The greatest critics of modern times declare that the most perfect photography ever obtained in a motion picture is to be seen in D. W. Griffith's notable six-act super-production, "Her Condemned Sin," which is to be featured offering at the Ye Liberty Theater starting tomorrow. The stars of the unusually appealing drama, which deals with a woman's struggle to choose between the life of her lover or the safety of her people, include Mac Marsh, Robert Harron, Blanche Sweet, Dorothy and Lillian Gish and Henry B. Walthall. More than 11,000 persons appear in some of the spectacular battle scenes of "Her Condemned Sin."

The Weakest Link Breaks First

This applies to the human body. If your system is under a strain which finally reaches the "Breaking Point" you may be sure the break will come at your weakest spot. The eye is a very delicate, very sensitive organ. If it is weak beware. It makes no difference whether the tension you are under be eye-strain, excess physical labor, loss of sleep, over-study, too much reading or any one of a thousand other conditions—you should take care that your eye sight—the most treasured of all your faculties—be not impaired. If your eyes be weak or your eyesight poor, steps should be taken to make reading and seeing a pleasure instead of an effort. Glasses of the proper power and character will make your eyesight practically normal and assist nature in its effort to restore your eyes to a strong and healthy condition. Don't wait until your eyesight is permanently impaired. My 34 years of practical experience enables me to fit your eyes correctly. My prices are reasonable for the material and service you receive. I guarantee satisfaction in every respect. 209, 210, 211 United States National Bank Building, Salem, Ore.

Lead Pencil Stub Signs Abdication

London, June 4.—The decree of abdication which overthrew ex-Czar Nicholas of Russia, and the most autocratic government of recent times, was signed with the stub of a lead pencil. The act of abdication itself was typewritten—the one modern note in the whole story—but when it came to signing it no pen was to be had. Finally, M. Shagin, who accompanied War Minister Guchkoff to Pskov, fished a bit of lead pencil from his pocket. The czar took it and scribbled his name with a shaky hand. These details of the great Russian revolution have just been received here from Petrograd.
