Here is a valuable suggestion to some of the business men and he who runs may read. After midnight of October 31, 1917, the war revenue act becomes effective, providing for the collection of a 3 per cent tax on all freight bills. Both of the railroads in the city will be obliged to begin charging the extra three per cent on all freight not only on all freight bills in the office, but those that happen to come in a few hours after midnight of Oct. 31. In order to escape this tax it behooves merchants who may have overlooked a freight bill of a few days before the 31st to get busy and visit the freight office and dig up. The freight agent will have nothing to do but just take on that war three per cent on every bill he happens to have on hand when he gets down to the office on the morning of Nov. 1.

SOCIETY

By ALINE THOMPSON

YESTERDAY chronicled one of the most attractive of the early winter social functions, when the Monday afternoon club entertained with a large bridge for the benefit of the Red Cross. The affair was given at the F. A. Moore residence, which is ideally adapted to large functions, and was a delightful success.

Twelve tables were arranged for the players, each member of the club asking four of her friends.

Mrs. George F. Rodgers is here from Astoria and will remain until sometime next week.

The West Central Circle of the First Methodist church was entertained on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. William H. Byars and her daughter, Mrs. Ronald C. Glover.

Early in the afternoon a short business meeting was held and plans were made for the season's work. The various circles of this church do a vast amount of good at all times, but this year the members are planning to do a harder than ever for the outline dictates that Red Cross work and patriotic activities of various kinds will be of the programme.

Later the afternoon was rounded out with sewing and refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Turner and their daughter, Miss Joy Turner, have returned from Cascadia where they spent the week end.

Mrs. J. William Chambers and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Chambers, who came to Salem yesterday to attend the marriage of the former's son, George Frederick Chambers to Miss May Stensloff, returned home today.

Monday night, a Japanese entertainment was given at the regular social evening of the Rebekah lodge at the lodge rooms.

The members in charge of the programme were gaily clad in Japanese costumes and included Mesdames Gertrude Cummings, May Culver, Tisla B. Simeral, Florence Viesko and Effie King.

The rooms were attractively adorned with scarlet geraniums and Japanese lanterns.

After the programme refreshments were served and were carried out in keeping with the affair, the guests sitting about on the floor in Japanese fashion.

The following was the programme:

ECONOMY ASKED

will arrive. Acute famine feared.

Boston--Price 10 1-2 cents; sugar scarce; sales restricted.

The far west and the Pacific coast was practically the only general section of the country not affected by the shortage. Reports from these sections follow:

San Francisco--No shortage here. One big dealer said sugar crops this summer normal Hawaiian crop depends entirely on weather.

Denver--Retail sugar beet prices $8.05 per hundred weight; cane $9.45.

New crop from Greeley district just coming on market and supply plentiful.

Portland, Or.--Sugar prices wholesale, from $8 to $9.50. Market not unusually short and no restriction on purchases.

Conferees here have been particularly hard hit by the shortage. Until recently they were working eight hours a day. Now they are working eight hours, and with curtailed forces.

Packers also are feeling the effects of the shortage. Ordinarily, the cheapest grades of sugar are used by them.

Recently, a packer bought an entire carload of the highest priced table sugar on the market--the only available then and broke open the packages to use it in his product.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh both reported no apparent shortage as yet, with prices not unduly high.

"The refiners cannot get the raw material here," said one of the biggest producers in New York today to the United Press.

"We have closed down entirely now because raw sugar is simply not on the market," reported the Warner Sugar refining company.

Other authorities said the new crop will not begin to come in until the middle of November--and then the western beet sugar is relied upon to help out.

The Louisiana crop is reported normal and it will be the first cane sugar crop on the market.

Cuba's crop will not be ready until about December 15. The present refiners' price for sugar is $8.55 per hundred weight.

The normal margin for sugar handling is about a cent and a half a pound.

Where sugar refiners today protested they were "up against it" was the beet sugar men's agreement with the food administration not to pay more than $7.25 per hundredweight at sea-time to produce first. This, the refiners say, compels the cane refiners to buy at the same price, otherwise they cannot compete with beet prices.

Housewives Feel Pinch.

New York, Oct. 18.--New York housewives felt the first pinch of war on their food supplies today when they found it impossible to buy large quantities of sugar.

Many dealers refused to sell more than one pound to any one individual. Other grocers set the limit at two pounds, but refused to sell until $1 worth of other goods was taken. Retailers demanded 12 cents a pound for sugar in many instances.

Dealers declared they were unable to get sugar from the refiners and predicted acute shortage by the end of the week.

Housewives who tried to lay in a good sugar supply by going from store to store and buying the maximum allowance of two pounds, found grocers refusing to sell any sugar whatsoever except to regular customers.

Says West Has Plenty.

San Francisco, Oct. 18.--The west need not fear a sugar famine and there

Reading, Customs of Japan, Mrs. David Wright, instrumental solo, Japanese Wedding March, Mrs. Lizzie Waters, Vocal solo, "Where the Cherry Blossoms Fall," Mrs. R. W. Simeral.

In a Japanese musical play, entitled, "Japanese Reception," the following took part: Gladys Albin, Margaret King, Maude Engstrom, Elvise Wright, Eleanor Wright, Evelyn Cummings, Gwendolen Hubbard, Ruth Chenoweth, Elizabeth Waters, Helen McElroy and Hazel McElroy.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy D. Leedy and daughter, Miss Lois Leedy, expect to leave soon for Washington, D. C., where Mr. Leedy has accepted a position in the public service commission.

Mrs. Abbie Farrar, who spends the greater part of her time in Salem with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Farrar, left yesterday for a visit in Portland.

Last Thursday, the Artisans held an open meeting, several supreme officers being here. A feature of the meeting was an interesting programme, which included an artistic Highland Fling skirt dance by Myrtle Shipp, a pupil of Mrs. Ralph White; and violin duets by Ross Harris and Oswald Seaverson, students of Miss Joy Turner.

Orchestra music also was enjoyed and at a late hour refreshments were served.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rosenquist returned from a short visit in Portland.

While there they enjoyed a tour of the Columbia Highway.

A drill and knitting club was organized at the Salem high school on Wednesday night, with Miss Guffin as faculty advisor.

The purpose of the club is for drilling one hour and knitting an hour every Wednesday evening.

The knitting will be sent to the soldiers or turned over to the Red Cross.

The officers elected were Miss Esther Busch, president; Miss Lucy Holt vice president; Miss Ruth Barnes, secretary and treasurer, and Miss Ina Proctor reporter.

The woman's auxiliary of St. Paul's Episcopal church will meet at the home of Mrs. Frances Newberry 1293 Center street, Friday (tomorrow) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

will be plenty of sweetness not only for the United States, but for her allies during the next few months, if the housewives keep their heads.

But if the housewives become panic-stricken and begin buying sacks of sugar just on the chance there is going to be a shortage, then there will be trouble ahead.

That is the opinion of a leading western sugar dealer expressed here today.

"There is no reason to believe that the sugar yield will be below normal this year," he declared. "The beet sugar supply of the western states will keep the west supplied. There may be a little pinch in the east until the Cuban, Hawaiian and other cane crops are on the market."

Farmers File Protest.

Denver, Oct. 18.--Charging that low prices paid the producers and child labor employed by foreigners have driven near all farmers, except the foreign element, out of the Colorado beet sugar industry, an appeal from growers to Herbert Hoover to fix the price paid to farmers for sugar beets, is today on its way to Washington.

The letter, signed by Thomas Park, president of the Fort Morgan Farmers' union; J. M. Collins, president of the State Farmers' union, and J. A. Hicks, president of the Rocky Mountain States Sugar Beet Growers association, declares that a "terrible tragedy is being enacted here."

"We are sure that you are totally unaware of it, or some effort would have been advanced; but now that you know, we feel that some effort will be made by you," says the letter.

Taking the Great Western Sugar company which handles the bulk of the crop of this section, as an example, the appeal gives production figures to show that sugar companies make a net profit of $238.40 from each acre of beets, while the farmer averages $4 profit per acre.

The huge Liberty loan purchases of the Great Western and other sugar companies are commended and the letter adds:

"We are only human and we feel that some surging impulse to support our country in her time of need. Cannot you make it possible for us to come more closely into possession of what we would deem a more equitable division of the profits in this great industry, that we may also purchase Liberty bonds and share in the supreme glory of responding to our country's call?"

Warning that Thomas B. Stearns, food controller for Colorado, is not building a beet sugar factory, the farmers point out that his interests "are directly opposite to those of the farmer" and warn Hoover in case he decides to investigate the situation, to secure his data from unbiased sources.

The Great Western Sugar company, in addition to its regular quarterly dividend of 1 1/2 per cent on common stock, has declared three extra dividends of 10 per cent each, amounting to $4,500,000, already this year.

SICK WIFE'S STORY SURPRISES SALEM

The following has surprised Salem: A business man's wife suffered from dyspepsia and constipation for years. Although she dieted she was so bloated her clothes would not fit. ONE SPOONFUL of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler's relieved her INSTANTLY. Because Adler's empties BOTH large and small intestine it relieves ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has QUICKEST action of anything we ever sold. J. C. Perry, druggist.

Secretary Lansing Takes Sides with Sweden

Washington, Oct. 18.--That Secretary Lansing has ordered the American ambassador at London to intervene in Sweden's behalf to secure the release of diplomatic mail held up in the British embassy was claimed by Swedish officials today.

Secretary Lansing declined to discuss the subject. It was not denied that the state department consented to cable Stockholm in the Swedish code for Minister Ekinberg, who is denied his privilege by Great Britain, as a result of the Luxemburg "spurious ver-sunk" affair.

On the highest Swedish authority here it was learned today that dominating figures in the war trade board have championed the Sweden's cause in order to release economic data in the three mail pouches and one valise the British hold.

If the British break the seals and inspect the mails without official permission from the Swedish foreign office, a rupture in diplomatic relations between the two countries is likely to follow. Swedish and other neutral diplomats here stated. Neutrals fear such a precedent.

Then, too, American soldiers have got to have their turkey dinner, regardless. So this huge inroad into the supply is going to have its effect on prices also.

It is not sufficient that today's Liberty bond purchases shall exceed--perhaps far exceed--yesterday's total. Each day must show what each previous day should have shown, and an excess to make up for previous days' deficiencies besides.

Mrs. Smith Recommends Chamberlain's Tablets

"I have had more or less stomach trouble for eight or ten years," writes Mrs. G. H. Smith, Brewerton, N. Y. "When suffering from attacks of indigestion and heaviness after eating, one or two of Chamberlain's Tablets have always relieved me. I have also found them a pleasant laxative." "These tablets tone up the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. If you are troubled with indigestion give them a trial, get well and stay well."
