'TIZ' PUTS JOY IN SORE, ACHING FEET

'My. How 'Tiz' Gladdens Tired, Swollen, Burning Feet--It's Glorious

Ah! what relief. No more tired feet; no more burning feet; no more swollen, aching, tender, aching feet. No more soreness in corns, callouses, bunions.

No matter what ails your feet or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use 'Tiz'.

'Tiz' is the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet. 'Tiz' cures your foot trouble so you'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never, never hurt or get sore and swollen. Think of it, no more foot misery, no more agony from corns, callouses or bunions.

Get a 25 cent box at any drug store or department store and get instant relief. Wear smaller shoes. Just once try 'Tiz'. Get a whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents. Think of it.

Representative Brownell was also in favor and he said the bulk of the new county would lie in the foot hills of the Cascades. The present Clackamas county reached from near Mt. Hood to Willamette, a distance of about 95 miles.

He believed the people ought to get what they wanted. He said he was willing to say "God speed and let 'em go."

Representative Ritter moved the previous question and the vote was taken four aye.

PHYSICIANS MAY VIOLATE AUTOMOBILE SPEED LIMIT

The senate this morning took a new look when Senator No. 8 which was the special order for 10:30 came up on final passage. It concerned the driving of automobiles and was especially aimed to correct abuses said to exist among physicians in violating the speed laws, they claiming they were going on emergency calls when arrested for so doing. There was an amendment suggested, and the senate resolved itself into a committee of the whole to correct it. Senator Garland was called to the chair, but seeing some commotion between Farrell and Orton declined the honor and Senator I. S. Smith acted as president pro tem. There was a storm of motions, amendments and suggestions, made all with the intent to rattle the chairman but he held the hilarious ones down to get them to work on the bill.

Farrell said there was "a howling necessity for the bill" and called attention to the fact that the emergency clause to which there was considerable objection was really needed, "that the lives of his wife and family were as dear to him now as they would be 30 days from now."

Orton objected because of the clause that if a physician believed speed was actually necessary that he could exceed the speed limit. When arrested the physician would always think that way, and there was no way to find out what a man really thought.

The amendment, a minor matter, was

WAR BULLETIN

San Angelo, Texas, Feb. 1.—Harry J. Spinnell was acquitted of the charge of killing his wife in Alpine last July by a jury this afternoon, after two hours deliberation.

Paris, Feb. 1.—Patrol encounters were the only fighting activities from the western front reported in today's official statement. They occurred at various parts of the line, notably east of Rheims and north of Altkirch.

London, Feb. 1.—Two more vessels—the British steamer Trevean and the Belgian steamer Euphrates—were reported this afternoon as victims of the new German ruthlessness.

There was another rather sharp debate when Senator Dimick's bill forbidding the threatening of officials came up. He spoke strongly for the bill, showing many cases where threats and intimidation were used in securing contracts for public work and the like.

Senator Orton got up with a whole list of telegrams, which he said were all threats from folks as to what they would do to him if he did not let up on consolidation bills. "I don't care for threats," said he. "People have a right to kick, and it is sometimes their duty, but so far as I am concerned I don't care how much they kick or threaten if I know I am right. They can go to."

The bill was finally re-referred.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

By S. W. STRAUS
President American Society for Thrift

Statistics show that only about 35 per cent of the timber cut in the forest now reaches the consumer, the remainder being wasted; 40 per cent of the coal is lost in the seam, so far as beneficial utilization is concerned. It is pointed out that millions of barrels of oil is lost, and that a condition equally as bad exists in connection with natural gas and many other natural resources.

Chicago is beginning to reap the results of a thrift campaign through a system of municipal junk collection, sorting and then selling it after competitive bids have been received by the city. This old scrap iron, copper, lead and wire that formerly was consigned to the junk heap has increased the municipal revenue over $100,000 in the past year.

School No. 10, Indianapolis, Ind., has been very successful in its experiments in teaching thrift. The class began by making observations of a pupil's waste during school time with regard to his own materials, time and energy. They extended this, then, to the equipment furnished by the school for academic work, manual training, and domestic science. Pupils competed with one another to see who could make tables, pens, pencils and other essentials last the longest.

Waste in the house was the next phase discussed. It included waste in the choice of amusements, reading, and in methods of home study and of performing what they termed their "chores." The reports of the fortunes realized by associations and municipalities in the conservation of the dump heap and the reports of the local fire marshal were introduced to show the waste through carelessness of preventable fires. The Civics class made some investigation as to local waste of natural resources and visited some mills and factories to observe thrift methods.

Magazine and newspaper articles on the subject were read in the English class where stories of success through thrift were related. Likewise themes were written on various phases of the subject.

The most concrete example of the subject's possibilities has been the amount of money made by selling old newspapers and magazines they had collected.

Through all these simple mediums the pupils of this school have added a new word to their vocabularies—Thrift, and it will prove, as it has proven to all its devotees, the foundation stone to successful careers.
