

Fewer Eggs are required with ROYAL BAKING POWDER

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced with excellent results by using an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following recipe is a practical example:

Chocolate Sponge Roll

- 1/4 cups flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2 squares melted chocolate
- 1 tablespoon melted shortening
- 1/2 cup hot water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 teaspoon Royal Baking Powder

The old method called for 4 eggs and no baking powder

DIRECTIONS—Sift flour, baking powder and salt together three times. Beat whole eggs. Add slowly sugar, then boiling water slowly; add next vanilla, melted chocolate and melted shortening, without beating. Sift in dry ingredients and fold in as lightly as possible. Pour into large baking pan lined with oiled paper, and bake in slow oven twenty minutes. When done, turn out on a damp, hot cloth, spread with white icing and roll.

Booklet of recipes which economize in eggs and other expensive ingredients mailed free.

Forty Pleaded Guilty To Election Frauds

Indianapolis, Ind., April 4.—Forty republicans of Evansville, Ind., today pleaded guilty to the charge of conspiring to defraud the government in the 1916 election before Federal Judge Anderson. Frank C. Bailey, United States special district attorney in charge of the election fraud probe, in a dramatic address to the court, told of the evidence which the government has collected against the men in other ways, closing with a plea for leniency.

Miss "Nan" West has returned from Portland where she has been the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, ex-Governor and Mrs. Oswald West.

A small group of young girls gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Belle last night to participate in the birthday party given their granddaughter, Miss Thelma Young. A "movie" party was enjoyed during the early part of the evening and later the little group assembled at the Belle home for a birthday collation.

Mrs. Charles Knowland and daughter, Miss Pauline Knowland, have returned from Albany, where they have been visiting relatives for a day or so.

Never has Salem society enjoyed or displayed a more enthusiastic appreciation of local talent, than they did last night at the Grand theatre, when the Elks presented the opening performance of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford."

The house was filled to its utmost capacity and every seat has again been reserved for tonight's performance.

Mrs. E. J. Miller has gone to Albany for a several days visit and is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. A. D. Coates. She went last Saturday and will remain until the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Charles K. Spaulding left this morning for Vancouver, Washington, to see her son, Lieutenant Walter L. Spaulding, who is at the barracks with company M.

She was joined in Portland by Mr. Spaulding who will accompany her home.

Mrs. Oliver C. Loeke and Mrs. William Walton are passing the day in Portland, having gone this morning.

PLAY WAS BEST EVER PUT ON BY SALEMITES

Was One Continuous Laugh For Three All Too Brief Hours

From pit to gallery the audience at the Grand opera house last night enjoyed Cohen's rattling comedy "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," which was presented by the Salem lodge of Elks with a cast fully as capable as any ever put on by a home-talent show in this city.

There were many delightful things about this production. It was the best of George Randolph Chester's Wallingford stories, and it hit the funny spot time and time again with a military precision that was very effective in registering laughs. It was well-played, went with a snap and go that is always characteristic of the plays staged by Jim Mott, veteran actor.

The Elks have been putting on good plays and shows each year but this production, for finish, and general pleasing qualities, has set a new record that will be hard to exceed in the future. The Elks may well be proud of the production, and every one who took a part in it may feel a justifiable pride in the success that it certainly was.

Galloway Superb. It really seems too bad that Charles V. Galloway is not a really and truly actor—the legitimate stage has lost a remarkable dramatic personality in the fact that he is a tax commissioner. It has been a number of years since Mr. Galloway has graced the Salem stage but in that time he has lost none of his fine genius for acting.

As that inimitable character of fiction, "J. Rufus Wallingford," Mr. Galloway had a part suited to him in every respect, and it gave him excellent opportunity to play the quick, cunning, dashing, and yet wholly lovable promoter and schemer. In fact, it seemed that he was not really acting but that Wallingford and "Blackie" Daw had stepped from the pages of the magazines and presented themselves in flesh and blood.

With Galloway as Wallingford and Jim Mott as "Blackie" Daw, there was a team that is hard to beat. Mr. Mott scarcely needs any comment except that he played the part of "Blackie" to perfection and produced a mighty fine, smooth-running show.

The Town Representatives. With these two as a magnet, it was not long before the rural inhabitants of Battlegburg fell for them and their schemes. The village of Battlegburg presented a variety of characters that helped along the fun and to fill the pockets of Wallingford.

These "small-town" characters were well taken and played consistently and with fidelity to nature. To mention something distinctive about each and every one is impossible for the adjective "font" would be depleted. So under this classification come "Andy" Dempsey, proprietor of the Palace hotel, Battlegburg, taken by Ernest R. Ringo; Eddie Lamb, the head clerk, who was shortly a shorn lamb, taken by Robin Day; Willie, the bell hop, a smart and dapper fellow, taken by Oliver Myers; G. W. Battles, the richest man in town, played by Wilson Howard; Timothy Battles, the mayor of Battlegburg—and here a digression must be made to mention that the whiskers, or mustache character of the mayor are the real dyed-in-the-wool thing—played by Walter E. Keyes.

Support All Good. None of the less characteristic were Henry Quig, the coal and ice magnate, played by Paul Stege; Richard Welles, the real estate man, taken by L. S. Geer; Judge Kenneth E. Lampton, lawyer, played with exceptional fidelity by E. H. DeVeer; "Doc" Gunther, the bus driver, who was cast happily in the person of E. Cook Patton; Yoshi, Wallingford's valet, played by William Perlich; and wonder of wonders, Charlie, the bartender, true to life, played by Bud Welch.

Bunny Meising as Clint Hawkins, reporter on the Battlegburg "Blade," presented a lively character. George C. L. Snyder, as E. B. Lott, of the Midland Valley Fraction line, and Dan Langenburg, a Pinkerton detective, both put their stuff over with their characteristic ability. They are both "institutions" in Salem's dramatic world, and a cast would not be complete without them.

One more laurel has been added by Mrs. Carleton Smith to her long list of dramatic triumphs. Last night she presented the character of Fanny Jasper, the stenographer who later becomes Wallingford's private secretary, and who swings him from the crooked path to the road of honesty. Her work in this part was good and she made the most of it.

Mrs. R. M. Hofer, as Mrs. Andy Humpsey, wife of the proprietor of the Palace hotel, and Miss Vera Coder, as Gertrude Dempsey, the landlady's daughter, both presented exceptionally fine character delineations of the parts.

Bessie Moore, the head waitress, taken by Mrs. A. J. Rahn, was a scream. This part was a difficult one and was cleverly done. Her work was carefully and naturally executed and brought down the house time and time again.

As Dorothy Welles, the chum of Gertrude Dempsey, Miss Helene Schober was very attractive and pleasing. She was especially good in the last act. It will be presented again tonight, and those who did not attend will miss something if they fail to be on hand when the curtain goes up tonight, for you will regret missing any minute of it.

arrival of the German minister to China, also on route home as a result of the break in Chinese-German relations, but all vessels called at Hong Kong, a British port and he could not go. When he came to Honolulu, intending to go to China from there, China had broken off relations. Accordingly he came to San Francisco to await the arrival of the returning minister to China.

Carranza has doubtless realized all the time that if it ever came to a scrap Uncle Sam could get both hands into his whiskers, whereas Uncle Sam's afford a hold for only one.

SOCIETY

By ALICE THOMPSON

Of interest to Salem folk will be the marriage of Miss Eleanor M. Rogers to Frederick S. Lamport which was solemnized last night at the Rogers residence in Ben Lomand Park, Rev. Robert S. Gill officiating. The ceremony although very pretty, was small and simple, only relatives of the young couple attending.

A number of close friends of the bride and groom have had suspicions that the marriage would soon take place, but the news nevertheless has caused quite a ripple of pleasurable surprise.

The bride has a charming and attractive manner that has endeared her to a host of friends. She is the only daughter of J. P. Rogers, president of the United States National bank. She received her earlier education in the Salem schools, and later attended Miss McClintock's school in Boston, from which seminary she was graduated last June.

Mr. Lamport is the second son of Mrs. E. S. Lamport, an old Salem family and is a promising young attorney.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamport will honeymoon under southern skies, having left immediately after the ceremony for San Francisco, Coronada Beach and other points of interest.

Mrs. Ora P. Poague has returned from a several weeks sojourn in southern California.

Mrs. Frank H. Spears and small son, Frank Jr., returned yesterday from Portland, where they have been the house guests of Miss Bertha Masters. Mrs. Spears and Miss Masters were class mates at the University of Oregon and both are members of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority. Mr. Spears who accompanied his family to Portland returned earlier in the week.

Health Expert Discusses Shattered Nerves Thursday

The Chautauqua Health Lectures of the Y. M. C. A. course by J. C. Elliott are growing in interest, his lecture this afternoon on "Foods and Nutrition" was a very valuable one. The lecturer is bombarded with questions at the close of the lectures. This course of lectures under the Y. M. C. A. is a valuable asset to any community. The subject of the lecture for Thursday at 2:30 will be "Shattered Nerves and Their Restoration." Admission is free.

Shattered Nerves. Mr. Elliott said in speaking on this subject, "We have ten million nerves in the body. The strenuous life of the age shatters them all. The two great nerve centers of the body are the brain and spinal column, and the solar plexus or abdominal brain. Scientists say there are more than two thousand million nerve cells in the brain and spinal cord. Our strenuous life exhausts them all. We shatter the nerves of the child before graduation from the grammar school. High school pupils fall by the thousands from nervous disorders, before graduation. Shattered nerves force thousands of students from our colleges before commencement. Business and professional men and women fall from the same cause before they reach their prime. Mothers in the home are not exempt, but go down under nervous prostration and mental debility.

Eye Strain. "Eye strain in the student is one of the chief causes of shattered nerves. Neglect of the eye of the child is one of the crimes of the age. Scientists tell us there are a million strans in one of the optic nerves, and that it requires one-third of the nervous force and energy of the body to run the optic nerve. Defective vision is one of the chief causes of shattered nerves in the pupil and student. Thousands of the pupils in our schools and colleges are going down under shattered nerves, because of eye-strain. Examination of the eyes of the student by an expert optician is imperative for health and preservation of the nerve force and energy of the student. In the near future the state will provide an expert optician for our schools and will furnish glasses where the parent is unable to meet the expense.

Shattered Nerves in Adults. Millions in our nation are becoming physical and mental and nervous wrecks because of shattered nerves. Professional and business men and women are falling under nervous prostration by the thousands because of shattered nerves. Society women and mothers in the home are falling under the same assaults. Shattered nerves occur in people who seem well and cheerful. We find them in persons nervously ill and wretched. We find them in persons mentally ill and wretched, persons obsessed with gloom, despondency, and despair. This is the form of shattered nerves that leads to insanity. Our insane asylums are crowded to the doors with patients who have had reason dethroned by shattered nerves and poisoned brain cells.

Cause of Shattered Nerves. Worry is one of the chief causes of shattered nerves. The brain can endure an endless amount of intellectual work, but worry soon burns out the brain cells and the nerve cells as well. Auto-intoxication, or self poisoning from decaying surplus food poisons the nerve cells and destroys them. The strenuous life of the age burns out the nerve cells. High pressure life burns out nerve cells. Poisonous foods destroy our nerve force and energy. Vinegar, pepper salt, spices, and all highly seasoned foods. Tea, coffee, smoking, tobacco, all alcoholic liquors, morphine, and cocaine burn out the nerve centers. All these problems will be discussed. Admission free.

Everything Ready for Billy Sunday's Invasion of New York City

New York, April 4.—Billy Sunday's giant tabernacle is all ready for him to start his fight on the Devil in New York at Broadway and 168th street Sunday morning.

The big choir is organized. Every citizen, large and small; every working girl, every boy, every laborer, every scrub woman, has been told and told of Sunday's coming. Thousands of them have been organized into bible classes, personal workers, singers and other assistants to the redoubtable Billy.

This New York campaign is expected to be Sunday's greatest triumph or his worst tumble from the pedestal of evangelism. New York awaits him with out much to say. It is inordinately curious to see what he looks like and how he acts.

Broadway and Boozie have paid little attention to him. He may stir up a fight with the Great White Way after he gets started though.

Among his most ardent supporters and financial aids here is John D. Rockefeller, Jr. and Mrs. Rockefeller. Sunday has said he will be a bit tamer here with his slang and his slams than elsewhere. New York wonders why. It rather expected him to tear loose and go the limit and over. But Sunday says slang is out of use mostly now and he thinks there are a few good theaters and cabaret restaurants too.

Billy has promised to turn his tabernacle into a big recruiting station in case the United States goes to war with Germany. His son George M. Sunday will join the aviation corps, he says.

"Visitors here generally compliment Albany on the fine appearance of its streets, homes, business houses and public buildings, but the old Central school building block is not included in the good works," quietly remarks the Albany Democrat.

Painless Parker---Outlaw His Confessions

CHAPTER XIX.
"Ethical dentists (represented by the Medicine Men of polite practice) have three great grievances against me.

I educate the public at every turn—and, by that, spoil a time-honored bunco game.

I refuse to be a hold-up man—and thus I bring dentistry to the man who can't afford to be charged fifty-seven varieties of prices for the work.

I conduct an educational advertising campaign—and, because it is business ethics, modern methods, it jars the professional ethics of the Dental Trust, and, furthermore, it sets an example that others may well be tempted to follow.

C. A. Coe, wire chief of the local telephone company at Newberg, reports that the increased number of new phones ordered and the few disconnections lately is quite noticeable—a fact which, the Enterprise avers, is an evidence of the growing prosperity of the community.

Spring Colds Are the Worst

They lead to catarrh and pneumonia. They weaken the entire system and leave it unable to resist the sudden changes. They interfere with your digestion and lessen your activity. Neglected they soon become that dread disease known as systemic catarrh. Don't neglect them. It's costly as well as dangerous.

PERUNA Will Safeguard You

Have a box of Peruna Tablets with you for the sudden cold or exposure. Tone your system up with a regular course of the liquid Peruna. Fortify it against colds, get your digestion up to normal, take care of yourself and avoid danger. If you are suffering now begin the treatment at once. Give Nature the help she needs to throw off the catarrhal inflammation, and again become well.

Peruna has been helping people for 44 years. Thousands of homes rely on it for coughs, cold and indigestion. It's a good tonic for the weak, as well.

Now there, in a nutshell, you have the indictment against Painless Parker—three counts—enough to hang him, don't you think?
I have explained that, by education, I am a dentist, and that my livelihood is definitely in that field.

What honest Americans will tell you that I have not the constitutional right to earn my living in this profession without conforming to rules that were made when the original Medicine Man in the American forest bolstered up his job as the tribal "Know-It-All!"

What up-to-date American won't applaud any effort on mine to force the practice of dentistry to recognize the trend of the times, stop gopher tactics, step out in the open and give the public a little "blue sky" in its teeth carpentry!

What square-minded American will not support a move of mine to place the practice of dentistry on the same solid foundation on which modern business is now lodged—openness of operation, equality in competition, honesty with the public and fairness with one's fellowmen!

I am fighting for my right and for the right of all honest, progressive and unambitious dentists to offer our services in the open for a fair price, and to use modern methods in placing those services before the public.
Is that an unworthy platform? It's frankly "unethical." But is it un-American? Is it criminal?
Let us see by comparison.—Adv.
