J. E. Adams, machinist, manager of the Salem naval recruiting office, is in Albany today on recruiting duty.

The Turner auxiliary Red Cross was given 67 yards of muslin to be made up into abdominal binders by the members.

Yesterday about 20 members of Willamette chapter Red Cross, met at the surgical headquarters and packed boxes.

A delegation from the Marion auxiliary Red Cross was in this morning for information and instruction concerning the work of preparing surgical goods.

Pat Devine, who was sentenced to pay $25 for being drunk and disorderly, chose to serve his time out in jail, but yesterday, after serving 10 days, paid the remainder of his fine and was released. He promised to leave the city.

Judge P. H. D'Arcy, district deputy grand exalted ruler of the Elks, will leave Salem Wednesday, July 4, for Boston, where he will attend a convention of the Elks' lodge. Judge D'Arcy is a member of the Salem lodge, B. P. O. E. Louis Lachmund, another prominent Elk, left for Boston a few days ago.

It just cost Earl H. Anderson $10 of the coin of the realm to cut a corner yesterday. He appeared in the police court this morning and promptly drew forth a check book, filled in the amount with a smile, pleasantly, cheerfully and handed it to the police judge. He will probably find 'avor in heaven for it is written that 'The Lord loveth a cheerful g.o.r.'

Sam Burkhardt, a former police officer, who resigned from the force a few months ago to take up other work, returned yesterday from the mountains up behind Black Rock, where he has been staying. He has lost considerable of his weight and looks a lot slimmer and trimmer than when he went away. He says he has had a fine time and is feeling great.

Two calves between eight and 10 months old and a cow last night caused the police officers some concern as they were left in the cattle pens at the Southern Pacific depot all day yesterday without either food or water. The cattle belong to Herman Frieze, who put 23 head of cattle in the pen recently. The officers could not locate the owner last night but had the three animals watered and fed.

Judge J. C. Moreland, Judge George H. Burnett and Mrs. Olive Enright have been selected by the committee in charge of the Salem picnic at the Oaks next Saturday to be the speakers of the occasion. They will speak on subjects of interest to Salem people in the earlier days, and it is expected a large number of Salem people will go down to the Rose City for this event and also a large number of former Salemites who live in Portland will attend.

Until a man is notified that his name has been drawn for the national army, he is eligible to join the regulars, or volunteer army. Therefore, Corporal Toy will keep open house all during the summer. All physically and mentally sound men, between the ages of 18 and 40, will be accepted for service, provided they have no dependents, or are not of an enemy alien country. Being an alien, unless one is a citizen, however, does not bar a man from joining to fight Hohenzollernism, for all the army recruiting stations are instructed to enroll men for the British and Canadian armies, and a Frenchman may join the American army at any time.

Three years working of Compensation Law

The workmen's compensation law has been in effect three years at the close of the month of June. The total number of employers subject to the law at the end of the first year was 5,088. This was increased the second year to 6,594, while on June 30th of this year the total was 8,863.

The total number of accidents reported for the three years were, respectively, 4536, 7162 and 12,134, while the fatal accidents during the same periods were 71, 72 and 90.

During the past year the average number of accidents subject to the compensation law and reported to the commission was over 38 for each business day, while the fatal accidents subject to the law averaged one for every four days of the calendar year.

Bankers Are Named As Local Committee

J. H. Albert of the Capital National bank, A. Bush of Ladd and Bush, W. G. East of the Bank of Commerce, and E. W. Hazard of the United States National bank, have been appointed as a local committee for the officers training camp by Major Jens Bugge, examining officer, detailed by the war department to take care of the applications of young men for the second officers training camp, which opens at San Francisco August 27. All applicants for entrance to this training camp, according to a recent order, must first consult the local committee and send in their applications through them. From this committee application blanks can be secured. It is stated that applicants should mail their applications to Major Bugge at their application to Major Bugge at Vancouver Barracks, or to San Francisco.

Information received by the public service commission yesterday stated that the interstate commerce commission will grant no increased rate on bottles from the east, at least before October of this year. The decision is important to the growing industries of the northwest as an increase in freight rates on bottles would have the effect of practically killing their business. This is especially true in the case of the fruit juice companies.

She Lost Her Hook So Couldn't Hook Up

San Francisco, July 3.—John Hook, aged 38, of Portland, Oregon, and Miss Effie Brown, aged 34, his housekeeper, came to San Francisco Saturday to get married. They have been playing hide and seek with each other ever since.

The couple became separated while viewing the sights on Market street on the day of their arrival.

Sunday Miss Brown appealed to the police. She left Hook's description, but left without giving her address.

Today Hook appeared at police headquarters. He is now waiting for Miss Brown to show up.

Hook is a widower with three children.

Attorney Trindle To Manage Campaign

A meeting of the committee which signed the arguments in favor of the proposed amendments to the city charter, to be voted on July 9, was called by the chairman, John McNary, last night, and the men assembled in the Commercial Club at 7:30. After discussing various ways of presenting the arguments favoring the amendments, a manager was elected to carry on the active campaigning. He is Attorney W. H. Trindle, a man who has thoroughly studied the questions involved. The campaign will begin immediately, and all the facts and figures of the case will be presented to the voter in a thoroughly intelligible way.

The Business Side of An Auto Trip

The letter which follows is self explanatory. It is dated June 28, and mailed at Willetts, California.

Halvorson & Burns: We have had very good luck with our Maxwell, no engine trouble at all, and have had but one puncture, due to a slight flaw in the tube. We have come 1156 miles, and have used just 69 gallons of gasoline and one gallon of oil. Our average over the mountains was only about 15 miles per gallon, but running on smooth roads brought it up to 25. We averaged about 175 miles per day over the mountains. Our total repair bill has been $3.25, for breaks on a windshield clip, tire rack, and broken thread on exhaust pipe, all due to rough road. The worst road is between Sisson and Redding, California. Yours, Rex A. Palmer, Marion, Oregon.

COTTON PRICE FALLS HOLDS UP FOOD BILL

Attempt to Enforce Cloture Will Fail—Bill Still Up in the Air

By Robert J. Bender. (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Washington, July 3.—The senate food control bill hit a new snag today. Fresh revolt and confusion is seething in the chamber.

Southern senators learned that cotton dropped eight points when the senate included that product in the control measure yesterday. As a result today these senators, some of them foremost administration leaders—have become "bears" on the bill.

They say they won't vote for a cloture rule, they won't agree to a time for voting and they won't approve the bill in its present form.

This new development temporarily shattered hopes of those in charge of the bill that a vote would be possible within a few days.

While efforts were made to appease the new element of uprising, it was decided to postpone introduction of the cloture petition until late today or tomorrow—and possibly the end of the week.

Instead, Senator Chamberlain made another attempt to get unanimous consent to a vote Thursday but was once more blocked by objection of Senator Fearoe, Pennsylvania. Senator Jones, Washington, "dry" leader, then rose to exhort newspaper correspondents to let the country know that "this time, at least, it isn't the friends of temperance who are delaying passage of this measure."

The Most Conclusive Evidence Possible

IS THE DIRECT AND DEFINITE TESTIMONY OF THOSE WHO KNOW WHEREOF THEY SPEAK

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: I cannot say too much in behalf of the great benefit derived by the chiropractic adjustments given by Dr. O. L. Scott. I came here to this city one year ago last October with a nervous breakdown caused by pneumonia, which threw me into spasms. I was in about as low a condition as humanity could be in. Finally I was advised to go to Dr. Scott and take a few adjustments. At first I was not able to go to his office. He came to my home. I took thirteen adjustments and was a new man. I soon secured a position at hard manual labor on a farm and continued without one break until the present time. I have felt the best I have for years. Certainly chiropractic discoveries are one of the greatest means of physical restoration. I recommend it to all that are troubled with any nervous disorder. Rev. F. A. MEADE, 910 Shipping St., Salem, Ore.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: I can truthfully say what chiropractic treatment has done for me. I was almost blind when I went to Dr. O. L. Scott for treatment for pressure on the optic nerves. Previous to my visits to Dr. Scott I had been operated on for this complaint seven times but had secured no relief. Now I can see to read, to do my work and really enjoy life, and I owe it all to the chiropractic system of treatment and Dr. O. L. Scott. Mrs. Ada Bowen, Chehalis, Wash. Dr. O. L. Scott, Salem, Oregon. My Dear Doctor: I want to hear this testimony that you did me at lot of good and if I had felt able to have taken as many more treatments as I did I am sure that I would have been entirely cured. As I am lots better than I was a year ago. W. N. Blodgett, Vancouver, Wash. These are only three of the large number of testimonials freely given by those who have been benefited by Chiropractic treatment.
