Process Shoes For

Unlocked

By the patented unlocked process a "comfort-pocket" is created under the insole. By inserting scientificallyshaped pads therein, through the opening at the inside edge of the insole's shank, the metatarsal bones are gradually and gently raised to normal position.

Caloched Process Shors are also the only shoes which completely emirch and support the arch in a saug but flexible "hammock."

This, with the muer and outer sale, protects the arch in its own width—a corrective of Posseintrarch troubles that is endursed and prescribed by the most caninent orthopedic physicians and surgeons in the United States and Europe.

Thus, these shoes correct both Anterior and Posterior-arch complaints. Moreover, they climinate callouses at ball of foot---without reducing the inside measurements of the shoe.
