TO BRING CHRISTMAS TO BOYS IN TRENCHES

Packages Should Preferably Be Sent Red Cross Which Will Forward Them

By George Martin.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Sept. 15.—The government would like to have the "personal touch" clearly stamped on all Christmas packages for America's million and a half fighting men at home and abroad. "To make it seem more like something from home," it was learned.

It is suggested by Red Cross national headquarters that local newspapers (Christmas funds for the soldiers and local gift packages prepared by women and girls in various cities be turned over to the local Red Cross chapter.

The Washington, D. C., Red Cross chapter is preparing Christmas gifts for fifteen thousand men. It will bear all the expense and its members are doing all the work. Each of these 15,000 men will get a card or a note in his package from the Washington women who fixed it.

It is hoped that all similar plans will be localized and made personal affairs between the givers and the soldiers and sailors. Local Red Cross chapters and local officers of the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Knights of Columbus, and several other organizations, know of this plan and can outline to their respective communities.

If it is desired, however, local newspaper and other funds raised may be sent direct to national Red Cross headquarters here.

Some Suggestions.

Private packages sent to individual fighters abroad should not exceed twenty pounds in weight, should be sent by regular mail at the rate of twelve cents a pound. So far there is no restriction on the size packages to individuals in camps in this country.

It is requested by the Red Cross and other organizations engaged in making

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY earn $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers; $40 to $50 monthly in spare time; experience unnecessary; no canvassing; subjects suggested. Send for particulars. National Press Bureau, Room 4281, Buffalo, N. Y.

PUBLIC SALE—Tuesday Sept. 18, 10 a. m. 1/4 mile east from Sunnydale school house on Turner road. Sheep, horses, hogs, cattle, poultry, implements and household goods. Free lunch. A. H. Robinson, Phone 11P33. 9-15

FOR SALE OR TRADE—20 acres, 3 miles from town, all in cultivation well fenced and water, 6 room bungalow and barn, all new, no income. Price $4500, will take modern city property part pay. Address Geo. F. Peed, 880 N. Winter St. Phone 2123J. 9-15

COME ON WITH TWO BITS TO BUY TOBACCO

Don't forget about that quarter that you were going to dig up to buy tobacco for one of the boys in the trenches. Remember, under the arrangement the Capital Journal made with the manufacturers, by which every two bits that is sent in to this office will be worth just double its value in buying a package of tobacco or cigarettes for some soldier.

You may be assured that every cent of the money goes in to the purchase of tobacco. The Capital Journal gets no commission, takes no pay for the space required in presenting this offer to the public, benefits in no way except that it is glad to become a means whereby some of the lads at the front may be enabled to receive some of the comforts that will make life over there a little more livable.

Let the weather man now remember that the hair of the dog is good for its bite. Meaning this: That, having done all he could to ruin the Oregon bean crop with d.outh, it is now up to him to order drizzle enough to save it.

Christmas presents for the soldiers that the standard package be about seven to ten inches square. From the base of the package by placing a seven by ten inch writing pad on a khaki colored kerchief 27 inches square. Put your selected articles on this, up to $1.50 worth. Wrap and tie with one inch red ribbon with card or note under the bow. Wrap again in heavy, light brown paper and tie securely.

Packed dried fruits or other food that will keep in tin or wooden containers. Hard candy properly boxed may be sent. Don't pack liquids or anything in glass. The best things to send, the Red Cross said today, are envelopes, pencils, postcards, a paper covered book, pocket knife, steel trench mirror, khaki handkerchiefs, neckties, mouth organs, assorted puzzles, electric torches, compasses, playing cards, tobacco, pipes, cigar papers, water tight match boxes, gum, fig cookies, crackers, fruit cake, plum pudding, preserved ginger, salted nuts, prunes, dates, raisins, licorice.

Midget Market Is In New Quarters and Doing Fine Business

The Midget market, now established in its new location in the Farrar building on State street, is one of the best and most up to date in the valley. Today it has been doing a rushing business and the indications are that it will more than regain all its customers who were doing business with the market before the fire several months ago. In addition to a meat market, the Midget will handle the "Midget" brand of butter, "Table Queen" bread, and several other lines that fit in well with the market business.

The market will make its own sausage with a fully equipped machinery in the rear of the market. Another change that marks the Midget as progressive is the adopting of penny change. If the meat really figures up 23 cents on the scales, this is the amount that will be asked and not 25 cents. Penny change will be made in order that the purchaser will pay only for the exact amount he or she buys.

The Midget market is owned by S. Levy and is under the personal management of his two sons, Ben and Harry Levy.

COSTS MORE TO BE SICK

Lebanon, Or., Sept. 15.—It costs more to be sick here today. The Central Willamette Valley Medical association, meeting here adopted a new price scale and boosted the cost of everything from court plaster to an operation for appendicitis.

With the demand for houses greater than the supply, the need of an up-to-date apartment house for Baker, the Herald asserts, is more apparent now than ever.

"Gee, That's Classy"

Perhaps that's a little slangy but never the less its meaning expressed a lot of feeling and enthusiasm when the young lady spoke those words about a coat that was shown her in our ready-to-wear department. She could find no other words to quickly express herself. You will be pleased with the wonderful showing in Suits and Coats that we are offering this season. Style and snap has been put into the materials and the finished garment comes to you a fashion favorite. You'll enjoy a look through this department and we will take a lot of pleasure in showing these new and pretty articles of apparel.
