COMING EVENTS

Tonight. March 27.—Ladies' night at Elks' lodge. March 28.—Patriotic mass meeting at armory. Governor Withycombe will preside. April 3 and 4.—Elks' play, "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," at opera house. April 14.—Marion County Odd Fellows' convention. April 17.—Annual meeting Marion County Potato Growers' association.

Evangelistic services will begin this evening at the First Presbyterian church and will continue the remainder of the week. They will be in charge of the Rev. A. E. Fitch. The funeral of Mrs. Alice W. Scarf who died last Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. A. Pruitt, 433 Union street, will be held Thursday morning at 8 o'clock from St. Joseph's church. The body will be sent to Detroit, Mich., for burial.

Even if it has an $80,000 commercial club house, Albuquerque, New Mexico, has heard of the Salem Commercial club and of its re-organization a few years ago. A letter has been received from the president of the Albuquerque club for information and what publicity was given at that time. The club does not want the advice of any man who is making a business of rejuvenating commercial clubs. It just wants to know how we did it.

The river is falling today and the gauge this morning was 10.2 feet above the low water mark, a fall of 8 of a foot during the 24 hours. Although there has been a rainfall every day for the past eight days, the total has been only 1.61 inches, with a total for the month of 3.14 inches. The range of temperature yesterday was from 50 to 42. One year ago for the same date it was from 48 to 37.

Secretary of State Ben Olcott is now a real Moose, having been duly initiated last evening. Oscar Hodges of this city was also given the obligation. In the debate as to whether a steel or concrete bridge was to be preferred, the steel bridge advocates won. Resolutions were passed to the effect that it was the duty of every good citizen to stand by the president in this national crisis and that the lodge was in accord with the state and national authorities in their efforts to awaken a spirit of patriotism. The resolutions were signed by Benjamin Brick, Earl Race, W. L. Toole, John W. Holman and B. W. Macy.

With the churches taking an active part in the present recruiting campaign and speakers having wonderful success in the educational institutions of the city, the theatres have asked that they be not neglected. So this evening between the first and second show speakers will address the audience on preparedness and recruiting. The following are scheduled: The Oregon, John Holman and Lieut. Dana H. Allen; Ye Liberty, Joe McAllister and Malcolm Gilbert; Bligh, Rev. James Heady and Perry Reigelman.
