Report Says General Villa Is Defeated

Washington, May 31.—General Villa was defeated south of LaMula by General Garcia, May 29, according to war department advices today.

The official telegram reporting the defeat said: "Commanding officer at Marfa, Texas, reports that the Mexican commandant at Presidio says Villa was defeated south of LaMula by Garcia on the 29th. "The commanding officer at Presidio also reports that Rio Jas with about 100 men left Palvo for Ojinaga. Villistas reported opposite Palvo proved to be refugees. "The department was not advised, however, concerning the occupation of Ojinaga by Villistas and the dispersal of the small Carranzista forces there.

Announces Special Prizes at State Fair

Special prizes aggregating more than $2000 will be offered in the livestock department at the 1917 Oregon state fair, according to announcement of Secretary Lea. It is expected that competition in this department will be keener this year than ever before on account of additional regular prizes which are more attractive than formerly.

This two thousand dollars is divided about as follows: $1140 in the swine department, $132 in the sheep department, and $912 in the cattle department. As for the horse department there is no special prize, although several horse associations are putting up attractive trophies.

The American Shetland pony club of Indiana offers a ribbon for the champion mare and one for the champion stallion. Two silver medals are offered by the Shire-Horse society of Great Britain and Ireland for the best registered champion stallion and best registered champion mare. The American Shire Horse association has offered a silver trophy for best champion Shire stallion and champion Shire mare. Trophies and special prizes are awarded for cattle and swine, which are expected to attract a great deal of interest.

RUSSIAN REVOLUTION WILL PREVENT PRINCE OF WALES FROM TAKING A ROYAL BRIDE—Russia's revolution had the result of giving increased strength to the movement which has been in progress in Great Britain since the second year of the war in favor of the Prince of Wales' selection of a consort from among his non-royal countrywomen rather than from any of the foreign dynasties. It had always been taken for granted that he would wed one of the four daughters of the Czar and thereby cement the alliance which has existed for the past nine years between their respective countries. But the abdication of Nicholas II and the circumstances in connection therewith have rendered quite impossible the realization of any such matrimonial project.
