

SOCIETY

By ALINE THOMPSON

SOCIETY is quite astir today over the announcement of the betrothal of Miss Jennie Harbord Fry to Raymond Walsh of Sacramento, California.

The news was made known at an elaborate luncheon for the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Daniel J. Fry, was hostess at their attractive home, Brightview.

A number of close friends of Miss Fry have had suspicions that the announcement would soon be made, but the news nevertheless, has caused quite a ripple of surprise among Salem society.

Miss Fry is a charming girl and very interesting. She is fond of books and is exceptionally well read, having devoted much of her leisure time to study. She received her earlier education in the Salem schools, later graduating from the University of Oregon, where she was a popular member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Miss Fry's family is one of the oldest and most prominent in Salem. She has two brothers, Daniel J. Fry, Jr., and Oris Fry, and one sister, little Miss Priscilla Fry.

Mr. Walsh is a native of California, and a son of Mrs. Carolyn M. Walsh, who is now making her home in Southern Oregon.

He also attended the University of Oregon, and it was while at college that Mr. Walsh met and developed a decided penchant for the attractive Salem girl.

After leaving U. of O. he attended the University of Washington. Mr. Walsh is a civil engineer and is associated with the maintenance department of the Southern Pacific Railway Co.

The wedding will be a smart event of the early summer.

The luncheon was a charming affair, only a few of Miss Fry's friends being asked.

The table decorations were all in pink, lavender, blue, yellow and other soft shades, creating a rainbow effect that is unusually lovely. Snapdragons, stock, tulips, forget-me-nots and other spring flowers arranged artistically in a huge basket and tied with a bow of pastel colored ribbons decked the large King Arthur table, around which corsage bouquets of soft colored flowers were placed for each guest.

Dainty little hand painted rings mounted by cupids marked the places, and it was to these that the announcement cards were attached.

Miss Fry wore a charming gown of soft gray Georgette crepe over crepe motor and a corsage of exquisite orchids and lilies of the valley.

Her guests included Miss Hazel Downing, Miss Catherine Carson, Miss Marie Churchill, Miss Hortense Eppley, Miss Aline Thompson, Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner, Mrs. George William Gray, Mrs. William Neil of Portland, Miss Rita Steiner, Miss Helen Pearce, Miss Esther Carson, Miss Margery Marvin, Miss Mae Stensloff, Miss Barbara Steiner, Miss Bernice Craig, Miss Bernice Doris of Eugene, Mrs. Curtis B. Cross, Mrs. Walter Spaulding, Mrs. C. M. Eppley and Mrs. Frank H. Spears.

Mrs. Charles L. Dick had a small group of matrons at her home for an informal afternoon over the bridge tables on Monday, her guests for the most part being members of the Monday bridge club.

Three tables were arranged for the games, and the score honors fell to Mrs. E. Cooke Patton.

A profusion of golden yellow buttercups adorned the rooms, and the hostess was assisted by Miss Veda Cross.

With the club guests Mrs. Dick asked Mrs. William H. Daney, Mrs. E. C. Cross, Mrs. John D. Coughlin, Mrs. Asa I. Eoff, Mrs. E. O. Sieck and Miss Veda Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Asahel Bush have gone to Newport and will pass the week end there, and at Agate Beach.

The Bushs are building a wonderful new summer house at the latter place and it is for this reason that they have gone to the beach.

The exterior of their house is almost completed, and they expect to have the interior ready for occupancy in a short time.

Mrs. Bush with her two small sons will go to the shore about the first of July and will remain there the greater part of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bush already are planning for house parties this summer and their place will probably be the scene of much gaiety.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Livesley who also have an attractive summer place at Agate Beach have gone to the shore, and they, too, will pass the week end there.

More than thirty young folk made merry Wednesday night, at the delightful birthday party given Miss Irene Faulkner at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Faulkner, on Perry street.

Gammas and music rounded out a gala evening and at a late hour the party was closed with refreshments.

The rooms and appointments were all of a yellow decorative scheme, and Mrs. C. B. O'Neill assisted Mrs. Faulkner in serving the merry makers.

Those asked to participate in the gayeties were: Miss Helen Hunt, Miss Margaret Legg, Miss Muriel Steeves, Miss Pearl George, Miss Gretchen Brown, Miss Helen McInturf, Miss Grace Hunt, Miss Mary Paroungian, Miss Ruth Barnes, Miss Eva Miles, Miss Marie Briggs, Miss Lucille Jones, Miss Ethel Paroungian, Miss Katherine Crozier, Miss Vesta Smith, Miss Mabel West, Miss Genevieve Findley, Miss Lenore Koon, Miss Gladys Moore, Miss Mary Findley, Miss Mabel Dotson, Miss Ruth Rauch and Robin Fisher, Loran Simpson, Kenneth Legg, Truman Berger, Raymond Clark, Waxley, on Basher, Ralph Barnes, Harlan Hunt, Earl Lathrop, Charles McMillan, Fred Blake, Clifford Townsend, Ralph Wilson, Dolph Craig, Harold Millard, Bernard Findley, Paul Doney, Henry Fisher, Homer Tasker and Paul Sterling.

Miss Eunane Craig and Miss Lenore Staley have gone to Portland to pass the week end.

Mrs. Ruben P. Boise's bridge on Thursday was one of the most delightful informal affairs of the week.

About a dozen matrons who make up the Thursday club were guests and the card honors were won by Mrs. L. F. Griffith.

The rooms were charming with stock and the artistically appointed table at which the guests were seated at the tea hour was adorned with yellow doricums.

Mrs. William C. Kerron of Portland is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner.

Mrs. Kerron came Wednesday and will be joined tonight by Mr. Kerron who will motor to Salem for the week end.

Also visiting at the Steiner home is Miss Mildred Apperson of McMinnville, who is the guest of Miss Barbara Steiner.

A charming affair of the early week was the informal bridge for which Miss Calista Moore, was hostess, Monday afternoon.

Guests were asked to make up five tables of the game, the card honors falling to Mrs. Ralph Glover.

The residence was decked artistically with quantities of vivid hued garden flowers, and the guests, included a number of matrons of a Monday bridge club who have been gathering together for several seasons.

This bridge club, which is one of the several Monday afternoon clubs, among Salem society women, is one of the oldest, and is composed of about 20 members.

Following the card games the guests gathered in the dining room for refreshments. An artistic basket of forget-me-nots adorned the prettily appointed table over which Mrs. Thomas A. Livesley presided.

Playing with the club members were: Mrs. Thomas A. Livesley, Mrs. James A. Wilson, Mrs. John H. Albert, Mrs. Edwin L. Baker, Mrs. John H. Scott, Mrs. William H. Lytle, Mrs. Frederick Lamport, Mrs. J. H. Pollock, Mrs. William Walton, Miss Edith Hazard, Mrs. Kate Kennell of Portland and Mrs. Stewart of Eugene.

Mrs. C. P. Bishop who has been in Portland for a couple of days came home last night.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. McNary presided over a charming dinner party last night, complimentary to Miss Gertrude Gray and Miss Margaret Stolz on the occasion of their birthday anniversaries.

It was informal, only the members of the family being asked.

An artistic arrangement of pink fruit blossoms adorned the table around which covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Stolz, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. McNary, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stolz, and children Richard and Margaret Stolz, Miss Gertrude Gray, Miss Nina McNary, Mrs. Lenta Westcott, Miss Margaret Gray and the hosts.

Miss Ada Miller, talented Salem girl who will arrive home from the East in about two weeks.

MORE and more is mildly devoting her time and attention to Red Cross and relief work. Practically every society woman in town now gives at least one or two afternoons a week to sewing or doing other kinds of work for the Red Cross.

At many of these little gatherings where the women assemble to sew there is no tea or other diversion to take away the tedium. There is no need, for tedium finds no place where there is enthusiasm.

Their imaginations all are fired with the beauty of service to country, and they find the work more exhilarating than they could have believed possible a few weeks ago. Perhaps this is due to the fact that the work is so well systematized that it becomes fascinating from the start.

For one thing the Red Cross work is making the women mighty democratic, effacing the artificialities of social distinction.

The woman who is the most capable is usually the head of that particular branch of the work, and the others are graciously willing that she should be.

Some of the women who are zealously working for the Red Cross are: Mrs. W. Carlton Smith, Mrs. F. A. Elliott, Mrs. E. E. Fisher, Mrs. Richard Cartwright, Miss Nell Coppock, Mrs. H. G. Tasker and Mrs. Russell Catlin.

And so it goes throughout the ranks of Salem society. The list could pile up scores. Mrs. Bernard O. Schneck is another who works indefatigably.

Mrs. Harry E. Clay and Mrs. Henry W. Meyers and several others who are always willing to devote their time to a worthy cause are now no less assiduous for the Red Cross.

In fact both of these matrons spend most all of their mornings and afternoons at the Red Cross supply department in the Post Office, making bandages, and instructing women who are the heads of the various auxiliaries how to properly do the work assigned to them.

Mr. and Mrs. George Palmer Putnam asked some of their friends to their home for an informal dinner on Tuesday, later having a few more guests in for the evening.

Their guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Burghardt, Jr.

An informal luncheon assembled several of the friends of Mrs. Charles F. Elgin Thursday at her home on South Capitol street.

The pleasure of this affair was shared by a small group of matrons who have been enjoying these little gatherings since early in the season and are members of a club.

An artistic arrangement of delicately tinted spring flowers decked the table. After luncheon the afternoon was whiled away with sewing and music.

Mrs. Hazel Newson and Mrs. H. W. Brose sang several charming solos and were assisted at the piano by the hostess' daughter, Miss Florence Elgin. Mrs. George Holston assisted the hostess.

The guests were: Mrs. H. W. Brose, Mrs. J. R. Pollock, Mrs. Hazel Newson, Mrs. George Holston, Mrs. Arthur H. Moore, Mrs. George E. Schaefer, Mrs. D. Brunner, Mrs. Paul Hauser and Mrs. S. C. Kightlinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Thielsen, who have been visiting in Astoria for the past week or so, as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Brenham Van Dusen, will be home early the coming week.

Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Alfred A. Schraumm was hostess for an informal afternoon of sewing, asking as her guests the members of the Rappharian club.

Scarlet tulips adorned the rooms and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Charles E. Bates.

About fifteen guests enjoyed the afternoon. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. Lee Unruh, 330 Hood street.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Daney will entertain Monday night with an informal "500" party.

A number of the married folk who make up the Nemo Card club will be guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Spencer entertained informally Tuesday night with several tables of five hundred.

Their guests, who were members of the married set belonging to the Merry-Go-Round club circled five tables of the game. Honors for the evening fell to Mrs. A. N. Moore.

An informal dinner party was given Tuesday evening by Miss Thelma Blessing and Miss Stanis Androsen who entertained a small group of friends at the home of the former on North Commercial street.

A color scheme of red, white and blue was effectively carried out in the decorations and appointments.

Covers were placed for S. After dinner the evening was devoted to cards and dancing.

Those enjoying the evening were: Miss Marion Miller, Miss Frances Goodenough, Miss Stanis Androsen, Miss Thelma Blessing, Walter Ransom, Joe Drysdale, Earl Androsen and Douglas Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hawkins are now domiciled in their attractive new home at 1190 Oak street, having moved from The Court the early part of the week.

To bid goodbye to Miss Inez Stege, who is leaving tomorrow to make her home in Eugene, a group of her friends gave a delightful surprise party in her honor Wednesday night at her home on State street.

Those enjoying the evening were: Miss Pearl George, Miss Vera Golden, Miss Myrtle Whitner, Miss Bessie Gill, Miss Marie Evans, Miss Esther Englehart, Miss Evelyn Stevenson, Miss Opal George, Miss Myrtle Herdlein, Miss Isabel George and Baynard Findley, Frank De Witte, William Perlick, Harley Semster, Lyons Simpson, Ralph Lindsay, Harry Scott, Clarence Randall and Warren Lindsey.

Another affair honoring Miss Inez Stege was the pretty supper party given at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday evening. It was very informal, only a small group of the honoree's friends being asked.

An artistic array of colorful wild flowers adorned the table. Supper was followed by music and chatter.

The guests were Miss Amelia Casselman, Miss Della Englehart, Miss Myrtle Herdlein, Miss Grace Wallengett, Miss Eva White, Miss Esther Englehart, Miss Evelyn Stevenson, Miss Lucilla Zesell, Miss Florence Cleveland, Miss Hazel Price and Mrs. F. A. Elliott.

A group of friends enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Frank J. Miller at an informal afternoon on Thursday.

It was a patriotic affair, and the afternoon was devoted to games appropriate to the occasion. Late in the afternoon the guests gathered in the dining room for refreshments.

Waxy white begonias surrounded by flags formed the artistic table decorations. Favors of small silk flags were given the guests, in appreciation of the promotion of the hostess' company M. O. N. G.

Mrs. Miller's guests included the members of the public service commission club, composed of matrons whose husbands are in commission office at the state house.

Mrs. Leroy Wood of Albany and Mrs. A. Lee Morelock were the only guests.

The club members present were: Mrs. Elmer W. Busselle, Mrs. W. E. Moreland, Mrs. John O. Bailey, Mrs. W. T. Neill, Mrs. C. J. Green, Mrs. Leroy Leedy, Mrs. C. Davis and Mrs. Fred G. Buchtel.

The attention of the dancing contingent is focused upon the dance to be given by the Cherrians Tuesday night at the armory.

It will only be a jitney a dance, and there is no gamble about it being worth it. It is the expectation to make it one of the gayest informals given this winter.

The Cherrians never permit the grass to grow under their feet in things social or otherwise, and merely go from one thing to the next, planning many original benefit parties and entertainments.

Congressman Willis C. Hawley will arrive in Salem early in the coming week from Washington, D. C.

Mr. Hawley has been called west on account of the serious illness of his mother, who makes her home with a daughter near Corvallis.

Neither Mrs. Hawley nor Miss Iris Hawley will accompany Mr. Hawley, as he expects to return east within a short time.

Miss Ada Miller, a talented young Salem musician, who for the past three years, has been studying voice in Chicago, will arrive home for a few days, about the middle of the month.

During her sojourn in the city, Miller has been very successful in her work and has had the good fortune to study with some of the most noted instructors in Chicago. She has a number of noted singers, and has appeared at numerous musical conventions given by the women's club, the Y. W. C. A. and the Culture club.
