Dr. Carlton Smith Gets Commission as First Lieutenant

Dr. W. Carlton Smith, who for a number of years has been a first lieutenant in the national guard medical corps, today received a commission as first lieutenant in the medical section of the United States Regular Army Officers Reserve Corps. Dr. Smith is the first medical man in Salem to be given a commission in the reserve.

Pimples Disappear

There is one remedy that seldom fails to clear away all pimples, blotches and other skin eruptions and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy. Any druggist can supply you with zemo, which generally overcomes all skin diseases. Acne, eczema, itch, pimples, rashes, black heads in most cases give way to zemo. Frequently, minor blemishes disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is a safe antiseptic liquid, clean, easy to use and dependable. It costs only 25c; an extra large bottle, $1.00. It will not stain, is not greasy or sticky and is positively safe for tender, sensitive skins. The E. W. Ross Co., Cleveland, O.

Others have made application but the applications have not yet been acted on.

In July, 1916, shortly after the national defense act went into effect, Dr. Smith received from Robert C. Noble, major of the medical section of the reserve corps, an invitation to apply for a commission. He filled out the required information and was directed on August 23 to report in person to First Lieutenant Joan G. Strohm, of the medical section of the reserve corps in Portland for examination. On August 30 he reported and passed satisfactorily and today received his commission.

Dr. Smith is of the opinion that he will be called into service shortly. The commission dates from March 24, 1917, and is signed by the adjutant general, Harry P. McCain.

MANY GIRLS HURT

Jersey City, N. J., April 4.—Between thirty and forty girls engaged in filling percussion caps for airplane shells were injured in an explosion which partially wrecked a West Side bottle factory late today.

Some of the injured are expected to die. Private automobiles and express wagons were pressed into service removing the injured to hospitals.

Fred Fulton Meets Carl Morris—Al Owens Beat Billy George

By H. C. Hamilton
(United Press staff correspondent)
New York, April 4.—After tonight's fight of the country will know whether Fred Fulton is ready to meet Jess Willard in a bout for the world's heavyweight championship. In his scheduled round meeting with Carl Morris, Fulton is taking on his hands the biggest contract he has attempted since he began pestering Willard with challenges. He will have to win decisively to be figured ready for the big match.

Morris with one victory over Fulton, will nevertheless be on the short end of the betting, because of Fulton's fine showing in New York bouts recently.

STONE SAYS WAR

once stand in obedient salute to that flag, dutifully willing and ready to perform any service or make any sacrifice necessary to bring the cause we espouse to a successful issue.
"To my countrymen, I say in war there can be no divided patriotism; in war the eyes of an American can behold but one flag.
"If we declare for war there must be no halting; we must make war in earnest; honor and patriotism will demand that we shrink not even from the mouth of hell. If your decision be for war there is nothing that any sane, honorable, patriotic American could do that I will not do to make that war a success."
Senator Morris speaks.
After severely arraigning "our submission to the English blockade," Senator Morris stated that he would oppose the resolution, but if congress decided to enter the war "would do all in his power, and with all his energy be behind the flag in carrying it to success."
In the first bitter battle since consideration of the resolution began, Reed, Missouri, charged that the utterances of Norris "took on a treacherous character."
Norris had said that this was "a war of dollars and that he felt that we were putting the dollar sign upon the American flag by entering the war."
Frequently Reed read from a copy of Norris' address. Certain parts he termed "an indictment of the president, congress, the people of the United States and the truth."
"If that is not giving aid and comfort to the enemy while on the verge of war I do not know what it is," he shouted. "If that is not almost treason, it takes on that character."
Senator Norris replies.
Senator Norris was on his feet instantly. He denied emphatically that his remarks could be construed as an attack upon the president.
Senator Williams interrupted, asking, "I'd like to ask if Senator Norris said he felt we were about to put the dollar mark upon the American flag?"
The Nebraska admitted it.
"I believe we would not be on the verge of war today if it were not for the influence of money. The country is war mad," snapped Norris at Williams.
Immediately other senators jumped to their feet clamoring for the privilege of questioning Norris.
Reed read the dollar mark phrase from Norris' speech and insisted that Norris state whether he meant exactly what he said.
"The president, you, or anyone else can put whatever construction they desire upon the phrase," replied Norris, "but I did not mean any attack upon the president."
Pomerene Takes Part.
"How many Americans must the German government murder before you will be ready to fight?" Senator Pomerene, Ohio, shouted at Norris.
"If the German government had singled out American citizens, I would have fought at the first one," the Nebraska retorted curtly.
"Germany didn't do that. In Mexico there have been more than 300 persons hunted down and wilfully murdered—cries from all over the chamber interrupted the sentence before it had been completed. In a second Pomerene was on his feet.
"I think the senate can distinguish between the acts of a responsible government and those of a mob, not responsible to any government," he said.
The galleries shrieked and Marshall warned them for the third time that the galleries would be cleared if it were repeated.
Norris switched to an attack on Great Britain after this outburst against him, declaring it was just as inhuman for Great Britain to plant mines that sink American ships and kill American citizens as for Germany to use submarines.
Tillman for War.
Senator Tillman followed. He emphasized the statement of the president that the United States will not war against the German people but against

At Los Angeles—Los Angeles, 5; Oakland, 1.

Thirty-six thousand fans witnessed the opening games in the coast league. Patriotism and baseball mingled freely. Both teams did military stunts before the games at San Francisco and saluted the flag like regular soldiers.
Although the Oaks garnered nine hits, they could not bunt them and tallied only one.
Gleichmann's triple with two one and Ryan's screaming hit in the fourth gave the Angels three runs and they counted two more in the next inning when Wade Killifer's three base swat scored Mousel. Killifer himself tallied a moment later while O'Mara was trying to find a grounder.
The Seals got cramps in their legs running bases.
Nineteen hits seemed a great sufficiency, but just to show their friendliness the Tigers contributed eight horrible errors. The total Seal tallying was 15.
Wolverton's crew got at least one hit in every inning but fifth. Five of the blows were for extra bases.
McLary, for Vernon, hit four safeties in four times up and scored two of the Tigers' five runs.
The Bees swatting ability dwindled as the game progressed. They bunched five of their 11 hits in the first stanza, for four runs.
Kirmayer's flinging was gilt edged. He permitted only five safe smashes, never more than one in any single inning. Some lured fielding by the Bees filled the bases for Portland in the third but Kirmayer tightened up and retired the side. Final score, Bees 5, Beavers 0.

of Germany to dispute with us the Monroe doctrine to seek to extend to the western hemisphere her territorial spoils.
A blow to the pacifists was struck by Swanson.
"They would force upon this nation the shame of still greater submission," he said.
"If kaisers, kings and czars had been put in the front rank when the war first started," Kenyon continued, "the war would have speedily ended. Crowned heads and royalty have done most of the dying."
"Their hour has now struck. This is no time to criticize. We have only time for one hundred percent Americanism. America's entrance rings the bell for the Hohenzollerns."
Senator Kirby, another of the "wild men," told the senate he "would stand in the senate a thousand years before he would vote for war, if he thought it would do any good."
"But," he continued, "I believe this resolution will pass and rather than give the impression that we are a nation divided I shall vote for it."
LaFollette Against War
There was an air of expectancy as speaking. Senators who had absented themselves quickly returned to their seats and the galleries stirred nervously.
"I hold a letter sent to me by Representative Helgeson of North Dakota, who lies ill in a hospital in this city," LaFollette began. "He sends word that every message and telegram sent to him from out in the country bears a prayer that there be no war."
"This letter is from Mrs. W. A. Woods and she signs herself 'A North Dakota farm woman.' She says that she hears the United States is on the verge of entering the great war for the sake of humanity." Here LaFollette read part of a letter.
"I desire to protest against this war," he read. "Did the mother of the boy, who spent many anxious nights during the infancy of her boy, who sacrificed herself and slaved during the infancy of her boy to go through this to send her boy to a slaughter house where he will be butchered, maimed, blinded, driven insane or dismembered? And yet they say he will fight for the sake of humanity."
Pay for Human Lives
"Is this humane? Let the government confiscate the vessels we hold in this port and hold them to pay for the losses at sea. This talk of so many women losing their lives on the sea is ridiculous. Let the women stay at home!"
Swanson and Lodge
Swanson and Lodge added their voices to the plea of Senator Hitecock for immediate strong aggressive action against Germany.
Anticipating spirited opposition to the war resolutions by LaFollette and Stone, republicans were preparing to rebuke the former and the democrats the latter on the floor.
Many members, both republicans and democrats, it became known today, for some time have figured upon taking drastic action against LaFollette and Stone if they attempted any filibustering tactics.
"The issue is not war or peace," Senator Swanson said. "War has already been wautfully and lawlessly prosecuted against us. The question is whether we shall accept war or cowardly and abject submission. The violation of our territory by high German officials in this country has been detailed. For five years we have known of German activities in Mexico prejudicial to our interests and seeking to embroil us with that country. We have long suspected a disposition on the part

German Propagandists Are Stirring Up Discord Among Southern Negroes

New York, April 4.—German propagandists and secret agents in the south are trying to foment an uprising of negroes against the white people in event of war, according to charges contained in a special dispatch today from Greensboro, N. C., to the New York Tribune.
One settlement entirely of negroes, it is declared, has made plans to follow the German leadership on promises that victory by Germany over this country will place negroes on a social footing with the whites.
The plan is said to have been formed at a meeting of Mexicans, negroes and Germans at San Diego, Cal., in April, 1915. The plan was known as the "plan of San Diego," which involved the formation of Texas into a black republic.
When peace does come, the people of Europe will go on shooting and being shot at in imagination for at least another six months. One can always realize misery, but it takes some time to accustom oneself to what the poets sometimes call surrealism.
What's wanted, among other things, is a gun built like an old fashioned cornet, so a man could run away from the enemy and still shoot back over his shoulder.
Suppose one of the warring nations actually reduced to its "last man." What would he do when it came time to surround the enemy?
The newly established Antelope Herald fiendishly exults and says: "It is reported that during the warm and spring like weather of the early part of February many grasshoppers were hatched out; this recent spell of arctic weather will fix them a plenty, glory be."

ACCIDENT INSURANCE GROWS

According to the annual report of the state industrial accident commission, the second year finds 6294 employees under the provisions of the act. This number is an increase of 29.3 per cent over the first year's and 50.4 per cent greater than the total when the law first became effective. The increase is said to be due to the fact that the supreme court has upheld the constitutionality of the act. The total number of accidents reported during the second year 7182 as against 4546 of the year before. Out of 10,507 cases disposed of there have been only eight appeals.

WOMEN! READ THIS!

Lift off any corn or callus with fingers and it won't hurt a bit.

Your high heels have put corns on your toes and calluses on the bottom of your feet, but why care now?

This tiny bottle holds an almost magic fluid. A genius in Cincinnati discovered this ether compound and named it frezone. Small bottles of frezone like here shown can be had at any drug store for a few cents. Don't limp or twist your face in agony and spoil your beauty but get a little bottle of frezone and apply a few drops on your tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you can lift it off with the fingers.
Just think! You get rid of a hard corn, soft corn or a corn between the toes, as well as hardened calluses without suffering one particle. You feel no pain or irritation while applying frezone or afterwards. It is magic!
