HAVE AUTOS RIGHT TO LINE THE CURBS?

Level Headed Farmer Asks Pertinent Question—Have Bikes Any Rights?

Complaints have been made to Chief of Police Cooper about automobiles, when being parked, backing into bicycles standing at the curb. Who is to blame? he asks.

The city ordinance, he points out, requires automobile owners to back their machines against the curbing when they wish to park them, and when they do that and strike a bicycle are they liable for damages?

The bicycle owner is prohibited by ordinance from leaning his bicycle against a building, so should his wheel not have the protection of the law when it is left standing at the curbing?

These are questions which are agitating the chief of police.

On the other hand a farmer, who has not advanced to the automobile class yet, asked Chief Cooper what would the police do if he came to town with his team and wagon before the automobiles had occupied all the available room along the street, and backed his wagon to the curb, unattended, and left his wagon standing there all day.

"I couldn't argue him," said the chief, "but it might open the eyes of some of the automobile owners who leave their machines standing in front of business houses all day."

"Personally, I am in favor of passing an ordinance requiring the parking of automobiles in the middle of the street. That would leave room for farmers and others who have business at the stores to get in and out. I would also like to see an ordinance passed defining the rights of a man with a bicycle."

WITNESS IN MOONEY CASE GETS CONFUSED

Testimony Causes Clash Between Attorneys Over Written Statement

San Francisco, June 20.—The defense in the Rena Mooney bomb conspiracy trial, brought its charges of a "frame up" into the trial with sensational suddenness today when Attorney Edward McKenzie got Miss Nellie Edou, one of the state's star witnesses, to make this statement:

"I made a statement to District Attorney Fickert identifying the suspects then in custody before I had seen them."

The testimony, which came during cross-examination created a sensation. McKenzie leaped to his feet and facing the district attorney demanded:

"Where is that statement?"

"I don't know," Fickert replied.

"I don't think it can be found."

"We want that statement and we want it now," shouted McKenzie. "It can't have been lost."

Fickert held a whispered conference with Deputy District Attorney Perry and then walked suddenly out of court. Miss Edou, who sat in the witness chair awaiting further examination was visibly nervous. Judge Seawell himself examined her further.

"Why did you mention the defendant's names then?" he inquired.

Her Mother Told Her.

"I don't know whether I did or not. Oh, yes; my mother told me about them," she replied.

This created another sensation and McKenzie cried out: "It was your mother's identification, then, and not yours."

Before she could reply, Fickert walked into court carrying a paper in his hand, but Judge Seawell adjourned court before there was time for further developments.

All morning the sensation had been in the making. When first called to the stand Miss Edou repeated her testimony at previous trials that she had seen Warren K. Billings, one of the defendants perched on the roof of a building at 721 Market street, noticing him cross the street and confer with Tom Mooney and his wife.

On cross-examination, the defense brought her testimony to the point where she made the statement for Fickert. McKenzie succeeded in getting contradictory and confusing statements from the girl.

She admitted that, at the time she signed the statement for Fickert she had never seen his pictures in the paper.

It was at this point that McKenzie's defendants nor had she ever seen outburst came and the judge adjourned court.

American Destroyers

Rescue Torpedo Victims

By J. W. Pegler.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

With the American Destroyer Flo-tilla in British Waters, June 20.—

After a record breaking dash at night, in response to wireless distress calls, two American destroyers arrived at their base in an English port today with eighty survivors of two torpedoed merchant ships.

The rescue were made at a point at sea farther from land than any torpedoing have yet been reported.

The total run on this errand of mercy was several hundred miles. Thirty one survivors from one ship were picked up in boats, and a little beyond, forty nine from the other merchantman were encountered.

Vice Admiral Sims, the American fleet commander, who is now in charge of all allied naval operations in this section, personally talked with a number of the survivors on their arrival in port. The flag of the American admiral now floats from a flagstaff on a promontory on the coast where it is visible for miles at sea.

27 Sunk During Week

London, June 20.—Twenty seven British vessels of more than 1600 tons were lost in Germany's submarine warfare this week, the admiralty announced today. Under 1600 tons, five were destroyed in the seven days just passed. No fishing vessels were lost.

The admiralty report for last week showed 22 British ships of more than 1600 tons lost and ten under that tonnage. The total number of vessels, therefore, is the same this week—but there has been an increase in the number of large ships torpedoed or otherwise sunk.

Losses Increasing

London, June 20.—Losses by German submarines are on the increase. An authoritative prediction this afternoon of the showing in an official loss statement, to be issued tonight, was that the number of British ships lost in the past seven days will considerably exceed the destruction inflicted in the submarine zone during the previous week.

Last week the admiralty announced twenty two ships of more than 1600 tons and ten of smaller tonnage, had been lost. It is probable this week's loss will reach 100,000 tons.

the state industrial accident commission to co-operate with her in preventing boys under 16 years old from working in factories without a permit.

TRIED TO CINCH COMPANY

Santa Cruz, Cal., June 20.—James Lee Flinders, of San Francisco, was convicted in the superior court today of conspiracy to defraud the American Automobile Insurance company of San Francisco, out of $850, the amount of a policy on a machine, which was represented as stolen. Witnesses testified he sold the machine to a confederate. The jury was out fifteen minutes.

Fashionable Resort

Too Tough For Army

Washington, June 20.—Starting conditions of immorality at Newport, the fashionable society resort, were called to the attention of the governor of Rhode Island, by Secretary Daniels today, because of their effect on men in the naval training station there.

Daniels sent the governor a report on a department of justice investigation revealing that "notorious houses of prostitution" and "open gambling houses" were doing flourishing business at Newport.

FLUCTUATING LOAF

Would Be the Result

With 10 cent loaves of bread varying in weight all the way from 10 to 18 ounces and the prices of fish leaping almost out of sight, Mrs. Millie B. Trumbull of Portland, secretary of the bureau of child labor inspectors and representing the women's division of the State Council of Defense, is here today to ask the Oregon public service commission to regulate the size of a loaf of bread and the price of fish in this state.

Mrs. Trumbull says she will ask the commission to establish a standard weight for bread to correspond with the price of flour, so the weight of the loaf may fluctuate with the changes in the price of flour. She also thinks the public service commission has authority to regulate the price of fish, which she says has soared beyond all reasonable limits in the Portland markets.

As secretary of the bureau of child labor inspectors, Mrs. Trumbull asked the showing in an official loss statement, to be issued tonight, was that the number of British ships lost in the past seven days will considerably exceed the destruction inflicted in the submarine zone during the previous week.

Last week the admiralty announced twenty two ships of more than 1600 tons and ten of smaller tonnage, had been lost. It is probable this week's loss will reach 100,000 tons.

Are You Behind the Red Cross Push?

Everybody ought to be, and the way the people have responded it seems they were pretty much in the big push. A noble cause with only one idea and that to serve those who are in need. Those who are risking their lives for the great cause of freedom and democracy to all the world.

It is little enough to give money to such a cause. When so many have and will give their lives; give all you can. Lets show our patriotism in this way.
