U. S. National Bank Pig Club Addressed by Governor and Others

With twenty-seven out of some sixty members of the United States National Bank Pig Club present, at the Commercial Club auditorium, George Eyre, vice president of the bank, called the meeting to order, at 2:30 this afternoon, and after stating the purpose of it, introduced the first speaker, Governor Withycombe. During his introduction, Mr. Eyre told of the largest pig for its age, which is entered. One of the girls, whose name was not mentioned, owns a four and half months old pig which weighs 228 pounds.

Another Incendiary Fire at Klamath Falls

Klamath Falls, Or., July 21.—Still more determined efforts are being taken here today to prevent another I. W. W. uprising, following a fire which at 2 o'clock this morning destroyed buildings on the Earl C. Williams dairy near here.

Authorities say the fire was plainly of incendiary origin, and the I. W. W. are blamed. The loss was several hundred dollars. The city is under armed guard. Deputy sheriffs with guns closely questioned all travelers before they are being allowed to enter the city. All known I. W. W. are jailed or have been driven from the town.

Brings Suit to Recover Black Eagle Mine and Unknown Value of Ores

Another phase of the Black Eagle Mine imbroglio was brought to light today in the filing of a complaint by L. M. Ormsby against O. H. Griswold, W. M. Abbott, Ruth Abbott, J. E. Cro-maa, A. C. Larsen, H. H. Lott, C. H. Graves, Stephen McFarlane, and S. P. Timberlane, for the recovery of possession of the mine and $400 damages for the wrongful mining of ores valued at $200 a ton.

Court House News

The suit to quiet title brought by Anna Hoje against Fielden Jones and others was decided in favor of the plaintiff by Judge Bingham. The decree states that she is the true owner of the premises in question.

London, July 21.—Samuel Samuels, M. P., announced in a speech today that the British government intends to adopt a policy of reprisals for German air raids.

DARCY PINED FOR HOME IN AUSTRALIA

Wanted To Live In Order To Do Proper Thing by Enlisting There

By H. C. Hamilton (United Press staff correspondent) New York, July 21.—Before he died Les Darcy, the Australian pugilist, realized with all his heart every mistake he had made and longed for one more chance to do the proper thing in Australia.

The Sydney Argus, representing one of the best sports circulations in the island continent, declared recently that Snowy Baker, the Australian promoter, had received a letter from Darcy asking that steps be taken to make it comfortable for him if he should return. Darcy wanted to go back and enlist in the Australian army.

This was after things had been going so badly for Darcy in this country. His refusal to meet the best middle-weight of this nation, his continual demands for huge purses having held him down at a time when he might have been blazing a path to new glory, had stopped him short. Feeling grieved over the unexpected turn in the reception given him, Darcy determined to go home.

Cast out of the minds of fight lovers in the United States, he then discovered that Australia had no place for the man who fled just two days before a vote was taken on conscription of all its men. News of his turning against Tim Sullivan also reached Australia, and, although Sullivan was in the same boat with Darcy, it helped him lose some of the friends who had stuck persistently by him.

Baker's failure to answer at once, or the usual delay in post service between Australia and this country probably disheartened Darcy, for he shortly afterward enlisted in the United States aviation corps, another blow to his supporters in Australia.

Commenting on Darcy's death the Argus failed to lose any of its original bitterness against the man who had been upheld as the most glorious figure in Australia's sporting life, not even excepting the famous Anthony F. Wilding. Regret was expressed that Darcy had been unable to show the United States his prowess. That was the only regret expressed by this paper, save the publishing of a brief interview with Snowy Baker.

MANY ATHLETES ARE AMONG FIRST DRAWN

Tennis Player McLoughlin Must Go—Sport News and Gossip

Los Angeles, Cal., July 21.—The name of Maurice E. McLoughlin, world famous tennis player, heads the list of amateur and professional athletes of this city called into service Friday. McLoughlin believes he is practically certain to go with the first army.

Scores of Los Angeles athletes who have achieved national fame in the sporting world, found their names among the first 3000 numbers. Gus Kervaris, one of the foremost Greek wrestlers in America was chosen.

Did Not Know Numbers St. Louis, Mo., July 21.—Less than half the members of the Braves and the Cardinals baseball clubs knew their draft numbers, it was learned today and this morning it was impossible to tell definitely what inroads will be made in St. Louis clubs Sloan, Jacobson and Severoid are known to have been in the first draft and have been notified that they may be expected to be called in September 5.

Dispatches from Philadelphia said that Jack Miller was the only Cardinal who knew that he had been drawn.

Fear for White Sox Chicago, July 21.—Fans feared for the pennant chances of the White Sox today. Buck Weaver, third sacker, was among those drawn in the first "one thousand" numbers in the draft, and may be taken. His number was 933. Joe Jenkins, a second string Sox backstop, held 045.

These were the only members of the club affected, so far as Manager Rowland knew.

Two Old Timers to Play Chicago, July 21.—Jimmy Callahan and "Dutch" Meir have been added to the idols of the diamond of long ago, who will participate in the old timers baseball game here tomorrow for the benefit of the Red Cross. Among the players will be:

Nationals: Ryan, Anson, Houseman, Pfeffer, Scanlon, McCormick, Hughes and Geiss.

Americans: Comiskey, Hudson, Stahl Mullane, Speifmann, Zimmer, Reading and Moriarty.

Hospitals Play Ball Rouen, France, July 21.—Base hospital No. 4, Cleveland, U. S. A., beat base hospital number 71, St. Louis, 7 to 5 in the second game of the inter-unit baseball series today. St. Louis pitcher, Padgett, blew up with a loud report in the fourth and last and Cleveland smacked over four runs. Shaner was the bright particular star for Cleveland. In three times at bat he singled, doubled and tripled.

Full Drawing May Not Be Available For Several Days

The full drawing of numbers in the first war draft is not given in today's paper. Probably it will not be available until the government officials send out the result. The press associations did not complete the list today because it was not regarded as an important matter after the first 2,500 numbers were drawn, as it is probable that these will comprise the entire draft of the war, although it should continue for two or three years.

As the calls for troops are made the numbers drawn will be taken in their serial order from time to time. The numbers apply to every district just the same, and each will draw its men in the order as shown in the figures in another column of this issue.

Unfavorable Weather Lifts Wheat Ten Cents

Chicago, July 21.—Continued lack of rain in the northwest wheat belt and high temperatures, together with active commission house buying today, sent wheat futures up from 5 to 9 3/4 above yesterday's close. July wheat opened unchanged at $2.50 and closed 5 cents higher. September opened unchanged at $2.15, closing 9 3/4 up.

Corn was slightly lower. September opened 1/4 down at $1.93 and closed 1/8

Animals Exhibited At State Fair Must Have Been Tested

In announcing today the regulations that will govern livestock exhibits at the coming state fair, A. H. Lea, secretary of the state fair board, said that no bovine animal over one year old will be accepted for exhibition, unless within a year before the opening of the fair it has been subjected to a tuberculin test, and advised exhibitors of all other livestock to have their herds examined that they may have a clear bill of health as the fair board will not be responsible for disease contracted during the fair.

Further the regulations provide that every animal must be entered for competition in the name of the owner, and that while exhibitors will not be limited as to the number of entries, the entries will not be eligible for more than two moneys. All pure-bred livestock over one year old in order to be eligible to compete for premiums must have been recorded in the recognized books of record of their respective breeds, and exhibitors must produce certificates of registry at the request of the superintendent in charge. Competition in the livestock division is defined as animals owned by different individuals and firms, and animals owned and exhibited by members of the same family and living on the same premises will not be deemed competition.

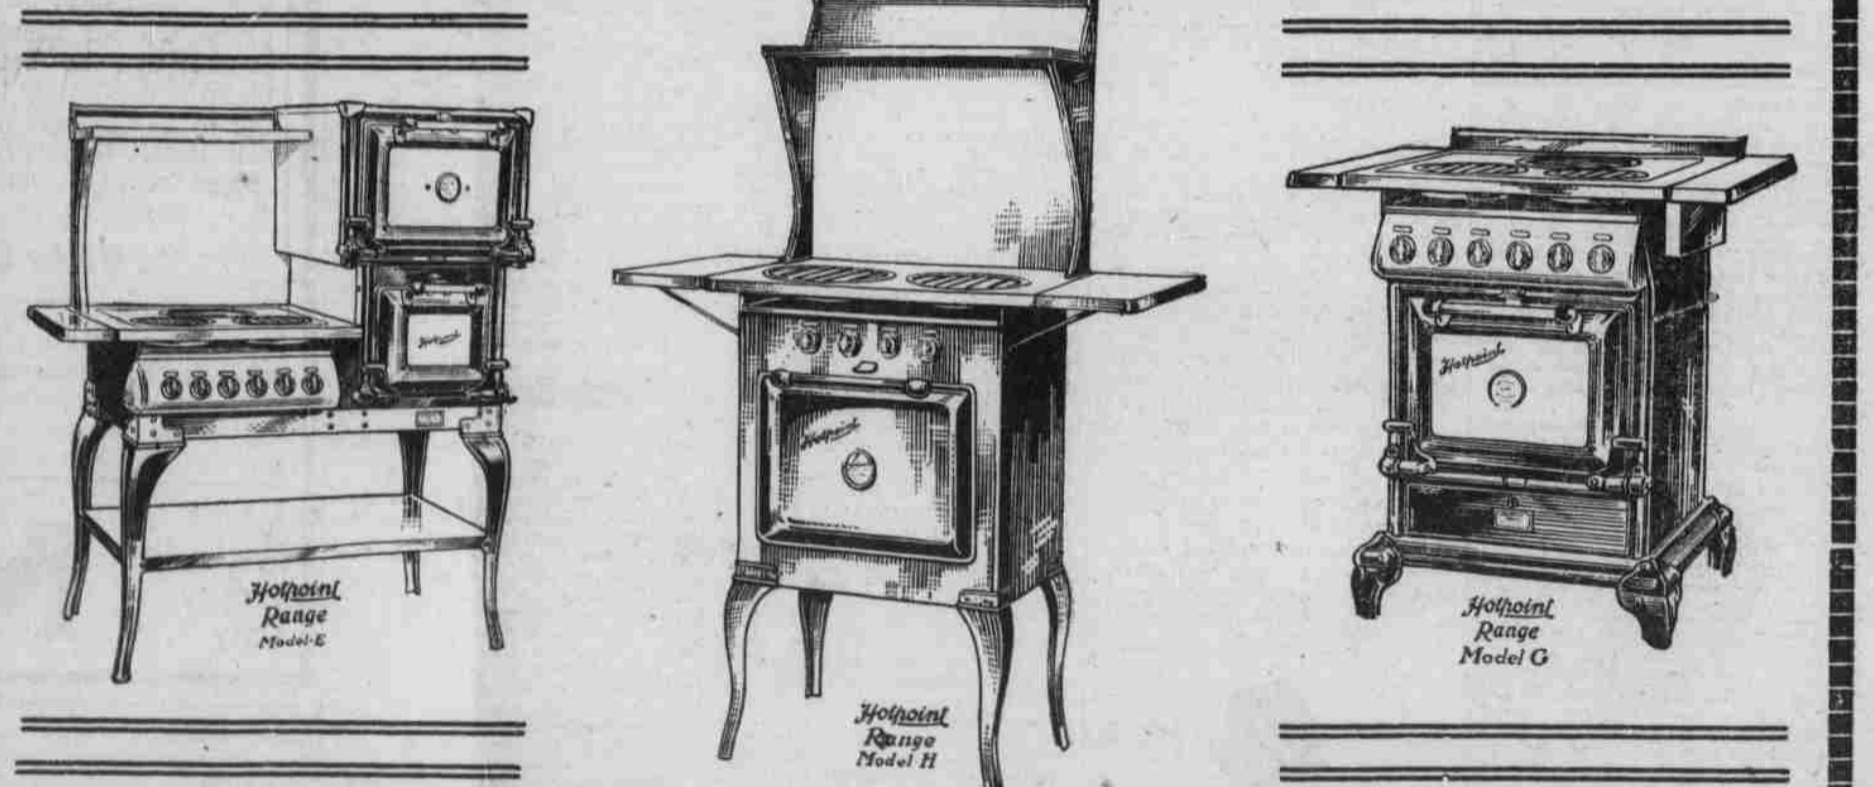

No entrance fees will be exacted in the livestock division but charges will be made for stalls and pens. In the horse division charge of $2 for box and double stalls, and $1 for single stalls will be made, and the charges in the cattle department will be the same. The charges in the sheep and swine departments will be $1 a pen.

Besides the regular premiums offered by the state fair board more than $2,000 in special premiums are offered in the livestock department, and Secretary Lea declares that the exhibits this year will surpass any livestock shows ever held in the west, and that they will compare favorably with exhibits at the big shows of the eastern states. The swine department, he says, will be larger and better than any swine show ever held in connection with a world's fair.

December opened 1-4 higher at $1.57 1-4 and closed 1-8 down. Oats were slightly higher. July opened unchanged at 50 and closed 1-8 down. December opened unchanged at 60 cents and closed 1-4 higher. Provisions were higher on a strong and higher log market.
