

To lasso aroma—lasso Omar, crowded with aroma to the last genial whiff!

Omar aroma! It's a racy yet smooth aroma—a thrill to the senses, a joy to the soul.

Aroma makes a cigarette—they've told you that for years. And Omar is aroma. It's the perfect Turkish and ripe accentuating leaves. Then Omar aroma spells aroma. Even the words blend.

Hogs and Sheep Are Still Advancing Steadily

Portland, Ore., March 6.—Notwithstanding the continued advance in hog prices on this market for the past two months, yesterday's market took one of the biggest jumps in value ever made here.

There was but a very light supply and butchers and packers had to get busy early in order to get anything at all. All the fresh supplies were cleaned up in the first hour's trading.

Wood Situation Has Firmer Feeling. Nothing but strength and a further advance in the price list is shown as a result of the week's trading in the wool market.

Outlook for mohair prices for the coming season were never so favorable as at this time. While none are in a position to state definitely what the price of hair is going to be during the season, the indications are strong for values around 75 cents a pound.

PARTICULAR PHASE OF LAW

(Capital Journal Special Service) Eugene, March 6.—A peculiar quirk of the new prohibition law has just come to light here. A local druggist purchased from a Portland wholesale firm a half barrel of alcohol, sending his permit to the wholesaler, and it was duly cancelled. Now the railroad refuses to give up the shipment without the permit attached to the consignor's affidavit—and the law makes no provision for such additional permit.

Stock Market Still Awaiting Results

New York, March 6.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said: "While there are some indications of a revival of public interest in stocks, there is as yet no material addition to the buying from that quarter. There was a still firmer tone in the securities market and greater activity than on Monday or Saturday. Some interest was manifested in the Austrian note and in the possibility of a decision by the supreme court in the Adamson law case, but these were not of potential influence marketwise, as was the movement for amending the rules of the United States senate for limitation of debate. A brighter outlook for ship armament with the re-introduction of a bill giving the president authority to that end naturally imparted strength to the shipping list. The steel and copper shares were strong. United States steel moved up through 111. Bethlehem steel issues and subscription rights added several points. The equipment and war stocks reflected a less gloomy view of Great Britain's announcement concerning munitions contracts."

JAPAN KNOWS

(Continued from page one.) plete ignorance of the aims and aspirations of other nations. "Japan would be committing an act of sheer madness if she ever attempted to violate her pledged faith with her allies and with her friends in difficulties and join any political combination against the United States with whom she is linked by community interests and vast material interests as well as sentiments of sincere friendship. The American public may rest assured that Japan knows fully well where her true interest lies."

Oregonian: Twoby Bros. of Portland, have been asked to bid on an order for 1000 wooden box cars for the Southern Pacific. The same firm now is working on a contract of 200 cars for the Union Pacific, and is equipping its plant to engage extensively in the car building business. Twoby Bros. have been building cars for their own use in railroad construction work for several years. With the present excessive prices for steel, most of the western railroads have returned to the use of the wooden boxcars. The Twoby plant employs about 200 men. This force will be increased as the volume of their business increases.
