At the services to be held next Sunday evening at the First Congregational church, the pastor, Rev. James Elvin, will take for the subject of his discourse "Was Jesus a Pacifist?" Perry Reigelman will read selections from "The Man Without a Country," by Hale. The patriotic film for the evening will be a showing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Donald Miles, Salem attorney, who was arrested Sunday evening for speeding on the streets of the city, appeared in the police court this morning and paid a fine of $10. Police Judge Race assessed the minimum fine. In his estimation, the minimum is too large for all the things the ordinance prohibited and he expects to ask the council to reduce the minimum and make a sliding scale for various specific offenses.

Heretofore, when the large safe in any business house or office in Salem went on a strike, all that was necessary was to telephone to the warden of the penitentiary and at once a safe expert appeared, who soon had the combination in working order again. Several months ago the safe in the Drager Fruit company's office and that of the Marion hotel were doctored by the pen expert and just last week the one in the office of the Salem street railway company needed his attention. But the man who had worked so many years with the Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe company was given his release from the pen last Saturday and thus Salem lost a useful citizen. P. S.—No, he was not in the pen for attempting to rob a safe. It was on another charge. He is now a free man.

Revival Meeting Draws Big Crowds

Big crowds were the order of the day at the revival meeting at the First Christian Church yesterday. There were 445 at Bible School, and two splendid audiences for the preaching services. Evangelist Fagan preached two strong sermons. At the morning hour his message was a tender appeal based upon the incidents transpiring at the crucifixion. In the evening before a packed house he set forth those things which constitute the plea of the Christian Church.

There were 88 in the ladies chorus and splendid congregational singing was enjoyed by all. A ladies quartet, and a solo by Mrs. Fagan were the two special numbers of the evening. Mrs. Fagan's rich voice appeared to great advantage in her rendition of "The Holy City."

There were fourteen additions to the church during the day, making a total of fifty-eight since the meetings began. The meetings are to continue indefinitely. Tonight the sermon subject will be, "When the Devil Goes to Church." Mrs. Fagan will sing another of her beautiful solos.

Sues Southern Pacific for $5,000 Damages

General damages in the sum of $5000 and special damages in the sum of $3700 are asked by Laura B. Hardwick from the Southern Pacific company for injuries she alleges were caused by the negligence of the company's employees and the carelessness of operation of a street car on the evening of November 7, 1916.

On this evening Laura Hardwick states she was crossing State street at the regular crossing on the east side of Commercial street, when she was struck by a car and thrown to the ground so that she was bruised, wounded, and severely injured. As a result, she says she has lost her position as superintendent of the laundry at the state home for the feeble minded, which caused a loss of $60 a month. From this source she has been damaged $250. For medicines, she expended $100.

On that evening she says the streets were unusually crowded as it was the evening of the election. She asserts the operator of the car failed to watch the track carefully, or ring the bell, apply brakes, or stop.

Decision Sends Wheat Up Nearly Four Cents

Chicago, Mar. 19.—The decision handed down by the supreme court which declared the Adamson eight hour law constitutional was a bullish factor in the Chicago grain pit. During the last hour and a half of trading grain futures moved sharply upward. May wheat closed at 188 1/8, 3 5/8 over the opening; July closed up 3 1/4, at $1.58 1/4, and September up 2 3/8 at $1.46 1/4.

Corn had advances of approximately 2 1/2 and oats showed good increases.

Golf players to the number of about 50 took advantage of the fine weather yesterday and enjoyed themselves at the links near Finzer. Now that the building of a country club is assured, there is a growing interest in the club and the membership is rapidly growing.

It was an impressive ceremony at the Oregon State penitentiary Sunday morning when "The Stars and Stripes" were hoisted to the top of the flag pole at 8:30 o'clock. And the flag was raised to the strains of the national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," played by the prison band, and for the first time in its history, Old Glory floated over that grim institution. C. W. Loudon, a convict, and a member of Company F, Fourteenth Infantry, U. S. A., raised the flag. The flag pole was raised under the direction of Warden Murphy, who thought it was a good thing for the prisoners to have the flag floating where they could see it every day.

Several interesting things will be discussed at the meeting of the city council this evening. In the city budget there is $2,000 for free band concerts and tonight, as the park committee could not agree, the question of how to spend that money will be passed on to the council. Some want vocal music and some do not and it is for the council to decide. Then the question of lowering the age when young men may legally enter a pool hall will cause considerable discussion. Just now the age limit is 21 years and the new ordinance reduces that age to 18 years. The churches are opposed to any change in the ordinance, and will probably present a petition to that effect. Then the street improvement department in charge of the city paving will present a report and recommendations as to additional paving.

SAVAGE—In the city, Monday, March 19, 1917, John Savage, in his 84th year. He is survived by three sons: George L. Savage and Mark H. Savage, of Salem, and Bert F. Savage, of Lewiston, Idaho. A daughter, Blanche, died a few years ago in Salem.

John Savage was born in Richfield, Huron county, Ohio, on June 1, 1833. He crossed the plains in 1853 coming to California. In 1855 he returned to Oregon coming by way of the isthmus of Panama. He saw more than four years' active service during the Civil war, enlisting in the Eleventh Michigan on August 24, 1861. He served in Company G for two and a half years and participated in the battles of Murfreesboro, Chickamauga, Missionary Ridge, Resaca and the siege of Atlanta.

In 1873 he returned to Oregon, locating on a farm four miles east of Salem. In 1880 he came to Salem. As yet no funeral arrangements have been made. The body is at the undertaking parlors of Rigdon & Richardson at 3:30 o'clock from the chapel of Fin-

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Aaron Wells, of the Nazarene church. After the wedding, a dinner was served to the contracting couple and guests. The Banta home was tastefully decorated with evergreens and Oregon grape. After the dinner, the newlyweds left for the bride's home on the Silverton road, where they will live.

YOUR EYEGLASSES CANNOT GROW OLD WITH YOU

If two years or more have elapsed since your eyeglasses were made for you, the chances are that you have outgrown them. We advise eyeglass wearers to come to us every two years for re-examination of their eyes, in order to determine whether or not the lenses need to be changed. Will make no charge for examining your eyes, neither do you obligate yourself, morally or in any other way, to purchase glasses of me. Satisfy yourself that your eyeglasses are the correct ones for you. If you need Glasses and wish to purchase them, I furnish you the very best possible at a reasonable price. If you do not need glasses I gladly tell you and would refuse to supply them even though you should insist. I do not use drops or drugs in making examinations as they are dangerous. My charges are very reasonable—material used and service considered. I guarantee satisfaction in every respect. I change glasses free of charge for a whole year if necessary. Lenses duplicated while you wait. DR. M. P. MENDELSON 209-210-211 United States National Bank Building Phone 110

State House News

Robert Buckingham of the state of Washington, would like to remodel the state of Oregon more nearly to his heart's desire, according to a postal card received by Secretary Olcott today. Buckingham addressed his letter to the "State Board of Trade." He said he had been down in central Oregon several times in 1916, but would like additional information about it and the entire state. He suggests dividing the state into several other states, making a division at the timberline east of the Cascades and including four counties in Washington. Pendleton would be the capital of this new state. Moscow he would have as the capital of Lincoln state. He would change the names of Salem and Portland to Manila and Funston.

Referendum on a part of the insurance code is asked by L. H. Mahone, of Portland. The part to come under the referendum is section 22d, which relates to rating. Mahone would prevent the insurance department from interfering with rating.
