DISCUSSED IN LONDON
By Ed L. Koenig
(London, Oct. 29.—The Italian situation dominated the whole war viewpoint today.

Engulfed by an overwhelmingly superior force in men and guns, Italy's armies were fast being thrown back in a rout. The whole British press was unanimous today in insisting that the allies must grant immediate aid.

Although all circles reiterated their confidence in General Cadorna's strength and ability later to stem the tide, nevertheless many newspapers today pointed out that the enemy's power had been gravely miscalculated by the allies.

General Cadorna's admission of disaffection in his ranks was more disquieting than the losses—staggering as these have been reported by Berlin and Vienna. The Teutons were now claiming 100,000 prisoners and seven hundred guns.

If Italy's morale holds up, it was regarded as certain that Cadorna would be able to make a stand on the plains that time it was expected that allied aid would be reaching Italy.

Political Effect Worst
The political effect of the German drive was more feared here than the military results. The Italians are outnumbered in men more than four to one along practically the whole of the attacking front.

The Germans massed their men behind the lines and smuggled guns into position at night. Their bombardment opened with a terrific fire from guns whose positions had not even previously been suspected by the Italians.

No such artillery fire has been attained by the Germans since Verdun as that which was poured over the Italian positions.

Outnumbered in guns and men, Cadorna's troops from that time on were victims of a great war machine pursuing the same tactics which the Germans so successfully adopted in Rumania, and a war machine led by the master who conducted that Rumanian campaign, General von Mackensen.

New Road Districts Made of Each Town by the County Court
The Marion County Court in compliance with section 24, chapter 29 of the session laws of 1917 has set aside each incorporated city or town in a separate road district.

Hereafter many such towns were in road districts including territory outside their boundaries, which complicated the matter of taxes. Under the new arrangement each city or town is a road district, but it is subject to the law quoted above, which provides that the county court may levy a tax of not to exceed ten mills for road purposes, 70 per cent of which remains in the district and 30 per cent to be used in the county at large as the court may direct.

The new districts under this arrangement are 71, Aumsville; 72, Aurora; 73, Butteville; 74, Donald; 75, Gervais; 76, Hubbard; 77, Jefferson; 78, Mt. Angel; 79, St. Paul; 80, Salem; 81, Scotts Mills; 82, Silverton; 83, Stayton; 84, Sublimity; 85, Turner; 86, Woodburn; and 87, West Woodburn.

ITALIANS HOLDING MUCH OF TERRITORY GAINED DURING YEAR

While Defeat Is Bad Germans In Danger From Transportation Difficulties

(By J. W. T. Mason, United Press Staff Correspondent.)
New York, Oct. 29.—The Austro-Germans have won their first battle in their effort to drive Italy out of the war, but the situation is no more serious for the allied cause than were the early successes of the Germans when they attempted to capture Verdun and paralyze France's morale.

The German thrust at Verdun caught the French just as the Italians have been taken unawares by the present Teutonic offensive. But as the French were able to hold firm after the first shock, so may the Italians maintain their new line when the initial Teutonic impetus is spent.

No such prolonged offensive can be maintained by the Austro-Germans in Italy as the Hohenzollern crown prince continued against Verdun, because neither men nor munitions are available in such numbers and quantities.

This fact is to the advantage of General Cadorna, as the circumstances that the advance of the Teutons is so bending the battle front as greatly to shorten it.

The Italians, though losing heavily in captured men and guns, are now better able to concentrate their reserves than when the Austro-German advance began.

Any superiority in leadership that Germans may present might be more than counter-balanced by the fact that the present Teutonic line of communications into Italy is through difficult mountain country, where fatal delays may occur. The Teutons have advanced perhaps ten miles into Italy along a five mile front. The Italians still hold five times this area of Austrian territory to the west and south of Gorizia.

Serious the situation undoubtedly is, but there is no reason yet for extreme pessimism.

FOOD SUBSTITUTION CAMPAIGN HAS BEGUN

If You Have Not Signed Card Do So at Once and Then Display It

Have you signed a home pledge card yet?
Have you enlisted in the Hoover "service by substitution" army to do your duty toward winning the war for democracy and in the cause of humanity and justice?

If you have not signed a pledge card which was brought to you by the children of the public or private schools of Salem it is your duty to sign it at once and return it to the child so that it may be taken back to the school and a membership card, indicating that you have joined the United States food administration.

If you have not procured a pledge and home card through the medium of the schools, or other source, the volunteer workers assigned to canvass duty in your district, will call upon you either Wednesday morning or afternoon, or some later time during the week until Sunday November 4, and ask you to sign.

If you are not to be at home on Wednesday please leave word with a neighbor as to when you will return for the information of the district workers, to save them further necessity of inquiry and loss of valuable time and to insure you that the worker will return and present the pledge card for your signature.

If you have been missed by the district worker after Thursday telephone your name and address to 402. At any rate one must be sure that he or she has signed a pledge card and secured a window membership card not later than Sunday, November 4.

If you have secured your home membership card please display it in your front window, or some other conspicuous place not later than Tuesday evening. This will not only save you unnecessary annoyance on the part of the district workers, but it will save them unnecessary time and worry in covering their districts. They will call at homes only in which window cards are not on display after Wednesday morning.

Hoover's big food conservation drive is in full blast throughout Salem and Marion county and it is proposed, and earnestly hoped to have every household in Marion county enlisted in the big "service by substitution" army before the close of the campaign, Sunday November 4.

The Salem committee is getting the organization in good order and it is expected that over 300 district workers will start Wednesday morning to make the canvass of the homes of the city which have not been reached thru the schools.

Each committeeman, as chairman of a certain portion of the city assigned to him, has selected district leaders for each of his sub-divisions. These district leaders have a list of volunteer workers in their districts and it is up to them to get every worker under his direction and assemble them for instruction and organization in the work.

These district leaders, in the majority of cases, received notification of their selection by the committeemen on Saturday and many of them have already taken hold and arranged meetings with their corps of workers for this evening, at a convenient point within the district. At this meeting the workers are to be arranged in pairs or teams assigned to a definite territory within the district. A specified time of meeting will be arranged and district leaders at a central point within the district will also be arranged at this meeting and the workers will start out simultaneously under the direction of the leader.

Italian Army Is Fighting Furiously

Washington, Oct. 29.—Kaiser Wilhelm will join Emperor Karl of Austria tonight on the Austro-German front in Northern Italy, official cables from Rome stated late today.

At the same time the first encouraging note was struck in reports of the great battle raging on the Italian plains when it was stated that the major portion of the Italian army is fighting furiously.

Some positions were won and lost a dozen times before General Cadorna's forces yielded ground. Thousands of German prisoners have been taken, the cables say.

At least three armies are fortifying positions along the Tagliamento river, to which Cadorna is now driving his troops, it was announced.

Replying to board of regents of Oregon University, Attorney General Brown holds that the funds provided for maintenance of that institution can be used in furnishing and equipping the girls dormitory, in addition to other funds provided for the purpose.

In answer to the public service commission as to whether it has jurisdiction over navigable streams the attorney general holds that it has. The question came up in connection with the application of a company to establish booms on the Singaw river, and under General Brown's decision of the law, the commission clearly has jurisdiction.
