LAURGAARD SCHOOL LAW DANGEROUS ONE

Removes Directors With Experience and May Destroy Their Work

That the Laurgaard bill reducing the term of school directors from five to three years is a measure that will nullify all the efforts of the school board interested in keeping the school board out of politics and making that office a prize to be fought for along political lines is the belief of Salem school directors. The bill has been signed by Governor Withycombe. The governor has also signed Senator Orton's tenure in office bill, which is designed for the Portland schools, Representative Sheldon's bill permitting non-tax payers to vote for school directors, and Senator Eddy's bill providing for the recall of school directors.

There has been much dissatisfaction among those interested in the efficiency of the schools concerning the provisions of this bill, which is declared to be primarily intended for use in ousting L. R. Alderman, superintendent of the Portland public schools, that it will have a tendency to bring this office more and more into politics is the general belief.

The bill will remove from the Salem school board two of its most efficient members, as it requires that two new directors shall be elected at the next school election, which will be in June. Two more are to be elected in 1918, and one in 1919. The members of the Salem school board who will be affected are A. A. Lee, chairman, whose present term expires in June, and E. T. Barnes, who would be slated to be chairman next year by virtue of being the senior member. The method of choosing a chairman has been also changed in that that officer is to be elected instead of coming up to it through a period of service of four years.

A. A. Lee, retiring chairman, declared this morning that the new law would undo a great deal of the work in this city in removing the office out of politics. The present measure lays it open to be fought for as Democrats or Republicans instead of on a non-partisan basis.

He could not see the wisdom, if any wisdom there was in the measure, of changing the school directors so frequently as in his opinion it requires a man about three years before he becomes thoroughly acquainted with the business and the working of the various departments in order to give efficient consideration to the matters that come up.

It lays the board open to having inexperienced men run the schools and with the election of two new members each year who are unacquainted with the policies of the board and with the situation in general, there is a possibility that men hostile to the policy of the board can be elected to the board and reverse its attitude to the detriment of the schools. In the conduct of the business end of the school board affairs, Mr. Lee declares that it is fully three years before a director becomes fully acquainted with the ins and outs of purchasing materials and supplies, etc.

Under the new system, the two new members elected could dominate the board by securing the collusion of one or other members. In this way members hostile to progress of the schools, or an element hostile to the high schools, could creep into power and in a few short years nullify the good work of the past fifteen years.

The act in itself practically legislates certain members of the school board out of office. Mr. Lee declares he does not think it a good piece of business, although it really concerns him little because his term ends in June. As to Mr. Barnes, his service as a school director is now vastly more valuable than when he was elected, although when he was elected he brought to the office a well trained business acumen. It has been admitted the services of Mr. Barnes on the school board as a purchasing agent has been invaluable and, accordingly, when such a measure as the Laurgaard bill is passed and made a law, it strikes hard at the efficiency of the schools. Other directors of the Salem schools, who have gone into the office with preconceived ideas concerning how things should be run and with decided opinions hostile to certain institutions, have found their ideas changing as their term runs on and they admit that being a school director is a serious business and one that requires experience.

 SURE WAY TO GET RID OF DANDRUFF  There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. * You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail. Willamette Y. W. C. A. Elects President

At a special meeting of the Y. W. C. A., of Willamette University, held after chapel today Miss Fannie McKennon was elected president of the organization. Her term of office will commence with the installation on March 8. In the work of the coming term Miss McKennon will be assisted by Mildred Wiggins, vice president; Margaret Fuller, secretary; and Vesta Mulligan, treasurer. All of the officers elect are active workers in the Christian association. At present Miss McKennon is secretary of the Associated student body, and chairman of the Y. W. extension committee. As a junior she has always taken an active part in class affairs, she is also a prominent member of the Philostean Literary Society. Her helpers are numbered among the leading women of the student body. With such an array of popular personages to head the organization, its future work is certain of conscientious fulfillment. Under the leadership of Miss Aetna Emmel, the outgoing president, many things have been accomplished during the year. The extension work has never before exercised such a wide influence upon the communities favored. Several classes at Chemawa have been conducted a greater part of the year. In addition the women have saved up a $125 to loan to co-eds, who desire to attend the annual conference at Seabeck. According to the faculty ruling the presidency of the Y. W. is a major student body office.

BROKE HIS ARM. Falling and breaking his arm was the mishap of Marshall Ryan, yesterday in the high school gym. The arm was fractured twice just above the wrist. Young Ryan had climbed up the ladder to untangle the basketball net when one of his friends playfully shook the ladder causing the fall. Marshall Ryan is the son of assistant state treasurer Thos. F. Ryan, who resides at 360 North Capitol street.

 BE CAREFUL IN USING SOAP ON YOUR HAIR  Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is just plain multifid coconut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.
