent attorney of Portland, passed the day in Salem Monday.

NEUTRAL CREWS ARE HELD AS PRISONERS

This Is Latest Charge England Brings Against German War Conduct

London, Jan. 30.—Germany is keeping "as war prisoners" all neutral members of the crews of armed prizes taken by the latest German raider, according to stories of neutral survivors from the Yarrowdale, arriving at Copenhagen today en route to their homes.

Twenty such survivors—Americans, Swedes and Norwegians—arrived at the Danish port direct from Germany. They had been taken from unarmed vessels captured by the raider—which all agreed was the Moewe—and brought in to Swinemunde on the Yarrowdale, later being released on their showing of neutral citizenship, and because the ships on which they served were unarmed.

The original German statement on the Yarrowdale said of the 469 members of the crews of captured vessels brought into Swinemunde 193 were neutrals. It was therefore assumed here today that the 77 remaining neutrals are being classed by Germany as members of hostile forces simply because they served on hostile merchantmen.

Copenhagen dispatches today added one more ship to the raider's list of victims—the British steamer Cambrian Range, sunk early in December. The 26 survivors united in identifying the raider as the German cruiser Moewe and placed her speed at well over 20 knots. She was described as almost new with cleverly disguised guns, so concealed by false rails that her formidable character is not apparent until she drops the mask. Her crew said she was sufficiently supplied with food and fuel to last her until March. The raider's armament was given as four large guns, two smaller ones and four torpedo tubes.

The survivors at Copenhagen said their meals aboard the raider were mostly macaroni and biscuits and during their confinement in Germany nothing but cabbage and bread.

I like a road that wanders straight—The king's highway is fair, And lovely are the sheltered lanes that take you here and there; But, best of all, I love a road that leads to God knows where.

—Charles Hanson Towne in the Saturday Evening Post.

THE BEST ROAD OF ALL

I like the road that leads away to prospects white and fair, A road that is an ordered road, like a nun's evening prayer; But, best of all, I love a road that leads to God knows where.

You come upon it suddenly—you cannot seek it out; It's like a secret still unheard and never noised about; But when you see it, gone at once is every lurking doubt.

It winds beside some rushing stream where aspens lightly quiver; It follows many a broken field by many a shining river; It seems to lead you on and on, forever and forever;

You tramp along its dusty way, beneath its always trees, And hear beside you chattering birds or happy booming bees, And all around you golden sounds the green leaves, litanies.

And here's a hedge, and there's a cot, and then—strange, sudden turns; A dip, a rise, a little glimpse where the red sunset burns; A bit of sky at evening time, the scent of hidden ferns.

A winding road, a loitering road, a fingermark of God Traced when the Maker of the world what the people decided he was not going contrary to the bill when it was before the people and would vote for this one and sprang Kellaker's point, that "it was a step in the right direction."

La Follette said he was first against the bill, but after visiting the home for the feeble minded he had a change of heart. It was a crime to permit such unfortunate to be born if it could be helped, and he thought this bill would help eradicate the evil.

After some hours spent in oratory of which the above is only a sample, a motion to go into committee of the whole to amend the bill carried; Eddy was called to the chair, the bill was amended by inserting the words after naming the county judge who should examine the alleged feeble minded, the words "residing in such county."

The bill was reported back and passed as amended by a vote of 18 to 10, two being absent.

The senate bill No. 6, 3 which was the special order was called up and without debate passed. It made doing away with the publication of the delinquent tax list applicable to Multnomah county only.

Afternoon Routine

The president announced the senate members of the joint committee to consult with a like committee from Washington as to fishing in the Columbia river as follows: Hanley, Cusick, Farrell, Lieneweber and Sith, of Coos and Curry.

Senate bill No. 50 caused the going into committee of the whole to make amendments as to boundaries. The bill was reported back and passed. It related to the running at large of cattle, horses and sheep in certain portions of Yamhill county.

Senate bill No. 112, providing for examination and audit of county records, was objected to by Strayer, but when informed by Senator Pierce that the features he objected to had been stricken out, Strayer like a little man, boldly announced: "In that case I am going to vote against it from a deep-seated prejudice." He did, but the bill passed.

Senate bill No. 134, relating to power of board of fish and game commissioners caused Dimick some uneasiness on account of the numerous brackets, which made him afraid something might be slipped over him about the fishing below the falls of the Willamette, but was satisfied, and so the bill passed.

House bills Nos. 23, 48, 179, 100, 180, 197, 214, 45, 101, 108, 122, 190 and 200 were received from the house and read first time.

H. B. No. 78, relating to putting out poison; passed.

H. B. No. 111, extending lien laws to horsehoes; passed.

H. B. No. 112, extending lien laws to harvesting debts; passed.

S. B. No. 122, was taken from the table and recommitted to the committee on agriculture and forestry and the senate adjourned to meet with the house to hear arguments and explanations as to senate bill No. 125.

This is a bill providing for establishment and maintenance of county or district hospitals for care of persons afflicted with tuberculosis.

How Fat Actress Was Made Slim

Many stage people now depend entirely upon Marmola Prescription Tablets for reducing and controlling fat. One clever actress tells that she reduced two to four pounds a week by using this new form of the famous Marmola Prescription and now, by taking Marmola Tablets several times a year, keeps her weight just right. All druggists sell Marmola Prescription Tablets at 75 cents for a large case. Or you can get them by sending price direct to the Marmola Co., 864 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. If you have not tried them do so. They are harmless and effective.

and a mass of buying."

On December 24 Baruch was short of 1600 more shares of Steel, making a total of 25,000 shares short.

On December 15 he "bought in" or covered, all except 1,100 shares at an average price of 110. On December 16, Baruch sold about 14,000 more short, while the market was rising.

"I wanted to know about the next great move—Lloyd-George's speech," he explained as his reason for taking the short side while the rise was on.

On December 19 Baruch sold 28,400 shares of Steel short, "going to it as tight and as fast as I could when I saw the word 'but' in the ticker report of Lloyd-George's speech."

Baruch said complacently he had no information from Washington regarding the president's note.

On December 20 he bought in 17,900 shares, reducing his short account to 26,500.

"If I had known of what was coming from Washington the next day, I as anyone else, would have sold all day," he interjected.

The 20th was the day before the note was published in the papers.

"Was this regarded as large dealing?" he was asked.

"Well, I've done larger; I've been short of this amount often," he replied.

On the 21st Baruch closed out his shorts at around 106. He said he figured his entire profits December 10 to December 23 as $476,168.

Baruch said, under cross examination by Chairman Henry, that he had called up Paul Warburg of the federal reserve board during the leak period, but had not reached him and had later got Sec. of the Treasury McAdoo on the matter of a federal reserve board appointment. He denied discussing the market at all with them and denied having called Secretary Tammity.

Under republican examination, Baruch explained that the appointment was to a position in the New York reserve bank.

Colonel E. M. House, President Wilson's confidential adviser, had asked him to recommend a man for the place and Baruch said this to McAdoo, after failing to reach Warburg, he said:
