RAMBLINGS OF THE CAPITAL JOURNAL MAN

By J. W. PIXLEY
 Mr. L. H. Roberts of the Sunset Fruit Farm, 4 miles east of Salem on Pratum road, believes in conserving feed. All hay fed on this farm is cut by ensilage cutter and blown into mows. By cutting in this way two thirds of the mow space is saved as three times as much hay can be stored after it is cut than if put in loose.
 Before this hay is fed it is damped with water, thoroughly mixed with a barn fork and any grain fed is scattered over this mow and again forked over. Every spear is eaten and a saving of 1-2 or more of hay is made than if the hay had been fed loose.
 Mr. Roberts makes the assertion that good straw prepared in this way is better than good hay fed loose and I believe he is right. As to the saving, there is no question. I know men in Linn county who feed in this way after year after year and their stock always look well, their cows are among the very best producers and they feed less than 1-2 the hay and grain fed by their neighbors who feed loose hay.
 In these days of $20 hay it behooves every farmer to think how he can get the best results out of his feed.
 I asked Mr. Roberts about feeding this hay to hogs, he says he winters hogs and choates on chopped clover hay, milk and shorts. The hay is prepared the same as for the cows and hogs, with the shorts sprinkled over the top. He said the hogs eat it all and grow all winter.
 To some the feeding of hay to hogs may seem a queer thing. But why? Hogs do well on pasture, why not on hay? A Danish friend of mine once told me in Denmark the hogs are always fed chopped hay while being fattened and if hay could not be procured chopped straw was fed. Denmark makes the highest priced bacon in the world.
 If you wanted to winter a horse or cow you would not feed all grain. One would burn the animal up. Why is this not true with the hog? The hog is a grass eating animal and if grass can not be gotten why not feed hay?
 In these days of high feed and facing as it seems, a scarcity why not feed so to save 1-2 of hay in our mow. Get an ensilage cutter, throw the hay out, cut it and blow it back. It will pay. Mr. Roberts says it costs $125 a ton to cut with the hay stacked outside, $250 a ton will take the hay from the mow, cut it and put it back. Feed 1-2 less of $20 hay is a good investment.
 Mr. Roberts is the owner of the Sunset Fruit Farm. There are 80 acres of 5 years old from setting logan berries and 3,000 cherry trees coming into bearing. The new vine in the logan berry yard are immense. Prospects for a crop next year could not be better.
 Although the season has been so dry moisture is right at the top of the soil. A spring tooth harrow has been kept going all summer and is going now the soil in the yard is loose—could be plowed any time. The spring tooth has gone through the yard at least 20 times this summer. While it was not necessary for this year's crop to cultivate so many times it pays for next year.
 Soon a plow will go through the middle of the rows and the furrow will be thrown both ways. This will give good drainage and give place for the old vines to be put. No old vines burned.

District Sunday School Organization Formed
 Last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock a meeting was held in Aumsville for the purpose of perfecting a District Sunday school organization. Representatives from a number of the Sunday schools in the district were present and the organization was perfected. Melburn, Howell, Stayton, Turner and Aumsville and other points in the immediate vicinity compose the district.
 At the meeting it was decided to hold a convention of all Sunday schools in the district at Aumsville Sunday September 16, at 10 a. m. and continuing through the day, on with this idea in mind the following speakers have been secured and each one of them are alive to the subjects assigned them. Mrs. Danenbauer, secretary of the State Sunday School Association will deliver an address and it is safe to say it will be an inspiration to all who hear her. Mr. Hale of the State Training School will give an address on the "Responsibility of Parents." Being engaged in the work of officers in the Sunday school and instructively upon this subject.
 Mr. Emberson of Salem will speak on the "Teen Age of Girls," and she is a very pleasing speaker and no doubt will bring many truths to her hearers. County President Harry White of Hayesville will also be one of the speakers at the convention. The Sunday schools of the district are asked to come in full force—Stayton Mail.

COMPANY I WINS
 The Company I boys, accompanied by a large crowd of Woodburn fans, visited Gervais last Sunday and won a victory over the local club, 3 to 2. The company I ball tossers took the lead from the first part of the game and held it through the entire contest. The game was featured by the brilliant pitching of Schroeder and Zweifel. The former managed to leave 15 of the Gervais boys at the plate, while Zweifel got nine. Much credit is due the Company I boys for the fine game of ball they played on the rough grounds. They only made two errors and hit the ball for eleven safe hits, also managed to keep up Woodburn's reputation by bringing home the bacon. Chas. Blanchard and Harper had a big day with the bat, the former landing two two-base hits and one single, while Harper got two hits out of four trips to the plate.—Woodburn Independent.

A Plant that Grows with the Times

About five years ago we conceived a tremendous idea—the idea of giving to America a soft drink such as it had never before tasted. A new kind of soft drink in flavor and in its cereal ingredients—a soft drink that should be nutritious as well as delicious—pure and wholesome.

The idea took root—it was cultivated, experimented with, tended with all the care and skill that science could apply. For four years this work went on and then finally about a year ago there sprang into being, BEVO—the drink triumphant.

Less than two months after its introduction Bevo had leaped into such popularity that even our already large facilities could not supply the demand.

The result is that soon will be completed (built by public demand) the largest plant of its kind in the world—daily bottling capacity, 2,000,000 bottles.

You will find Bevo at all places where refreshing beverages are sold. Bevo is sold in bottles only—and is bottled exclusively by
