Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bishop went to Portland Sunday to attend the opening and closing performances of the Boston National Grand Opera Co., which opened its engagement last night at the Eleventh Street playhouse.

Wednesday, Mrs. Bishop will leave Portland for a visit in Hood River and Mr. Bishop will return home. Mrs. Bishop will be gone for about two weeks, and will be the guest of Mrs. Carl T. Roberts.

Mrs. Lawrence T. Harris went to Portland yesterday to attend the three performances of grand opera which opened last night with "Aida" at the Eleventh street theatre.

Saturday night was the occasion of a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Kappahn, when a group of their friends gathered to celebrate the anniversary of their wedding.

It being the hosts paper anniversary their gifts were suggestive of the occasion.

Five hundred formed the evening's diversion, after which refreshments were served. The card honors were won by Mrs. E. F. Walton, Percy Pio, Mrs. Kappahn and E. F. Walton.

Those participating in the celebration were: Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bright, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Pio, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kappahn, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Walton and Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Gregory.

The St. Paul's Guild of the Episcopal church will meet Wednesday (tomorrow) afternoon at three o'clock at the home of Mrs. George Wood, 745 North Church street.

Culminating a pretty romance, was the marriage Monday afternoon of Miss Ethel Mae Brunk, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Brunk of Eola, to William Christy De Selm of San Diego, California, the ceremony taking place at two o'clock, Rev. James F. Minin, of the First Congregational church, officiating.

Only the immediate members of the family were present. An interesting and distinctive detail of the service being that the lines were read on a genuine Italian prayer rug, which was secured by Mr. De Selm from the Italian exhibit of the Panama Pacific Exposition, as a gift to his bride.

Mrs. De Selm is a most attractive girl of interesting personality. She is a graduate of the Salem high school of the class of 1914, and since that time has been secretary to the principal of that institution.

The young folk will take up their residence at 1268 Pennsylvania avenue San Diego, California, leaving for there the latter part of the week.

Miss Mae Steusloff asked several gifts to her home for an informal evening on Saturday. The early part of the evening was devoted to bridge, and later delightful refreshments were served.

The W. R. C. sewing society will meet on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Norma Terwilliger at 779 Cheneke street.

Besides Mrs. Terwilliger the hostesses will be Mesdames Lizzie W. Smith, Marion Wells, Clara Gribble, Mary E. Cook and E. E. Cooper.

Mrs. Walter G. Moorehouse was hostess Friday afternoon, when she entertained the members of the K. and L. of S. club at her home with an informal sewing bee.

Nine members of the club shared the hospitality of the hostess and late in the afternoon refreshments were served with Mrs. Ida Reinmier assisting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Powers who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Schoneman on North Fourteenth street returned to their home in Portland today.

Mrs. Bessie Cole, president of the Woman's Relief Corps, of Woodburn, visited in Salem Saturday afternoon and was a guest of the local corps. She was accompanied by three other members of the Woodburn corps, Mrs. Inez Hendricks, Mrs. Margaret Kelly and Mrs. Mame Cochran.

Miss Beatrice Shelton went to Portland today to attend the matinee and closing performance of the grand opera at the Eleventh street theatre. This afternoon Miss Shelton will hear "Iris" and tonight "Faust."

Wednesday afternoon the ladies aid society of the United Brethren church of North Seventeenth street, will meet at the home of Mrs. Harry Row, on North Eighteenth street.

About 45 of the very youngest set of Salem's musical circles were guests Friday evening at the attractive colonial musicale given by Miss Beatrice Shelton in the parlors of the First Congregational church.

Originality reflected in every detail of the affair, which was given by Miss Shelton to honor her beginning and intermediate pupils.

It was in the nature of an old-fashioned party and the little guests were garbed in the style of Revolutionary days. At six o'clock in the evening the little folk gathered in stately fashion into the banquet room, singing the tune of "Marching through Georgia."

Imagine the surprise of these little colonial maids and men when, just as they were about to sit down to the banquet table to have the Father of His Country, the Honorable George Washington and his wife, Martha Washington, arrive and sit at the head of the table. Immediately George Washington took command and acted as the toastmaster and called on several distinguished visitors present for toasts.

After the banquet a musical program was given. This was opened by a piano duet by George Washington and Chancellor Livingstone. After this the wedding of Tom Thumb took place, and was performed with all the trimmings and down to the last detail. The parts were taken by children up to eight years old, Wayne Allen as the minister was the hit of the evening.

"The Little Lullaby Ladies" sang in costume the lullabies that have rocked to sleep the babies of children all over the world. This was a very pretty and delightful number and it was thoroughly enjoyed. The young people of six years old took part in this portion of the evening's entertainment.

Martha Washington entertained several of her lady friends at tea in a strictly old-fashioned style. It was a burlesque on the modern social teas and was full of interest.

Vocal solos of merit were given by Martha Washington, Tom Thumb and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton. The solos were all appropriate to the occasion.

Ted and Rex Howard gave a skit in which George Washington and the cherry tree figured. In this skit it was brought out that George really did cut down the cherry tree and that he really did tell his father about it. This part of the program was especially good and interesting throughout.

least. Why, it's almost a pleasure to have corns and see how 'Gets-It' gets them off. I can wear tight shoes, dance and walk as though I never had corns. 'Gets-It' makes the use of irritating salves, banding bandages, tape, plasters and other things not only foolish, but unnecessary. Use this wonderful discovery, 'Gets-It', for any soft or hard corn or callus. It is the new, simple, easy, quick way, and it never fails. You'll never have to cut a corn again with knives or scissors, and run chances of blood poisoning. Try 'Gets-It' tonight.

SUPREME COURT GIVES ROAD ANOTHER TRIAL

More Testimony To Be Heard In Portland Bridge Case— 11 Other Opinions

Modification of the decree of the lower court in the case of the Oregon-Washington Railway and Navigation company, respondent, against the Spokane, Portland and Seattle Railroad, appellant, suit in equity by the Oregon award made by the public service commission relating to the use of the bridge across the Willamette river at Portland, was ordered by Judge Wallace McCann in a decision handed down this morning remanding the case for further hearing.

When the Oregon-Washington Railway and Navigation company built the bridge across the Willamette river at Portland, it was in compliance with an ordinance of the city of Portland and the permission of the war department, both of which authorities required that the bridge could be used by other companies on payment of a suitable compensation. When the S. P. and S. entered Portland its passenger depot was on the west side and no use of the bridge was necessary but it has spent two million dollars in construction work on the east side and finds it necessary to use the bridge. It appealed to the railroad commission to set aside as a board of arbitration between the two companies to fix the compensation. After the hearing the railroad commission fixed the sum of $500 a month as an equitable compensation.

The O. W. R. and N. company refused to consider the award and brought suit in the circuit court of Multnomah county to have it set aside. The court set the award aside and the defendant company appealed to the supreme court. It was deemed by Judge McCann that there was testimony in the case that should have been taken and both sides are granted the privilege of presenting further testimony.

Eleven other cases were handed down as follows:

D. B. Ulbrand, respondent, against J. E. Bennett and Alan Welch Smith, appellants, appeal from Multnomah county, Judge Gatens; action for breach of trust; reversed and remanded by Judge Burnett.

Martin Johnson, et al, respondents, against Josephine Paulson, et al, appellants, appeal from Multnomah county, Judge Gatens; suit to foreclose mechanic lien; modified by Judge Benson.

Geo. R. Bagley, appellant, against Multnomah county, respondent, appeal from Multnomah county, Judge Davis; suit to quiet title to real property; reversed and remanded by Judge Moore.

Columbia county, respondent against Consolidated Contract company and New England Casualty company, appeal from Columbia county, Judge Eakin; action for breach of contract; affirmed by Judge Benn.

In the matter of determination of the relative rights to the water of Sucker creek, an appeal from Josephine county, Judge Watkins; Mary Ellen Leonard, owner of two farms, appealed from decision of state water board; affirmed by Judge Harris.

Ida May Wickes, respondent, against H. K. Metcalf and Andrew Brunel, appellants, appeal from Lane county, Judge Skipworth; suit to enjoin prosecution of a certain action at law as against the plaintiff; reversed by Judge Benson.

Edward Summerfield, administrator of the estate of Alma Summerfield, deceased, appellant, against the Southern Pacific company, respondent, appeal from Clackamas county, Judge Campbell; an action for damages; affirmed by Judge McBride.

Clairins Trust and Saving Bank respondent, against M. R. Doty, appellant, appeal from Clatsop county, Judge Nolan; suit to foreclose a chattel mortgage; affirmed by Judge McBride.

Celia M. Rosdal, respondent, against M. G. Thorsen, et al, appellants, appeal from Multnomah county; suit to cancel a deed; affirmed by Judge McBride. C. H. Barrow et al, respondents, against school district No. 5, Coos county, appellant, appeal from Coos county, Judge Coke; action on contract for sale of land; reversed by Judge Burnett.

Bay City, on relation of C. F. Stone, et al, respondent, against P. A. Sandberg, et al, appellants, appeal from Tillamook county, Judge Bagley; action on contract for improvement certain streets; affirmed by Judge Benn.

ty peace," that here is "an interest that transcends the immediate issues of the war itself," and that he "wishes nothing can be had only at the cost of another people."

The president is known to have studied his inaugural address with tremendous care and concern.

It was owing to the delicacy of the international situation and the tendency to dispatch confused or inaccurate information to some foreign countries that he not only used great care in the preparation of the document, but saw to it that it was promptly and accurately cabled to foreign countries.

Senate Gets Busy

Washington, March 6.—President Wilson probably will not attempt to arm American merchant ships now, unless his legal advisers find a great big loophole in laws, which he says, bind his hands.

This was the official view today with the cabinet scheduled to meet, and a senate democratic caucus slated to start discussing a cloture move, asked by Wilson to prevent such a situation as killed his arm neutrality request.

If some reform of the ancient side-bound rules of the senate can be obtained, the president will undoubtedly call an extra session and try to put over the armed neutrality measure anew. There is no question as to its passage—with the rules altered to check filibustering.

But there is grave doubt that the senate rules can be remodeled. A Spectacular Fight.

At any rate the senate cloture fight promises to be spectacular. Senator Owen, now engineering the move, claims 33 senators will support a rule he plans to introduce. But some senators have said they are unwaveringly opposed to a change.

Such men, under the very unlimited debate rules the president seeks to amend, could check the revision plan. President Wilson, however, hopes public sentiment will force the senate into line.

Perhaps, if a broad cloture plan cannot be wrung from the senate, some modified cloture can be forced whereby bills touching upon a national emergency cannot be talked to death.

The democrats planned to caucus at 10 o'clock. Some of the southerners, particularly, are strong against the cloture plan, for fear a "force bill"

Road Rally at Eugene Set For Saturday

Delegates from all counties of Oregon are invited to a western Oregon road rally to be held in Eugene next Saturday, March 10.

"What is Uncle Sam's proposition?" is a question that will be asked of government representatives, and separate replies will be made as to forest roads and post roads.

Competent engineers will tell the costs of different widths and types of paving, and cost of getting grade ready for paving under the varying conditions existing in different sections. The state highway commissioners will discuss their policies.

That the bonding act will insure improvement of all the designated highways within the five year limit at low cost to the counties in preparing grades is asserted, and facts and figures will be presented to throw light on every financial question involved in the highway program.
