

Have You Your New Fall Suit or Dress?

If not we have either the material by the yard to make them with, or have them made all ready to wear, and we are able to make you great savings on either.

We wish to call your attention to a few woollens, and invite you to come and inspect our stock for yourself, after which you will appreciate the values more than a book of writing would make you.

Shoe mending and farming will be combined by William Jones, who has had a shoe shop at Seventeenth and Center. A few days ago Mr. Jones closed his town shop and removed it to the farm south of Salem where he hangs out the sign "business as usual."

The penitentiary boys who intend to give a minstrel show October 10 as a Red Cross benefit are already beginning to advertise. A sign on an auto truck reads: "Mammoth Red Cross Benefit. Merry Monarchs of Minstrelsy. Penitentiary, October 10."

A genuine devil fish or octopus is on display at the Fitts market. It has about seven long arms with the usual number of suckers by which they cling to their prey. Mr. Fitts is authority for the information that they are easy enough to catch after you find one as they put in most of their time while floating in the ocean waiting for something to come within reach of their long arms. The dictionary says they are usually timid and inoffensive.

Fred E. Mangis, one of the Salem men who went through the three months training at the Presidio, writes that he has been offered a commission as second lieutenant in the quartermaster's corps and that he has been given until September 1 to accept or decline. He is in San Francisco now thinking it over. He writes that he may be home or within a short time he may be in France.

Lieutenant Ellsworth Young, of the regular army, stationed at Ft. Winfield Scott, is in the city visiting his sister, Miss Grace Young, 340 North Church street. Lieutenant Young is from southern California and is one of the young men given a commission after the three months intensive study at the Presidio. He will remain here until August 27, reporting for duty at Ft. Winfield Scott August 29.

An action on a promissory note was filed in the circuit court this morning by Ella M. Kirk against Oscar Snelson for the recovery of money alleged to be due on a promissory note. The amount of the note is $800. A decree
