RAILROADS MAKE REQUEST FOR BLANKET RATE RAISE
Washington, Oct. 17.—Permission to file a petition for blanket rate increases of 15 per cent on all commodities not favorably acted upon by the interstate commerce commission in its June 30 decision was asked this afternoon by the eastern railroads.
At the same time, George Stewart Patterson, spokesman for the railroads at the informal hearing before the commission, served notice that the eastern carriers would again request more drastic rate increases soon.
The railroads will require about sixty days to prepare the new tariffs immediately needed to increase their revenues so as to fit themselves for constantly increasing war demands, Patterson told the commission. Authority was asked to withdraw schedules for increases which were recently suspended by the commission.
"It will not be very long," said Patterson, "before the needs of the eastern railroads will be brought to the attention of the commission in a much more general and specific way, much immediate relief which might be granted will only be temporary."
The commission took the carriers' request under advisement.

ASK BUSINESSMEN TO SUPPORT PAPERS TO SUPPORT PAPERS

College and High School Publications Defended by School Heads

Carl Gregg Doney, president of Willamette University and John W. Todd, superintendent of the city schools, met last evening with the members of the Business Men's League and discussed the proposition as to whether the High School Clarion and The Collegian should metaphorically fold up their tents and go out of business to save the business man the expense of advertising, or whether the two papers were really worth while and were of benefit to the city.
After it was all over, the Business Men's League went on record pledging its support to the two papers and to the maintenance of the High school and Willamette University.
Dr. Doney spoke in part as follows: "I think Willamette University is of some value to Salem, and to the business men of the city. No college in the country has a better paper than the Collegian. It has a circulation of from 1800 to 2000 and is sent to the high schools throughout the state, to the alumni and a number of the citizens of Salem.
"It is the best advertising medium the University has. Advertising in the Collegian is not a gift, as merchants get value received. There are dozens of families come to Salem each winter on account of the University. I note that in the reports of the Commercial club, no mention is made of the University, excepting that we have 150 students. The Commercial club letter head says 150, yet we have 382.
All the money we get is spent in Salem excepting the few things we cannot buy here. If your organization will get behind us and not throw rocks, more people will come here."
Wants Campus Fixed Up.
Hal D. Patton said that the merchants were loyal to the University although some thought the High school Clarion and Willamette Collegian could be dispensed with. Mr. Patton thought the campus was a disgrace to the city and had heard some very unfavorable opinions about it. He thought the grounds should be kept up just like those of the state house. He said the merchants were not knocking, but just wanted to know if the Collegian was a necessary part of the University.
Dr. Doney acknowledged that the campus was not as pretty as it should be, but they had only $40,000 a year to run the University. Not a professor was receiving the salary he ought to have, Dr. Doney said, and yet he did not dare go in debt to fix up the campus. There was one way—and that was to cut the salaries of the teachers or to collect money from the citizens.
"We asked Mr. Wallace and Mr. Park, to let us take water from Mill street to get water for the campus, but they told us they did not care to establish a precedent," Dr. Doney declared. "We thought one of digging a well, but it would cost $500 to lay the pipes and $300 a year for the water. We just couldn't afford it. We need a dormitory for the girls, and if the Commercial club says the need for a fine campus is greater than the needs of the young women, it would have great weight with the trustees."
High School Point of View.
John H. Todd, superintendent of the city schools spoke on the school system, explaining that in the present day it is much more complex than a generation ago. By means of charts, he explained the present system of handling the school in order that no time may be lost, either by the teachers or pupils. Under the present system, he explained, how the pupils did 53 per cent more work than under the old plan. Besides that learned from books, Mr. Todd explained that the boys in the manual training did practical work in keeping the ten school buildings in repair. Also how the girls in the domestic sewing work not only learned how to sew, but to do practical work for themselves. In the commercial work, Mr. Todd explained how the students were called on to do practical work for the school board, and actual work in his office, besides the accounting for the ten school buildings.
Aware of the fact that business men in general know but little of the actual working of the school system, Mr. Todd insisted that the men visit the schools a few hours, take a chance at the 10 cent lunch and really see what the system is like. W. H. Hamilton thought the idea of visiting the schools a good one.
Now instead of asking the Clarion and Collegian to get off the map, a resolution was unanimously passed by the League giving both papers its support and recognizing their worth to the community.
And thus ended the first conference between the two leading educational institutions of the city and the Business Men's League.
ing them to vigorously support this bill.
As yet, there has been no bill introduced calling for the building of this highway. The preliminary step of survey is now being fought out and if the people interested will not urge the passage of the bill for the survey, it is a sure thing there will never be a bill introduced for the highway.
F. T. Harris of Seattle, an engineer, is now in Washington and writes here that if the Oregon people cannot accomplish something now, they had better forget the proposition. He writes the only way the east congressmen can get favorable action on this proposed survey is for the towns interested to get busy and say something about it.

Field Representative of Coast Defense League

William G. Patton, special field representative of the Pacific Coast Defense League, is in the city en route to the Coast bay country to interest the people of that section of the state in the proposed military highway.
A bill has been introduced by Senator Chamberlain appropriating $250,000 for the survey of this military highway and as it will come up for passage early in December, Mr. Patton says that it behooves the people of this valley to take the trouble to write their senators and representatives urging the bill.

GOVERNMENT MAY CONSCRIPT MONEY
McAdoo Intimates That Sure Methods of Getting Funds May Be Necessary

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 17.—An intimation that the government might conscript money, if necessary to carry on the war, was seen today in Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo's parting message to San Diegoans, delivered in an address on the second Liberty loan last night.
When the government is conscripting its young manhood, is there any reason why it should be more tender with its dollars?" he asked.
McAdoo then explained that the government needed money for the war, fourteen billion before June 30, 1918. He said that there were three ways open to raise this, taxation, bond issues and a happy combination of both in which the equilibrium of business will be preserved by correct apportionment.
He said that he hoped the latter would obtain, but that if necessary the government will conscript the money necessary to carry on the war.

German Submarine Threat Does Not Disturb Government Officials

Washington, Oct. 17.—Germany's reported intention to establish a submarine zone about the United States, Canada and Cuba was taken here today with a touch of skepticism. Despite this, however, naval authorities said it was entirely possible that the Germans would endeavor to extend their sphere of operations, now that they are building larger U-boats.
Such a zone, however, would avail the Germans little, it is felt here. By maintaining their vessels on the European side they are near home bases and have a better opportunity to carry on their ruthlessness than at such a distance as this coast, experts point out.
Moreover, torpedoing off the American shores would be undoubtedly one of the best stimulants to war spirit thus far developed and there have been evidences that Germany, realizing this, would avoid undertaking it.

GERMANS INTENDED.
New York, Oct. 17.—Fritz Kuhn, son of a German banker, whose father is a general in the Kaiser's army, are under arrest as enemy aliens here today.
They will be interned, Kuhn visited Count von Bernstorff, when the German ambassador was engaged in his plottings.

A SIMPLE WAY TO REMOVE DANDRUFF
There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.
You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Soldiers Guard "Great White Way" Outside Camp Lewis
Camp Lewis, Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 17.—The "great white way," just outside the military reservation here, is today encircled by a cordon of military police, under orders from Major General Greene, commandant of the camp, and no soldier is permitted to enter. With the amusement zone thus barred by a dead line, authorities think they will soon be able to "freeze out" objectionable persons. Proprietors of many of these places have closed their doors, but a few remain open. Fifteen women employed in the stores along the street left for Tacoma immediately. A number of soldiers were found in the places when the military police swooped down.
There were three arrests for selling liquor on the so-called "joy streak" last week and four women "clerks" were ordered to leave. Complaints already have been made of sanitary conditions.
