TEN THOUSAND G.A.R. VETERANS IN LINE

Some Weak Physically, But Strong of Spirit, 100 Overcome by Heat

Boston, Mass., Aug. 21.—White haired, tottering with the weight of years, "the boys of '61," ten thousand strong, marched here today in their last parade. Feeble and a little unsteady, but strong with the spirit that carried them through the battles of other days, the veterans of the G. A. R. moved between solid lines of cheering thousands. And while the last fading ranks of the "thin blue line" marched for the last time, here and there in the crowd stood a man in khaki—a silent figure symbolical of the birth of the great new national army, which will fight to uphold the standard of liberty set by the veterans of '61. Over a hundred veterans were overcome by heat. They were treated at relief tents and hospitals. The boy scouts who had been stationed on the line of march were of great assistance in helping those who were not equal to the exertion of marching.

DRAFTED MEN MUST PACK STUFF IN BUNDLE

No Trunks or Suit Cases and Only Change of Under Clothes and Extra Shirt

(By George Martin) (United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, Aug. 21.—Loving mothers, sweethearts and kind friends must not load drafted men with a lot of clothes and comforts when they start to camp September fifth, Provost Marshal General Crowder ruled today. The 206,100 boys entraining for cantonments will be allowed to take very little. Trunks are absolutely taboo. Suitcases and handbags will be frowned upon.

The war department prefers that each man bring only necessary toilet articles and one change of linen and underwear, clothing, done up in a neat, small bundle. This is because strict attention will be given the military appearance of the boys from the moment they report at headquarters of their local board.

The department wishes it understood, however, that it is as necessary that the boys bring the articles mentioned as it is that they bring nothing more. Members of each man's local board will inspect his kit just before he entrains, rejecting everything that has no place therein and returning the surplus articles to his relatives.

"These men," said a draft official here today, "are not going on a vacation trip. They are going to study the business of war. They will be supplied with all necessary clothing and equipment when they get to camp." According to the regulations all any man can take is a tooth brush, a piece of soap, foldable drinking cup, a towel, a few handkerchiefs, an extra shirt and collar; a suit of underclothes and a pair of socks.

Troops Will Protect Man Wanting to Work in Arizona Mines

Miami, Ariz., Aug. 21.—Miami Copper company mines will resume operations Wednesday morning, it was authentically reported today. Lieutenant Colonel George P. White, commanding the Seventeenth cavalry on guard here issued this statement:

"Federal government officials are anxious that working conditions in this mining district be resumed and the commanding officer of the troops is eager to see work start again in all sections. For this purpose troops stationed in this district under my command will be used to furnish protection in person and property to any men who desire to go to work.

"Public meetings held as detrimental to law and order and those the object of which is to continue the workers in a state of idleness will not be permitted. "Withdrawal of Dated States forces from the district may be desired by some, but until conditions are such that maintenance of law and order and protection of life, property and individual liberty can be assured without them, it is certain they will be retained."

Spaulding Company Suffered Little Loss From Forest Fires

The Spaulding logging company suffered but little loss during the big fires at Black Rock beginning Sunday, August 12. This was due to the efforts put forth by the company in keeping from 150 to 200 men working day and night from Sunday August 12 until Friday evening, the 17th. U. G. Holt, who has just returned from Black Rock says that the fire at one time got within half a mile of the company's railroad, locomotive and donkey engines. The fire was fought by digging trenches, removing brush and the falling of timber in its path. Two trenches were dug across the path of the fire. At night when the wind was down, the fighting was along the first trench, but after 10 o'clock in the mornings, the heat was such that the fighting force was obliged to retire to the second trench.

If you are troubled with indigestion and cannot eat white bread, make bread from the whole wheat flour. This is not easily digested and more nourishing than much white bread commonly used.

CANADIANS CAPTURE GERMAN TRENCHES

Meet In Open Ground and Canucks Win Hand to Hand Fight

Bulletin by William Phillip Sims, (United Press Staff Correspondent) With the British Armies in the Field, Aug. 21.—The Canadians attacked the German lines west and north-west of Lens early today. Terrific fighting developed. As the Canadians went over the top the Germans emerged from their trenches, to attack the Canadians. The first line of the Germans were already in No Man's Land when the Canadians struck them. Whirlwind hand to hand fighting ensued, both using bayonets, clubbing rifles and automatic pistols. After a half hour's bitter hand to hand fighting the Germans gave way and the Canadians followed them into the front trenches of the German lines. This is the first time since early in the war that both sides attacked simultaneously. In the obscurity of early dawn the Canadians and Germans could not see each other until they arrived at almost rifle length. The Canadians everywhere outflanked the Germans and advanced closer to Lens.

Frank Myers Buys Stolz's Interest in "Spa"

When Frank Myers bought out the interest of Walter T. Stolz in "The Spa" confectionery store, yesterday afternoon, one of the oldest business houses in Salem changed hands. This confectionery store has been in existence at the same place for 27 years, or since 1890, when it was opened by W. T. Stolz and Billy Westcott. Sixteen years ago Frank Myers purchased a half interest in the establishment and has been connected with it ever since. For the past ten years he had exclusive management of the business and has brought it to its high state of perfection. The policy of the business will not be changed, according to Mr. Myers, and he expects to make numerous changes for betterment in the future.

Pig Club Members Royally Entertained By U. S. National Bank

It pays to be a member of a Pig club whether as a business or social proposition. That is, if all Pig clubs were entertained occasionally as the members of the U. S. National bank club were yesterday. The 50 youngsters were of course given a free trip to Portland and return. But that isn't all as after their arrival in Portland, they were treated as honored guests. W. H. Daughtry, manager of the stock yards company, chaperoned the crowd with the able assistance of George W. Eyre. After being shown through the new stock yards administration building, they were taken to the Transit hotel for dinner. Then a two and a half hour trip was taken through the buildings of the Union Meat company and then pictures were taken, showing the youngsters admiring some large specimens of the stock yards. After a street car ride, the party was returned to the Union depot for the trip home. It pays to be a member of a Pig club.

Here's the letter she wrote President Wilson from Los Angeles: "Dear Mr. President: "I am a little girl eight years old. I have been saving money for a pony and I have $23. I want to give it to the Red Cross. My mamma told me to send it to you and you would know what to do with it. I am only visiting here and my money is in a bank in New Jersey, so my papa, who is there, will send it to you. I think you are a very nice president. With love, (Signed) "Barbara Spencer." The president wrote Barbara and thanked her.
