American Women Asked to Show Patriotism Later By Staying Away From France

By F. W. Getty

(United Press staff correspondent)

London, June 27.—(By mail)—The allies will shortly open American women to make one of the supreme sacrifices of the war. They will ask them to put patriotism ahead of love for their husbands and sons—and stay at home.

When the first American expeditionary force takes its place in the allied line on the western front, first holding a piece of the entente battle line in Belgium and later taking part in one of the great "pushes" against the boche, many Americans will be killed and many more wounded.

It is the wives and mothers and sweethearts of the latter who must then "come across"—by not coming across. The allied chiefs realize what a sacrifice this will mean—and American women will also when the time comes. Americans who have fallen or wounded, in hospitals here or in France, will want their wives and mothers and the women of the United States will want to come to them.

Must Stay at Home

The serious food shortage here and in France, however, makes it undesirable for these countries to feed the enormous number of women who will want to come. There is also a shortage of hotel accommodations and transportation facilities.

This is another great lesson of the war which English have learned and which Americans can profit by. When the Canadians took part in the big campaign of the last two years and thousands were wounded and brought back to hospitals in England and France, sixty thousand Canadian women braved the terrors of the Atlantic to get by their cases. And England finally had to send more than half of them back home.

The state department at Washington has been apprised of the facts by the American embassy here. Official action probably taking the form of an appeal to the women of the United States, may be expected shortly. The British government has issued no statement on the subject feeling that it is strictly an American matter which they leave for America to deal with. But government officials, particularly at the ministry of food, are insistent in endorsing the advisability of American women realizing their duty and staying at home.

Would be in the War

An immigration of American women to England and France would be a decided blow in Germany's favor.

American women, the British leaders feel certain, will certainly not want to aid the enemy. Already the news of America's housewives' activity in saving food and raising more food has been the source of the greatest satisfaction to the government here.

The sacrifice that America's womanhood makes in sending its own folk to the front is also known there. But the allied governments expect this one further and greater sacrifice from the women of the United States.

Meanwhile American women in London and throughout England and France are preparing to aid and comfort the first American wounded. The appeals of the newly established American Red Cross met with an unexpectedly enthusiastic response. Women from all walks of life have rushed to offer their services. The American wounded will be cared for in American

SIX SUFFRAGETTES GET JAIL SENTENCES

Go To the Work House Three Days Rather Than Pay Fines of $25 Each

Washington, June 27.—Convicted of obstructing traffic in militant demonstrations at the White House, six suffragettes of the National Women's party today declared they would serve an alternative of three days in the workhouse rather than pay $25 fines. All have been long prominent nationally in suffrage work.

The convicted suffragettes are Katherine Morey, of Boston; Mrs. Anna Arnold, Miss Mabel Vernon, of Nevada; Miss Lavina Cook, Miss Maud Johnson and Miss Virginia Arnold.

They were adjudged guilty by Judge Mulloney, after a three hour trial. The women had no lawyers and defended their own cases.

Six other women arrested in the White House demonstration last Monday failed to appear for trial. There are still a number of cases pending against suffragettes taken in the daily "riots."

Assistant Corporation Counsel Ringgold Hart asked for the maximum penalty under the law.

The court ordered the women sent to the District of Columbia jail, a gloomy, old-fashioned prison at the end of a marsh and overlooking a branch of the Potomac, about three miles due east of the capitol building.

RED CROSS DOINGS

Pratum will have a red cross auxiliary tonight, as it is the plan of the organizers to go there this evening.

Seely has asked that all auxiliaries who desire Red Cross buttons communicate with her, telling the number of buttons needed. She states that 5000 have been ordered but that even San Francisco is unable to obtain any.

Reports from the surgical supply department show that three bolts of material have been issued to the Jefferson auxiliary and that a number of operating leggings have been returned from there. All material which a unit should be made up as soon as possible, as the department is holding up the packing of several boxes from a lack of finished materials.

Great interest is being manifested in the work of the supply department and from 20 to 25 are present each afternoon, giving their time to the cause. It is hoped that this interest will not diminish, as the necessity for such assistance will remain long after the novelty of the work has worn off.

Red spreads and old linen are in great demand at the supply headquarters, for use in making bandages.

TEN STRAIGHT GAMES IS RECORD FOR YEAR

Expert Sizes Up Clubs and Compares Their Chances for the Pennant

By H. C. Hamilton

(United Press staff correspondent)

New York, June 27.—Ten straight victories is the best record of consistent winning that has been hung up in either of the big leagues to date.

If consistency is the prime factor in grabbing a pennant, Philadelphia, New York and Chicago should be looked in the final struggle in the National and the White Sox and Red Sox in the American, on the face of records as they stand today. Against the well known consistency formula, however, is the record of the Braves, who once drove their way to a championship by the unanimous approval toward the tag end of the season.

The Phillies so far have thrown themselves to one winning streak of ten games. The Cubs have accomplished nine straight, while the Giants' best is six in a row.

The Athletics have an added record of five straight, while the Giants have knocked down this many victories in a row a couple of times. The second best mark for the Cubs is three. The Red Sox come nearest the Phillies mark of ten straight ones, having come out on top in nine straight games on two straight occasions. The White Sox have downed the opposition eight times in a row on two occasions. The Red Sox haven't had much time to accomplish side records, but they have managed to get away with a run of three.

The White Sox have done a four time parade.

Not the Athletics, but the Senators, hold the record for consecutive losses, having amassed a count of ten without a victory.

The Athletics worst run is eight defeats, just one more than Wilbert Robinson's one-time fearsome Dodgers have turned in.

Won Smalls Cup

Portland, Ore., June 27.—J. R. Owens Wenatchee expert, today is the proud possessor of the Smalls cup with a record of 25 straight in the 30rd annual tournament of the Sportsman's association of the northwest.

In the shoot for the Multnomah medal, C. A. O'Connor tied with C. L. Templeton, Seattle with 20 straight and in the shoot off won the event with a score of 18 to Templeton's 16.

CONGRESS QUILTS

Inting what shall be served on the family table; to limit licensing to products and agencies buying products for the government which they themselves sell in the course of their regular business (this would affect many members of the advisory committee of the Council of National Defense).

Senator Chamberlain and other members of the committee are hopeful that the changes made by the senate committee would meet with such general approval of the senate itself that speedy passage of the bill would result.

Nevertheless the action of the committee in putting up to President Wilson a decision on prohibition has left both wets and dries more or less embarrassed and it may serve to prolong the discussion. In any event, food control debate is expected to yield from now on to liquor control discussion until the bill is passed.

NO RED CROSS FUNDS USED FOR EXPENSES

Men Gave Their Time, Furnished Autos and Paid Their Own Expenses

For the benefit of some folks who are suspicious concerning the expenditures of the funds of the local Red Cross campaign, the following statement will be of intense interest:

No local expenses have been incurred where they could possibly have been avoided. There are those, however, who seem to think that the business men of the community are small enough to go out and raise thousands of dollars for work like the Red Cross and then expend that money for expensive banquets, automobile rides, etc.

The Red Cross campaign committee expects to forward the national organization the amount of money which has been raised in Salem and the county, and the expenses of the campaign locally will be made up by private contributions from the business men and other organizations, who have made special contributions for the specific purpose of defraying the expenses of the campaign.

'Them as Eat, Pay'

The luncheons which were served each day at 12 o'clock when the reports of the several captains were made were served on the pay as you go basis, a total of $149.80 having been collected from the men for their meals during the week.

The banquet which is to take place in the Derby building tonight is to cost 50c per plate and no expenses are to be deducted from the Red Cross funds.

It is estimated that the campaign has cost those business men who have contributed the use of their automobiles approximately $1500 in tire wear and gasoline. It would be impossible to make an accurate estimate and while this is simply approximate, it simply demonstrates the big hearts and willingness of the business men to meet the need of the hour. An itemized statement of the expenses for the local campaign will appear later, together with how the same has been disposed of. In the mean time, we hope that those who have been curious about the expenses of the campaign will have their fears allayed concerning the disposition of the Red Cross funds.

CONGRESS OF WORKMEN SENDS OUT DELEGATES

Petrograd, June 27.—The congress of workmen and soldiers today decided to send a delegation of six members short-ly to Stockholm, England and France for the purpose of urging a peace conference at an early date in the basis of the aims announced by the workmen and soldiers.

Probably this is in line with the conference called at Stockholm a number of weeks ago by the Russians, to which French socialists gave their acceptance. It is distinct and separate from the German-called "socialist" peace conference agitated for Stockholm.

LIBERALIZATION OF GERMANY DEMANDED

Historian Huntze Says: "Prussia In Danger of Utter Isolation"

By John Grandens.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Barlin, via London, June 27.—Agitation for immediate liberalization of Germany is growing daily. Even newspapers of heretofore strongly conservative tendencies are urging reforms. A number of leaders of German thought heretofore reactionary, apparently now avor greater reform.

Such newspapers as Vorwertz (the socialist organ), the Tageblatt and the Vossische, are pointing the way. But most significant was the statement issued today by the historian, Professor Otto Huntze. He said:

"We Prussians cannot stand alone in the midst of Germany, of Europe and of the whole world and resist liberalization. We are threatened with dangerous isolation from the world's people."

The greatest importance was attached to Professor Huntze's declarations, since he has heretofore never given evidence of any liberal tendencies.

The reichstag will reopen its sessions July 5 and on that date the so-called constitution committee will make its report. This body, of which Philip Scheidemann, the majority socialist leader, is chairman, adopted recommendations in May which were enthusiastically hailed by certain elements in liberalization of the government. The constitution committee had been authorized to make recommendations by the kaiser himself.

His suggestions, as announced May 31 were:

To make the imperial chancellor directly responsible to the reichstag, as well as to the emperor.

Re-districting of Germany so that the reichstag may be more representative.

After having made the recommendation as to the chancellor, the committee proceeded to vitiate all the reform nature of this suggestion by declining to give the reichstag any power over removal of the chancellor.

The constitution committee, headed by the pro-government socialist leader, Scheidemann, is dominated by the government forces—that is, by the chancellor and the autocratic German

It would give us great pleasure to visit Oregon if it could be arranged for us to do so. Our itinerary has not yet been arranged. WANTS AIR FLEET TO ASSIST RUSSIANS

Claims These Would Increase Russia's Strength by 50 Per Cent

New York, June 27.—President Alan R. Hawley of the Aero club of America will recommend to the American government the building of 20,000 battle planes and the training of 5000 American aviators for the Russian front immediately, he announced in a statement to the United Press here today.

"Russia is fighting blind," said Hawley. "And the greatest practical service we can render that struggling democracy is eyes for her army and artillery."

"She has multitudes of men. She has more guns and ammunition than is suspected. She is more ready to fight than we know."

"Russia's worst handicap is her lack of aircraft. We are the only ones of the allies in a position to remedy the shortage."

"If we can equip the Russians with good aerial eyes at the same time we overwhelm the Tuntons on the western front with our 20,000 aviators and 100,000 fighting planes, the crushing power of our blow will be augmented by at least fifty per cent."

"Plans are well advanced for the manufacture of the 100,000 planes and training of the 25,000 men for the western front."

"We can add 5000 men and 20,000 planes to the program without much trouble because our machinery will soon be standardized for immense production."

"Hawley's idea is that we should send one air squadron to the Russian front as quickly as possible, 'for moral effect.'"

"One air squadron would accomplish wonders in battle," said Hawley, "and it would convince Russia that America is in to fight for and with her."

"One squadron consists of 36 machines, 19 officers and 154 mechanics and assistants."

"Twelve of the thirty six machines are for actual service and the remaining 24 are held in reserve."

The committee is to hold further sessions in July.

The Portland Elks are trying to establish a fund to care for the dependents of soldiers and sailors, whether Elks or not. Practically everything that has been done so far since the war began, has been done for the soldiers at the front. There has been very little thought given to the families that are left behind. It is these that the Elks are trying to look after.

The Elks will give four performances of George Ade's patriotic comic opera "The Sultan of Sala," June 28, 29 and 30. There will be an 18-piece orchestra directed by Waldemar Lind. There are about 60 people in the cast, including members of the Norwegian and Swedish Sing societies. George Hotchkiss Street will play Kiram. He is well known professional singer. Mrs. Herman Politz and Miss Faye Ruddleick will alternate in the prima donna role. This is a one hundred per cent charity. Every dollar taken in at the box office will go into the fund.
