PERSONALS

W. Selak, of Springfield, is in the city.

K. T. Maulding, of Silverton, is registered at the Capital Hotel.

J. E. Maulding, of Los Angeles, is visiting relatives in the city.

William Ormsby, T. P. A. N. P., is in the city from Portland on company business.

Justice Wallace McCamant, of the supreme court, is home from Pendleton and a few days spent in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Farasworth, who were married yesterday afternoon at St. Paul's Episcopal church, left for a short visit at Portland and Sound points.

Mrs. Ethel Skinner and Miss Mabel Porterfield left this morning for Portland over the Oregon Electric.

Tomorrow afternoon they will sail on the steamer Northern Pacific from Flavel for San Francisco. and that they are all fine fellows. He has received his 'shot' of vaccination and typhoid prophylactic along with the rest of the boys.

Those who have never had the opportunity of hearing a real convict on the platform will have that chance this evening at the Congregational church.

He is not only a genuine convict, but he knows pretty well what he is talking about as the state gave him free board at the Oregon State penitentiary when he was living on the inside.

His talk from his past experience is to the extent that Oregon should have better accommodations for those who happen to be obliged to live on the inside of the pen.

Next June 4 the people of the state will have a chance to vote as to whether money should be appropriated for the building of a new penitentiary.

The name of the man who will speak this evening is L. G. McDonald. His free meal ticket was good for four years. The lecture is free and will begin at 8 o'clock.

The concert given last evening at the First Methodist church by the Salem-Willamette Philharmonic society was well attended and the close attention given to the rendition of 'Hiawatha's Wedding Feast,' showed the audience's appreciation of classical music.

The solo work of A. A. Schramm and Archie Smith was especially well received. Miss Louise Ruth Benson won her way into the hearts of the audience by her natural pose and sweet singing of the favorite, 'My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair,' by Hayden, and was obliged to respond to an enthusiastic encore.

The concert was given under the direction of Dr. Frank Wilbur Chase. Miss Hazel Hockensmith, a Willamette student from Albany, had charge of the pipe organ.

Mrs. W. H. Burghardt, Jr., whose accompanying always adds so much to the effectiveness of chorus work, presided at the piano.

The Portland people are just a little peeved because a special writer in this week's Collier's Weekly nicknamed the city 'The Spinster City.'

Also because the article said it has been the custom of the conservative element to give all new comers the once-over and if they did not muster about right, it was intimated that the said newcomer had better move on to Astoria or Oregon City.

The most important choice in life is the choice of a vocation or life work. Rev. James M. Heady who is a specialist in Vocational Guidance will lecture at the Unitarian church on Friday at 8 p. m. on this subject.

Dr. Southwick of Meadville, Penn., will be unable to be present as previously announced. At the conclusion of the lecture the first steps in arranging for a school of Vocations to be located in Salem will be made.

An educator has suggested that it might be a fine thing to arrange a good old-fashioned Friday afternoon spelling match between the older students of some county district near Salem, and the students of the Salem high school or one of the junior high schools.

Well, there is just one guess as to what the country boys and girls would do to the city pupils when it comes to a genuine spelling match.

The teachers' training class for beginners and primary workers in the Sunday schools will meet at the Y. W. C. A. rooms at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. There has been much interest manifested in this work on the part of Salem teachers and those living near the city.

The subject for discussion Saturday afternoon is 'Practical Primary Plans.'

Two Salem young men left for Portland this morning and are now in the service of Uncle Sam. They are Edward G. Wallace of the Keene & Gardner jewelry store and William F. Perlich of the Steusloff market.

They both enlisted in the quartermaster's corps. Other enlistments today include Luther D. Cook, 24, in the engineer's corps; Cecil W. Allen, 20, of Turner, engineers' corps; William H. Reed, 21, Turner, engineers' corps; Richard T. Ridenhour, 18, Independence, hospital corps.

Let's talk about the weather. For the past nine days the official weather recorder at the O. C. T. dock notes that the wind has been from the south and that every day has been cloudy and also that so far, the month of May has had two clear days. Yesterday the temperature ranged from 54 to 41 and the stage of the river dropped another notch, with a record of 6.9 feet above the low water mark.

Harrie Hoxie, who was employed in the state insurance commissioners' office, and who is now at the officers' reserve corps training camp at the Presidio, San Francisco, writes Commissioner Wells that he likes the life so far but that there is prospect of plenty of work. He is located in a brick barracks with light, airy rooms. He says there are about 200 men in this barracks.
