Carranza's Hold On Northern Mexico Weak

El Paso, Texas, March 15.—The power and authority of the Carranza government in the northern states of Mexico are again seriously threatened according to reports reaching United States government agents and American mining men here today.

These reports declare that all the Carranza troops in the states of Chihuahua and Sonora who are loyal to Carranza, until recently war minister in President Carranza's cabinet, are in open revolt against the present government.

Carranza Evicts In Washington, March 16.—The United States government refuses to place any embargo on supplies or munitions to the allies, says a note to General Carranza, sent by the state department this afternoon. The note is in reply to General Carranza's note proposing such embargoes.

BOARD TO ARRANGE STATE FAIR PREMIUMS

Expected $28,500 Will Be Voted for This at Tomorrow's Meeting

It is probable that at the meeting of the state fair board tomorrow at the state house that the sum of $28,500 will be voted for the payment of premiums at the Oregon State Fair of 1917. Should this sum be voted it would be the largest ever appropriated for like purposes west of the Mississippi river, according to a statement of A. H. Lea, secretary of the board, this morning. Herebefore, the largest sum appropriated for premiums has been $20,000, which was distributed last year.

Altogether, the operating expenses of the state fair amounts to about $50,000 each year. To meet this sum the legislature allows the fair board the sum of $17,500 for premiums. The deficit in the premium list and the general operating expenses must be made up from admissions and concessions. The board did not get any of the buildings asked for from the legislature and but a small amount for improvements. Secretary Lea is beginning to wonder where all the money is going to come from to conduct the fair this fall.

On account of the legislature cutting out the appropriation for the collection, it is probable there will be no horse show this season. The secretary said that horsemen were demanding higher premiums and new sets of premiums are required in lines not heretofore.

POLK COUNTY TO HELP MAINTAIN FREE FERRY

Judge Kirkpatrick Promises Committee County Will Assist

Judge E. C. Kirkpatrick of Polk county has promised to co-operate with the Marion county court and the city of Salem in maintaining a free ferry across the river. This promise was made to a committee appointed by President Albert of the Commercial Club consisting of Fred W. Steustoff, Dan J. Fry and F. G. Deckerbach. The committee accompanied by M. L. Meyers and James L. Linn went over the proposition with Judge Kirkpatrick yesterday. The judge's reception of the committee was in the most friendly spirit. The committee gave the assurance that the city of Salem and Marion county would pay three-fourths of the expense of maintaining a free ferry. With the two counties co-operating and with the promise given yesterday by Mayor Keyes that the city would be more than glad to pay a share of the expense, there is every assurance that within a short time a free ferry will be established. The Polk county court has been very prompt in building the roadway and approach for the landing on the west side. In fact, it has been ready for several days.

It is probable that arrangements can be made to lease a ferry for a given amount and this will be decided within a day or so. The committee appointed by President Albert was busy yesterday working out details and was in session this afternoon.

While it is probable that the ferry proposition will be brought before the council Monday evening, the city officials through Mayor Keyes have already given assurance that the city will pay a proportion of the cost and that within a week or more a free ferry will be a reality and not a dream.

Gold Medals Awarded in High School Contest

Three gold medals were won by students of the Salem high school typewriting department today. The medals were won by Blanche E. Applegate, Mayme Homyer, and Opal George, for meeting the requirements in typewriting on a Remington machine. Remington manager for the Oregon district, and the medal given is valued at $10. The typewriting department is under the direction of Miss Gertrude Walling.

In order to earn a medal the young ladies were required to write new matter for ten continuous minutes at a rate of not less than 55 words a minute with five or less errors. Miss Applegate wrote a total of 635 words and made four errors. For each error five points were deducted, which gave her a net number of 615 or a percentage of 61.5.

Miss Homyer wrote a total of 449 words in ten minutes and made four errors which gave her a net number of 629 words, or a percentage of 62.9 per cent. Miss George wrote 646 words, made four errors, and got a net result of 626 words, with a percentage of 62.6.

It is probable that these gold medal tests will be given each month. The medals are sent out by the Remington company.

SAYS HIS ATTORNEY KNEW ABOUT DEALS

Testimony of Billingsley Shows Attorney Was Really Party to Acts

Seattle, Wash., March 16.—Dr. Mark A. Matthews, former moderator of the Presbyterian church, was scheduled to take the stand today as a witness for the government in the booze graft conspiracy trial against Mayor Gill, Chief of Police Beckingham, ex-Sheriff Hodge and City Detectives Peffer, Poolman, McLennan and Dehm.

United States Attorney Clarence L. Reames has announced the government will probably close its case today. Dr. Matthews will be one of the last of the government witnesses.

Logan Billingsley, director of the giant bootlegging syndicate, had testified he gave Dr. Matthews $1000 to use in obtaining evidence "to help clean up the town" and obtain statistics on the amount of gambling and immorality that was existing under Mayor Gill. George Vanderveer, erstwhile attorney for the Billingsley brothers was dragged farther into the mire of the case and M. W. Palmer, Chief Beckingham's chauffeur, gave testimony contradictory to that of other government witnesses at the booze-graft trial this morning.

Testimony further involving Vanderveer brought on another bitter fight between attorneys.

"Vanderveer advised Logan and me to go to British Columbia where he said friends of his who had won out at the last election would give us full protection," Fred Billingsley had testified in response to a question from Wilson Tucker, one of Mayor Gill's attorneys as to whether he had ever told Vanderveer that Logan never paid the mayor $4000.

"Did you attorney, George Vanderveer know about the details of your case as they were being committed?" asked Assistant Attorney General Reames on re-direct examination.

"Yes," said Fred, "he knew all the details of our business, even looked over our secret hiding places for liquor."

Fred volunteered the statement that he would have seen Vanderveer and his brother Logan Christmas eve when Logan had been allowed his freedom by Sheriff Hodge, "if Vanderveer hadn't been drunk."

"Would you be willing for Vanderveer to come here and tell all he knows?" demanded Tucker.

"Yes, I would," replied the witness.

"Logan wants to protect him but I don't. He can tell everything so far as I am concerned, and if he does he'll be indicted for he's just as guilty as the other defendants."

Fred also testified that he told Chief Beckingham of his plan to steal the Tim Vogel ear of liquor that Hodge had stored in W. H. Pielow's warehouse and said the chief told him to make quick work of it and not let anyone know that Beckingham knew about it.

He considered that it is a regular Chinese puzzle to figure out where the money is coming from to do all these things and please the people.

Tomorrow morning the board will go over the fair grounds and in the afternoon hold its session at the state house.

MAY MAKE CHANGE IN TIME OF PAYMENTS

Desert Land Board May Extend Time Over Period of 20 Years

Changes in the time of payments on the land sold by the board were made by the last legislature, extending the time from ten to twenty years, and in the future contracts to be made the state desert land board authorized the addition of the change in wording to the printed contracts. With this method of payment in operation the state has one of the most favorable land contracts in this business.

The contract calls for the payment of one-twentieth down and one-twentieth a year until paid. The interest is at 5 per cent and begins to run at the date of the contract. The state's lien against the land for the price of construction, or the price of the irrigable per acre, or $40. For the non-irrigable land the price is $2.50 per acre.

The land comes from the United States government through the state to the settler and forty acres is the minimum that can be taken up and 160 the maximum. Every citizen, male or female, over the age of 21 years has a Carey Act right to take up land in addition to the desert land and homestead right.

INTER-CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE HAS MEETING

Large and Enthusiastic Gathering—Salem's Course Not Decided

One of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings ever held by the Inter-City Baseball League was held last evening in Portland where baseball managers from Portland, Woodburn, McMinnville, Camas, Hillsboro and Salem met at the banquet table and while partaking of an elaborate seven course dinner discussed plans for a much better season than the league experienced in 1916, although it was the greatest success from a semi-pro standpoint since the old Tri-City days.

Ex-Manager Ray C. Baker represented Salem on behalf of Manager Otto Klett who was unable to be present.

East Side and West Side Portland teams and Salem still own franchises in the league and temporary franchises were voted to McMinnville, Woodburn and Hillsboro. Camas may be substituted for Hillsboro although it was the sense of the meeting not to have any teams in the league from either side of Portland. Silverton was also considered for a berth. With the big new sawmill and their eight hundred employees added to their already large pay roll Silverton should make a good club for the league and would also reduce the cost of traveling. A committee was appointed to look after the matter and as soon as the league is in fact another meeting will be called and steps taken for permanent organization.

The matter of applying for class "D" rating from the National Baseball association was not gone into on account of the fact that this rating requires a 90 game schedule and a salary limit of $200 which would be out of the question.

It was voted to allow the visiting team a guarantee of $40 instead of playing on a percentage basis of 40 per cent to the loser and 60 per cent to the winner with expenses guaranteed as last year.

It was also voted to raise the entrance fee from $75 to $100 so that teams would not be so hasty in throwing up their franchise and disrupting the league in mid season.

The league will probably open on April 8th and close on August 19th. This will make the season twenty weeks long and with extra games on the Fourth of July and Memorial day will make the schedule about twenty three games.

The salary question which always disrupts most semi-pro clubs than any other one thing was talked over very thoroughly. It was the cause of all the trouble last season and steps will be taken at next meeting to avoid as much of this trouble as possible. It was the opinion of all present that every club would be better off in the long run by playing home players as much as possible. There are always a few players who figure they are worth a class "D" salary but I believe that every manager this season will be very careful not to get overstocked with players who can see nothing but money in the game.

It was brought out at the meeting that no less than fifteen players are getting a chance to try out in class D, B, A and AA leagues who played in the Inter-City League last season, and great many of the young players overlook the fact that this league is a good stepping stone to higher leagues. The players get a great deal of publicity through the averages and box scores in the large papers of the state that would otherwise be very small when playing with an independent team.

A great deal of credit was given President Day for the success in 1916 and he was unanimously re-elected. None of the officials of the league get a salary except the secretary who has to devote considerable time handling correspondence and data and he is allowed the nominal sum of $3.50 per week.

Salem had the best class of baseball last season they have had in at least seven years and with McMinnville add-

WILL INVESTIGATE TOMATO PROJECT

C. A. Newell and H. M. Parks Appointed by Land Board

C. A. Newell, of Portland, a consulting engineer, and H. M. Parks of the State Bureau of Mines at the Oregon Agricultural college, a consulting engineer and geologist, were appointed by the state desert land board at a meeting this morning as the board is to investigate the condition of the Tualah project reservoir, in which it has been found that serious cracks have developed.

The board includes the manager of the project, Fred Wallace, and it is authorized to investigate by Lawrence G. Gault, a bill introduced in the house of representatives, which appropriates $10,000 for the investigation. The original bill carried an appropriation for $25,000 but it was cut by the ways and means to the last amount.

State Geologist Parks will not receive any extra salary for this work as he is already an employee of the state but his expenses will be paid during the investigation. The board will be permitted to employ assistants that may be needed to do the work.

Previous to the investigation by the consulting engineers, a member of the geological department will make a 30 day preliminary investigation to prepare charts of the faults, inclines, synclines, and other geological formations of the surrounding country so that the consulting engineers will know with what they have to deal.

All will be found loyal. If it should be necessary, I am willing to lead a regiment of these men into war, without any fear of being shot in the back."

Gerard declared he was astonished to find that this country had made no tangible move toward national defense during the two and a half years he has been absent.

Ambassador Gerard Greeted in New York

New York, Mar. 16.—Greeted by cheering thousands who passed in Broadway's noon hour rush to pay their respects, James W. Gerard, former United States ambassador to Germany, reached New York today. Responding to welcoming addresses before the city hall, Gerard paid tribute to President Wilson, declared that if war comes it will be only after the president has exhausted his last effort to steer clear of the maelstrom.

Gerard expressed pleasure "that a man of German origin" was one of those whose names were on the welcoming committee. "That is not surprising," he said, "that a man of German origin should feel a sentimental duty to be loyal to a certain extent to the fatherland, but as the need arises they should to the league the rivalry should be still more acute."

While it is not actually decided to enter the league on account of the extra heavy expenses this year to get started it is hoped that the Salem fans will rally to the support of the team and make it possible. In case it is done Manager Klett intends to put the grounds in first class condition to start with and not wait until mid season. There is an abundance of home material to build a first class team and without doubt the fans will get the best they have ever had.

A meeting will be called at once to organize on the pro-rate basis practiced last season, elect a captain and secretary and treasurer as Manager Klett wishes all surplus profits divided among the actual workers and in this way keep the cost of running the club as low as possible and give the players the benefit.
