SALEM WILL HAVE UP TO DATE HOSPITAL To Be Built On Unit Plan On Old Grounds—Plans Completed

Salem is to be provided with a modern, up-to-date city hospital. The hospital committee consisting of C. A. Park, G. B. Litchfield, H. S. Gile, H. B. Thielson, Aug. Huckestein, A. N. Bush, Mrs. Wm. Brown and Mrs. E. Y. Chase, and the special committee consisting of P. G. Deckbach, Chas. Dick, H. W. Meyers, Wm. McGilchrist, Jr., Walter Winslow, Dr. W. H. Byrd met with the architect at 11 o'clock this morning and went over the details of construction. It has been decided that the building will be constructed on the ground owned by the hospital board which consists of three and one-half acres adjacent to the land on which the present hospital is situated. Work on the new building will begin as soon as possible to meet the emergency that now exists.

The new building will be built on a unit plan and when fully constructed will probably cost $75,000. The proposed plans provide for a modern fire proof institution such as will be a credit to the city. The designs for the building will probably be in conformity with the architecture of the Receiving ward of the state hospital so that there may be a uniformity of design. The grounds around the proposed new hospital will be beautifully planted and will add much to the present beauty of that portion of the city. This hospital will be one of Salem's best assets. The plans proposed provide for a series of rooms and wards to meet every occasion. Only the newest type of beds and apparatus will be installed. The value of a sanitary, modern and fire proof hospital to every citizen in Salem ought to be self evident.

"I consider this one of the most important moves that has been made in Salem for some time," said one of our leading citizens in conference this afternoon. "One does not appreciate the value of such an institution until they have occasion to use it. We have had several cases of sickness in the present city hospital, and I trust that if such a thing occurs again we will be able to be taken care of in this modern building. A good hospital is an essential to the city as good doctors. What would the mortality rate of this city be without our doctors? I tell you we must have this hospital and I am one who will do my share and more, both in boosting and financially to assure a new structure. This is a question that strikes at the heart of every home in the city and should have the support of every citizen."

One of the leaders in the hospital movement said, "the building of this hospital is not the work of one man or any group of men. It is too big a job. It requires the united service of all right minded men who have the interests of their city and families at heart. In other words this is no one-man hospital but an institution for every person in the city. We are going ahead with the building because we believe that it is of vital interest to all citizens."

When completed, this hospital will be one of the best institutions on the coast. It will place Salem in the lead as a city which makes only the best for her citizens in a business way, but further believes that the health of the city can best be maintained by providing all modern means known to science in the treating of disease.

University Notes

Two distinguished visitors brought greetings to the Willamette university students, at the chapel hour yesterday. The first was the new vice president of the board of trustees, G. F. Johnson of Portland, who presented the gospel of hard work as his message. The other was Dr. John F. Hancher of New York city.

Dr. Hancher is not only assistant secretary of the board of education of New York city, but spends a great deal of his time as inspector general of all Methodist colleges in the United States. This was his second visit to Willamette. His theme to the students was the part that they would be called upon to play in the great period of reconstruction, especially in education, among the nations of Europe.

Vivid was his description of the great centers of learning in the war stricken districts of Europe. His pictures of deserted campuses and forsaken halls seemed terrible in comparison with the American universities today. In speaking of the days of reconstruction Dr. Haucher gave as his opinion that the United States must be the seat of world learning. The future education in European nations, their deliverance, and their culture must be American. It is inconceivable that the obligation should rest on any other nation, for America is the foremost nation that is not in the struggle. In referring to co-education the speaker stated that probably the greatest vision gained by American help would be that of an educated womanhood.

After the war America's share in the re-establishment of learning will not be confined to opening all the college doors to European students, in fact this will be insignificant, for it will be several years before they will have any young people to send as students. The student bodies of America must furnish the manhood and womanhood to actually lead in this period of reconstruction in England, France, Germany, etc. Our task is to be ready when the call is made.

Despite the cover of arctic winter that seemed to have settled over the fair Willamette valley, the Adelaide literary society enjoyed an exclusive Hawaiian program in their halls, yesterday evening. Miss Charlotte Tobbin presented a "History of the Hawaiian Islands," Miss Eugenia McInturf sang "Hawaiian Dreams," Educational system of

These two medicines make the strongest combination course of treatment for the blood and nerves of which we have any knowledge. Fine results follow this course of treatment—take Hood's Sarsaparilla regularly before meals, Peptiron Pills after meals. Thousands of families are taking these medicines. SAYS SALEM BABIES OF FINEST QUALITY

Doctor Pronounces Them Far Above Crops of Other Years. Better babies are being born in the vicinity of Salem now than ever before, according to a veteran physician who has given professional service to scores of infants. This apparently is a "better babies" age, and it has been in vogue practically for the past two or three years. That is, during the past two years he says the babies born are far in advance of those born up to that time. Just what is the cause of this rise in the quality of the babies, he can hardly ascribe, although the fact that it is true has been impressed strongly on his mind. That he was not alone in his experience, he found by consulting other physicians, who have noted the same phenomena.

For instance, during his experience in the past two years out of hundreds of cases he found only one that was sub-normal or that would not come up to the average. And this baby he said, three years ago would have been considered normal and a good specimen of babyhood. Recently he had cause to visit a family where a baby had been born some six months ago. When he arrived at the home he saw a child apparently about a year old, waving its hands, smiling and gurgling with pleasure and happiness. He was surprised and asked for the "little baby," which, under ordinary circumstances should be still a helpless infant in arms, and he was told that the child before him was the "infant." He could scarcely believe his eyes. Growth, brightness, amiability, was remarkable.

And so he finds it throughout his practice. How to account for it he seems unable, unless a new age has dawned and the Williams' new age is to be the home of the coming "super race of men and women," the coming of which has long been heralded. This doctor believes humanity is coming into greater things than ever before, and that the workings of a secret, undiscovered law is being made manifest. He feels that the "old world" has indeed come to an end and that a "new age" has dawned.

The islands," was Miss Lila Doughty's theme, while Miss Theresa Fowle gave a brief history of Dr. Cook's discoveries in Hawaiians. Miss Mary Eyrre conducted the parliamentary practice. During the social hour, after the program, the society enjoyed Hawaiian refreshments to the tune of ukulele music.

Lester Sheeley, a member of last spring's graduating class from the college of law, was a campus visitor yesterday evening. At present he is attending Philomath college, where he is registered in the commercial department, taking shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping and banking.

With the temperature 20 degrees below zero, as one Philoedian member expressed it, the Philos enjoyed a widely varied program at their regular meeting yesterday evening. Ruth Wilber sang Sidney Homer's requiem, Miss Fannie McKennon read a poem, "The Question," Miss Lilla Packenham, who is noted for her originality in producing literature read a paper dealing with the philosophical interpretation of "Immortality." Miss Violet Maclean sang "Eve Martin's" Footstep. Miss Lucile Jaskoski played Beethoven's funeral march, as the concluding number.

In order that no member of the senior class would have an excuse for not being present at song rehearsal for the freshman glee, the class enjoyed an elaborate luncheon, yesterday, in the Web-Adams hall. The song was rehearsed several times both at the noon hour and in the evening.

Scotts Mills has one of the best Parent-Teachers' associations in Marion county, according to Superintendent of Public Instruction J. A. Churchhill. At the last meeting of the association, which was held at Scotts Mills on the evening of February 22, six school districts were represented with teachers, pupils and patrons. Mr. E. S. Stultz, principal of the Scotts Mills schools, reports that there was a crowded house and a most enjoyable meeting. After a short school program, Mr. L. P. Harrington, industrial field worker for the state department of education, held the closest attention of the audience for an hour with his illustrated lecture on industrial club work.
