Senator LaFollette Grilled By Colonel and Bishop

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Senator La Follette's ears must be burning today. "The Hun within our gate," "the most sinister foe of democracy at this moment" and "a cause for shame and humiliation of every worthy American" were only a few of the statements hurled at the Wisconsin senator by Theodore Roosevelt in a speech before 12,000 persons in the stockyards pavilion last night. The colonel sketched a picture of the sinking of the Lusitania. "Senator La Follette condones the actor of the brutes guilty of that murder," he shouted. "I wish you could make him a gift to the kaiser." Bishop Samuel Fallows who won a brigadiership in the Civil War, leading men from La Follette's state, presented resolutions by the National Security league, under whose auspices the meeting was held, demanding La Follette's expulsion from the senate. They were adopted without a dissenting voice. "An eminent statesman spoke of a million men springing to arms," declared Roosevelt, and was interrupted by shouts "old Doc Bryan." "They are still springing," continued the colonel. "At Rockford are 5,000 rifles—four men to a rifle. And they are old-fashioned Krags. At other camps they are drilling with broomsticks. "We have been eight months at war and have an aeroplane—one." Roosevelt will visit Fort Sheridan and the Great Lakes naval training station today and make short speeches.  GOT LIFE SENTENCE  Petrograd, Sept. 26.—General Sukhomlinoff, former minister of war, was found guilty of treason today and sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for life. *****

 Resources of Coos County Win First Award *****

The sweepstake prize of $100 in the agricultural department was awarded to Coos county.

The prize was awarded, according to Mrs. Winnie Braden, superintendent of this division, because the exhibit was the one that was the most representative of a county's resources.

Coos county competitors were Polk and Baker.

Fair visitors are unanimous in their opinion that this year's exhibits are the best in the history of Oregon's state fair.

Considering the cause in which he expended the effort, did you ever know anybody that was arder to convince than Congressman Heflin that he was spurious versant?

William W. Brown Has Assisted University and Old People's Home

William W. Brown of Crooke county has been visiting Salem recently. He is, in a very substantial way, identified with this city, and indeed with this region of country generally. He has recently pledged $6000. of the $40,000, which Willamette University is proposing to put into the erection and equipment of a girls' dormitory. He is also much interested in the erection of a new and more commodious structure for the Old Peoples Home, and in another location distant from the noise of the railroads. For this purpose he has donated $10,000, on condition that the board of directors secure a like amount to be added to his gift. The board has already raised over half the amount required to secure Mr. Brown's gift. Something over $4000 is yet to be secured. People who have any interest in this worthy benevolence will see the need of coming promptly to the help of the board.

Colonel Wants Better Training Camp Conditions

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 27.—Colonel Roosevelt, newspaperman, has started his first campaign. It is to better conditions of men in the national army at Camp Funston. When the colonel, wit Major General Leonard Wood, addressed Kansas City business men at a luncheon Monday, he asked newspapers to investigate the reason for the shortage in blankets, uniforms and equipment at Funston. The result has been a series of exposes, ending in charges in this morning's edition of the Kansas City Star that there is as yet no heat in the barracks at the camp and that there will be none before the latter part of October, and probably not before Christmas. It rained all day yesterday at the camp and last night the temperature was near freezing. Men slept in unheated rooms wrapped in army overcoats and cast-off clothing, according to the Star's correspondent. Many of the men have no change of clothing, having been instructed to report at the camp with nothing but a tooth brush and when their clothes were soaked in yesterday's downpour they had no means of drying them, according to the Star's story. Don't we all wish we had a set of altnis as good as the vacant lot gardener in Oregon has this year!

MANY FARM LOANS.

Franz Kraxberger, president of the Macksburg Federal Land Loan Association, has just received notice that applications for loans amounting to $62,000 have been granted by the Federal Land Bank at Spokane. Applications for some $19,000 more are pending and will be granted in due time. The Macksburg Association operates in both Clackamas and Marion county. The average loan approximates $2900, though some are for amounts as low as $500. These loans are paid off in small installments, the farmer being given 36 years to complete the payments if he wishes that much time, but he may repay the loan at any time if he desires to do so. The rate of interest in either case is 5 per cent. These loans are all made to take up old mortgages bearing higher rates of interest; to build new barns, dwellings, silos, etc., to purchase machinery and farm equipment; to clear or drain land and to make improvements of any kind. —Aurora Observer. Mr. Hoover, evidently, has not yet had time to pay his respects to those who banker for the third cup of Java.
