Wall Street Chirps Up Over Government Action

New York, Sept. 21.--The New York Evening Sun financial review today said:

Wall Street wore a more cheerful aspect today than it has for a long time because one of the long standing uncertainties has been removed by the official announcement of the government copper price at 23 1/2 cents a pound. Not only was this price a better one than many people had been led to expect, but as a harbinger of Washington's fairness toward other commodities, particularly steel, it was very gratefully received. The summoning of Judge Gary and other leading steel men to the capital for a conference gave ground for belief that the steel price announcement might be forthcoming within the next few days.

The stock market behaved in a manner suggesting that the copper price fixed upon was not altogether a surprise. The sugar stocks were depressed to some extent by the price agreement and the handing over of the market in that staple to an international board. News developments were generally of a favorable nature.

giving the state board examination to several prospective druggists who are just at present serving their country in the ranks. The regular examination for pharmacists will not be held until October 16, but as the chances are the boys may be far away by that date, Mr. Ward did the right thing by going to the camp and holding the examinations.

Clearance sale of sewing machines--I have some reverted sewing machines almost new, in such well known makes as New Home, Singer, White, Standard and Davis. I will sell these cheap to clean up this stock. If in need of a sewing machine come and see these machines. Geo. C. Will, 432 State St.

Salem is responding freely to the call for books to be sent to the several cantonments. The total number is 322 and all are standard books. These have been shipped to the library base at Portland and another shipment will be made within the next week. The library fund of $750 now being raised in the city is for the building of proper homes for the books and to also buy additional works in order that each unit will be a well balanced library in itself.

Complete stock of fresh pickling Miss A. McCulloch, optometrist, Hubbard building, will be out of the city until Oct. 1.

Miss Lucile Barton will soon return from New York to open her vocal classes.

During state fair week, Lieutenant J. I. Simpson and Sergeant Mason of the Canadian army will be in Salem with headquarters at the U. S. army recruiting station for the purpose of giving information to those who feel it their duty to assist the mother country.

Free transportation is provided for the Englishmen in this country who will enlist for the war, according to Capt. J. W. Carter, officer in charge of the British recruiting station at Portland. Not only will men be received who are physically capable of going to the firing line but even those who have some minor physical defect will be accepted. After the war, should recruits desire to return to the place from which they enlisted, transportation will be given them.

Do you know the trade or profession--the vocation for which you are best adapted? I have qualified as a vocational counselor and efficient engineer and am at your service. Heady, Phone 1355.

Scandinavian day will be celebrated at the fair grounds next Sunday, Sept. 23, and to accommodate the Scandinavian chorus of 75 singers and others from Portland, the Oregon Electric will run two specials. The first train will leave Portland at 9:30 a. m. arriving in Salem at 11:15 o'clock and the second train will leave at 12:15 p. m. arriving in Salem at 2 p. m. The specials will leave Salem at 9 o'clock arriving in Portland at 10:45, although the excursionists may return on any O. E. train.

"The Loose Nut" is the name of the paper published on the train that will carry 200 or more Elks and Portland boosters to Salem next Thursday. Fun and all arrangements have been made with this single idea in mind. Hence the publication of "The Loose Nut." The excursion will be also a home affair as reservations have been made for several families. Certain seats will be reserved in the grand stand for the Portlanders and the chances are those who do come Thursday next are coming to have a real time.
