

Shake Off That Grip

When Spring comes, with its changeable weather and your exposure, it is best to clear away all the symptoms left after an attack of grip. That evil disease leaves you weakened, and when its victim attempts to "do his bit" he exposes himself to the risk of a second attack, for which he is less prepared, and which may have graver consequences.

There's Danger in Delay

April and May are pneumonia months. In this time a weakened system is a constant source of danger, for the pneumonia and grip infections are in the air, and after a long winter the body is so clogged with waste it cannot resist them. Fortify the health, remove the catarrh, and improve the digestion.

For Quick Relief PERUNA

This reliable tonic is recommended to remove the waste from the body, counteract the catarrhal poisons and allay the inflammation that is catarrh, restore the regular appetite and tone up the entire system to resist disease. A well man is safe.

As a tonic after grip it has won many commendations, while its effectiveness in catarrhal conditions is unquestioned. Take no chances—Take Peruna.

Peruna Tablets are always ready to take. You may carry a box with you and ward off colds and chills. The liquid medicine in your home is a great safeguard. Protect your family.

The marriage of Miss Vera Dilley and Lawrence G. Bulgin of North Carolina will take place tonight at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mae Dilley, 538 State street.

Only relatives and a few friends have been asked for the ceremony which will be a small simple affair. They will be unattended and one of the bride's close girl friends will sing during the ceremony.

The young people are going north on a wedding trip and may go to North Carolina later to make their home.

Mrs. Frank P. Schmidt and small son, Teddy, are passing a few days visit in Portland.

Saturday afternoon the members of the Samedai club gathered at the home of Mrs. Amos Vass to enjoy the informal afternoon for which Miss Julia Iverson was hostess.

The early part of the afternoon was passed with sewing and later Mrs. Sheldon gave an interesting talk on a few of the wonderful pictures displayed in the Louvre art gallery in Paris.

Mrs. Walter A. Denton went to Portland yesterday for the matinee and evening performance of grand opera at the Eleventh street theatre. In the afternoon Mrs. Denton heard "Iris" and in the evening "Faust" which was the closing performance.

Thomas T. Bennett a prominent attorney and banker of Marshfield, who has been passing a couple of days in Salem, returned home today. Mr. Bennett was accompanied by Charles Hall also of Marshfield, and both were at the Hotel Marion.

HAIR RAISING TALES OF ARMY AVIATION

Up In Baloon In All Kinds of Weather Target for Artillery As Well

By William Philip Stumas (United Press staff correspondent)

With the British Armies in the Field Feb. 4.—(By mail)—You remember the country fair? Remember the tremor of expectancy in the crowd gathered around the dingy old hot air balloon as she swelled, oh, so slowly, with the smoke and fumes of the barrel stove fire?

Will you ever forget the thrill she gave you as she lazily lurched into the air, dragging with her the fellow in the tanned but spangled purple tights, the parachute jump man with slick hair plastered down on his forehead? You secretly half hoped he would fall and half feared he would.

And then, at about fifteen hundred feet, the aeronaut's mad leap, his dead drop of 300 to 500 feet, the slow opening of the parachute and the swinging drift to the ground; remember?

Suppose you had to leave your job in the office, shop or on the farm, and begin such performances tomorrow? Suppose you had to go up in a balloon, in any and all sorts of weather, to be shot at by artillery and lunged at by hostile aircraft? Suppose you had to leap from burning balloons, or get tossed out of the basket of one while passing through the clouds and over From Clerks to Aeronauts

What if America should suddenly find herself in a war and the billboards should say: "Your country needs you? Think you could do these things for her? British boys are doing the little trick every day. Yesterday they were clerking in stores, working in shops, bookkeeping, or going to school. Today they are making parachute leaps from balloons and other more thrilling things still.

Yesterday that lieutenant you find yourself talking to, was a pink and white youth at Eton preparing to go up to Cambridge. Today he considers duels about the clouds with Germans as much a part of his job as yesterday he was a school kid writing essays about flowers. Now he handles a machine gun like a demon as he hurtles through the sky two miles a minute, or nose dives after a war hardened youth like himself whom he is trying to kill.

Here's an example. The incident occurred in the observation balloon section. Two youngsters, carrying out observations over the German defenses, suddenly got a shell through their balloon. It began to fall, slowly at first, then faster. They were about a mile high.

A Real Thriller "We're hit and falling!" one of the observers phoned down to the ground. "The hostile gun is at X-22-D62!" A moment later the second observer phoned down the position of the hostile battery which had punctured them, but gave the position slightly different.

Then both boys jumped. Their parachutes opened about the same distance down and, not more than fifty feet apart, they were watted earthward together.

"The blither!" one youth called over to the other as they dangled half a mile above the earth. "They couldn't do that again in a million shots."

"Rummy lot of stale cheeses!" growled the other, waving an arm in the direction of the German "Papa" accident. They couldn't hit a bread wagon if they tried." Thus chatting they landed in a field about a mile from their winch, and patiently trudged back.

"I'm sorry to note" said the company commander as they entered the hut serving as balloon section telephone central "that you two gentlemen failed to agree on the location of the hostile battery which brought you down." And though there was a twinkle in his eyes, his voice was severe.

"Sorry, sir!" one of the young officers replied with a smart salute. "But perhaps our error was due to the observations being taken at different altitudes." Throughout the British army one finds boyish looking officers. And they have again and again proved themselves up like this when the pinch has come.

Two other young officers while at an altitude of about 4,000 feet found themselves caught in a windstorm before they could be hauled down. Just before reaching earth a violent gale hit the balloon, which pulled the winch on the ground completely over, snapping the wire cable. The sausage went up and off among the clouds like a bubble in a whirlwind.

At a tremendous height the balloon was struck by lightning and set on fire, throwing one of the officers out of the basket. His parachute opened but as the balloon, now falling like a rock, had its rigging tangled up with the lower cords of the parachute, the latter began descending at frightful velocity through the storm clouds. The officer might have cut the balloon hose, making his own escape a certainty, but he would have doomed his brother officer to certain death. So he remained, preferring to take the millionth chance along with the other man.

The velocity of the fall extinguished the fire which had burned a great hole in the balloon and wind, getting in through this opening, caused the fabric to swell out thus forming a parachute of itself. The ground was reached with a thud which broke a collarbone or two but both young men walked to the nearest dressing station where they "reported" before receiving first aid.

closed that certain companies were making secret negotiations and he was going to show the citizens that these companies were misrepresenting the situation. He stated that he would not stop the investigation until the rates are reduced or shown why they should not be reduced.

University Notes

From the reports that have reached the campus, the Glee club is so far none the worse for their trip and the first concert proved a great attraction to its patrons. In fact people came for miles to hear the far famed warblers. One brief report says, "after traveling all day, covering 256 miles, glee club gave first concert at Madras, Monday night. Made a good hit before a fine crowd. Everybody in town and within 20 miles came on their cayuses to hear us. Followed all feeling fine."

At Portland the men succeeded in finding a piano small enough to get in the car. It is four foot high and four foot long. Everyone seems taken up with the porter, and he is surely the man for the job as he traveled with the Yale glee club from Chicago to San Francisco last year.

Eight men are the recent recruits of the Chestnut Hill literary society. After the inauguration one was branded with the Christo symbol J. The initiates were Spiess, Bailey, Notson, Chittick, Rahsopf, Lawson, Dougherty and Lyman.

Installation services of the Y. W. C. A. will take the place of the regular devotional meeting tomorrow afternoon. To assist her in the work of the cabinet the new president, Miss Fannie McKennon, appointed Miss Gladys Nichols chairman of the Bible study department; Miss Reta Hobbs, missions; Miss Edith Birkl, social; Miss Mary Findley, summer conference and rest room; Miss Mabel Garrett, devotional meetings; and Miss Blanche Baker, extension.

Merrill Ohling, editor of the 1919 Wallulah, has already selected the majority of his staff members, and formulated the general policy of the edition. It is his desire to have the annual standardized in form, so that each year it will have the same general appearance.

Raymond Attebery and Maude Maclean will be his chief assistants. The contract for the engraving work has been let to Hicks-Chatten Printing company of Portland. The work in the 1917 Wallulah is a sample of their production. They also have the contract for the 1918 publication.

Woman Thought She Would Die. Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Ogdensburg, Wis.—"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. ERTA DORION, Ogdensburg, Wis. Physicians undoubtedly did their best, battled with this case steadily and could do no more, but often the most scientific treatment is surpassed by the medicinal properties of the good old fashioned roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If any complication exists it pays to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special free advice.

Big Lumber Shipments Will Leave Portland

Portland, Or., March 7.—Lumber aggregating 9,500,000 feet and valued at about $150,000 was sold yesterday morning for shipment from Portland to Shanghai and Australia. The deal is the heaviest to be closed in a single day during the year.

Of the total, 4,500,000 feet will be shipped to Shanghai on a Japanese steamer, which is scheduled to reach here March 25. The steamer was chartered by the China Import and Export Lumber company from H. F. Osterlander of Seattle, who has not revealed her identity. She is about due on the Sound from the Orient. There is a possibility that she is the new steamer Somedono Maru, which is en route from Manila. She will load at the Inman-Ponlella mill, which is to begin at once to get out the big order for her.

The other orders comprising 5,000,000 will be exported to Australia on four sailing vessels. Their names have not been learned by Dant & Russell, who will furnish the lumber for them. Each of the sailers will take out about 1,250,000 feet. The first cargo of this order will be at sea about the first of June.

This new business will make about 17,000,000 feet of lumber, which will leave Portland and the river for foreign shores in the next few months.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The basket ball team will go to Eugene Tuesday to play Eugene high. Eugene was defeated by Salem in a game earlier in the season so the Salem team hopes to repeat its earlier victory again. There is but three more games left on the schedule and all of the games are away from home. The games to be played yet are Eugene, Franklin high of Portland and McMinnville. McMinnville now claims the Willamette valley championship, having defeated Salem in a previous game. If Salem defeats McMinnville it will have as much of a claim to the championship as McMinnville.

Dramatic work seems to appeal strongly to the students of the high school. At present four plays are being planned for the near future. The exact date has not yet been selected for any of the plays.

For Itching Scalp

You do not want a slow treatment for itching scalp when hair is falling and the dandruff germ is killing the hair roots. Delay means—no hair.

Get, at any drug store, a bottle of zemo for 25c or $1.00 for extra large size. Use as directed, for it does the work quickly. It kills the dandruff germ, nourishes the hair roots and immediately stops itching scalp. It is a pure, reliable, antiseptic liquid, is not greasy, is easy to use and will not stain. Soaps and shampoos are harmful, as they contain alkali. The best thing to use for scalp irritations is zemo, for it is safe and also inexpensive.

From field and forest comes S.S.S.

That is a most important statement, and, when considered in connection with health and medicine, its meaning is enlarged tremendously. Mineral medicines always leave their savages in the system.

Your blood requires a purely vegetable medicine when it is upset. That is why S.S.S. has done so much to build health during the past fifty years. It is purely vegetable, and not only drives poisons out of the blood, but builds up the system at the same time.

Catarrh, Eczema, Rheumatism, Malaria, Skin Eruptions are evidences of disordered blood.

S. S. S. does the greatest good for all blood disorders. Its success has caused many substitutes to appear. Don't take anything but the genuine. Write for booklet on any blood disease, and for Medical Advice. No charge.
