Reports from C. K. Spaulding, who is still in the hospital in Portland, are very encouraging. He has passed the danger point and now it is just a question of time—perhaps two weeks—before he comes home.

Dr. D. K. Beecher, who has been practicing dentistry at his residence on the Pacific Highway, announces the opening of his office, at 302 U. S. Bank Bldg.

The Boy Scouts are out doing their bit towards selling the Liberty bonds. Wilton Simral, son of Roy Simral, has already sold bonds to the amount of $300 and is the owner himself of a $50 bond.

Dr. Stone's Drug Store makes free delivery. Phone 35.

Noscar Potter, of 420 South Twentieth street, Salem, decided to east his lot with the navy. He enlisted as an artificer, will draw $40 a month, and is in Portland today for his final examination.

For rent or sale—seven room house in fine location. Telephone 904M. 6-14

Dr. M. C. Findley will leave for Spokane, Saturday, to attend the Pacific Coast Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat society which will meet in that city next Monday and Tuesday. Dr. Findley is a charter member of the society. He will return next Wednesday.

Regular meeting Salem grange postponed from Saturday June 16 until 18th of Gervais, decided, on account of State Grange. H. M. Birdsell, master. 6-15

Business at the army recruiting station was good today. Zenus W. Chase, a druggist, enlisted in the medical corps. William A. La Fountain, 18, of Gervais, decided to take his chances in the infantry. Benger H. Sefton, 20, of Salem, enlisted and will go into the medical corps.

Ladies visiting Portland during Rose Carnival should not fail to call on Mme. Wampler, maker of gowns, for latest fashions, 305 Fleedner Bldg., Broadway 1336. 6-16

Ashland is advertising a 'Let 'Em Buck' hokey time for three days beginning July 3. It is known as the Rogue River Round-Up and the annual Hyu Hebe. Those with automobiles and those without art respectfully invited to attend.

Miss Lucile Barton announces change of address to 598 N. 17th St. (1/2 block N. of Little car), where she is moving. Classes are in singing and correct placing of the voice. Phone 1588.

A. W. Schlabach, of the Saxon Car company, was in Salem a short time today with his 'Saxons Trail Blazer,' the little car which is making its way around the rim of the U. S. A. in the interest of a National highway. He expects to finish his trip about August 15.

Hair switches 1/4 off Friday and Saturday. Ora Poage, Beauty Parlors, 125 N. High.

Charles B. Smith, manager of the silo department of the Spaulding Logging company, will leave tomorrow for a four weeks' trip in California. He will travel in all parts of the state conferring with agents for the Indiana silo and siping up the general situation for prospective silo business. Arrangements will also be made to secure representatives in the Central American countries.

W. Connell Dyer, Jr., is perhaps the youngest member of the American family in Salem who owns a Liberty bond. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Connell Dyer of this city and it is easy to figure that if the interest is compounded every year, by the time he is 21 years of age, he will have quite a nifty amount. Just now he is about three years old.

The good old summer time arrived this year on exactly the same date it appeared one year ago. June 13 of one year ago and June 13 of this year the temperature was 89 above. Then one year ago a hot spell came along with temperatures of 89, 90 and 91, followed by a rain with a drop to 62. The weather man seems to be handing out about the same climate this year. Portland expects high water with the warm weather and melting of the snow.

Merchants of Salem are to be commended on their patriotism in selling Red Cross headquarters materials at absolute cost and in many cases under the cost of handling. All materials bought by the Willamette chapter are from the lowest bidder, quality and price being considered. Merchants in towns where there are auxiliaries are asked to submit samples and prices in order that the business of selling materials to the Red Cross may be done as much as possible where an auxiliary is organized.

The board of education has the handling of more than $150,000 every year and also the privilege to say whether the schools of Salem shall be kept abreast of the times and the present high standard maintained. Two directors will be elected next Monday. As this is a city election, the voting booths will be in the usual city election ward voting places and not where the votes were cast at the last state election.

We will now proceed to get our old standby, Ayer's American Almanac, and study what it says about June 14. In the first place, the information is given that the U. S. Flag was adopted on this date in 1777 and that for today and tomorrow, the weather will be clear and hot. The sun will rise at 4:11 and one cannot expect it to get up much earlier any time this year. It will set at 7:48. The moon will set at 45 minutes after 12 tonight, about the time the Cherrins and friends get home from Portland. Next Sunday will be the second Sunday after Trinity and Jupiter is in Aries. That's all.

Here is what D. A. White, the veteran seed man, says about planting garden products: Any old time will be all right for cabbage and turnips, even up to the middle of July. Those who are just getting their garden plots ready may plant peas, string beans along with cabbage and turnips with the assurance they will grow and prosper. Of course if it happens to turn dry weather for a few days, it may be advisable to get out the old sprinkling can and imitate a summer shower, as irrigation occasionally will be a great encouragement to vegetables just growing early in July.

Mrs. W. F. Gilkey, of Dayton, Ore., a member of the class of 1866 of Willamette university, and her niece, Miss Lena Stilwell, also of Dayton, and also a Willamette graduate, motored up yesterday to attend the graduating exercises of the university. Miss Stilwell formerly taught school in Salem and is now a teacher in the Dayton schools. Mrs. Dave De Terre, of Dayton, who has been visiting her sister Mrs. William McLaughlin, of South Commercial street, returned to her home today. She came from Dayton with Mrs. Gilkey. All attended the exercises yesterday morning and the banquet yesterday evening.

Cleon B. Durdall, who is associated with his father in the Farmers' Cash Store, a few days ago made application for enlistment in the navy as a wireless operator. He was rejected, not because he was not up to the wireless business, but from the fact that he was a few pounds down on weight. But a little thing like this does not worry an average American nor did Mr. Durdall. He just quit his job in the store and went out on a farm and proceeded to exercise, eat and take in a lot of fresh air. This did the business, as today he appeared at the navy recruiting station with an extra weight of five pounds and now he is in Portland ready for service.

The program for the armory Friday evening when Dr. Ralph Matson, of Portland, will talk on hospital work in France, will include several musical numbers. Miss Lanetta R. Steele, who studied in London, will sing. George C. L. Snyder, that veteran of the Spanish-American war, is on for a solo of the patriotic order. Besides Dr. Matson and Levy will sing. Besides Dr. Matson and the stereopticon views, there will be another speaker from Portland. The meeting at the armory Friday evening is of especial importance and interest, now that so many in the city and surrounding country are members of the Willamette chapter, American National Red Cross.

Here are two stories about Liberty bonds. They may or they may not be true. A committee after receiving subscriptions from the great majority of the state house employees, especially the women, called on a man who is receiving a nice big annual salary from the state. In response to the committee's solicitation that he buy at least one $50 bond, he replied that he absolutely couldn't afford to. Another story is that while walking down the street the other day with a banker, a fairly prominent citizen said he positively could not afford to put any money in Liberty bonds. This plan didn't look good to the banker and he at once offered to sell his friend a $50 Liberty bond on a very small payment and let it be paid off in $10 a month installments. The friend bought the bond.

The man along in middle life, even up to the 50 year old mark, if he has had some military experience, may serve his country and put that experience to good use. Fred J. Rosenberg, who organized the members for the first Reserve Officers' Training camp, is in receipt of instructions from the war department relative to organizing another training class of candidates for the second camp. The government now is calling for men who have had military experience, especially between the ages of 30 and 50 years. Oregon's quota for this camp is 140 and those who are selected will report for duty at the Presidio August 27. Of course men under 30 will be accepted but the middle aged man with military experience will have the best chance. Men of this age will be trained for the higher commands.

ATHENA HOLDS THE RECORD
Pendleton, Or., June 14.—Athena—the little eastern Oregon town which bought $50,000 worth of Liberty bonds—today claims the distinction of being the first town on the Pacific coast to raise its share of the $106,000,000 Red Cross war chest. Although the nation-wide drive is not scheduled to start, Athena has raised over $23,000, its allotment, and the local committee says its efforts have just begun.

JAPAN ANGERED BY NOTE SENT TO CHINA Is Soon Mollified When It Is Discovered Note Was Fictitious

By Carl D. Groat (United Press staff correspondent)
Washington, June 14.—Relations between the United States and Japan, upset and delicate over a misunderstanding as to America's purposes in China, were straightened out satisfactorily today through explanation sent to the American embassy in Tokio. At the same time, an investigation was started to ascertain the source of a bogus note purporting to have been cabled from New York to Tokio which aroused resentment in Japan.

The true note sent China merely expressed the hope of this government for a settlement of internal troubles. Subsequently the Japan Times took exception to what it considered American interference in China without consultation with Japan, though this government was not obliged to make such a consultation.

Secretary Lansing declared today that "whatever misunderstanding has arisen, was due solely to publication of the bogus note."
Ambassador Sato has had recent negotiations with Lansing, presumably on the basis of the Chinese situation, though Lansing said today that Sato had not taken up the note question directly with him.
