Personal Experience Proves Real Value of Remedy for Stomach Trouble

Having witnessed the effectiveness of Fruitola and Traxo in relieving his wife of a severe attack of gall stones, after the doctors had failed and declared nothing but an operation would help Mr. W. C. Dillehay, 513 Morton St., Nashville, Tenn., felt impelled to publish his testimony in order that others who suffered from stomach trouble might be induced to at least try this treatment. In an unsolicited statement to the Pinus Laboratories Mr. Dillehay says: "After the doctors told us an operation was the only thing that could relieve my wife's condition, I heard of Fruitola and tried it as a last resort. I am thankful to say that Fruitola is conclusive evidence an operation is by no means necessary, and hope this wonderful remedy can be made known to all suffering humanity."

Fruitola and Traxo are compounded from the original Edsall formulas at the Pinus Laboratories, in Monticello, Ills., and can be purchased at Fry's Pharmacy, 280 N. Commercial St., a doctor's prescription is not necessary. Fruitola is a pure fruit oil that acts as an intestinal lubricant, and disintegrates the hardened particles that cause so much suffering, discharging the accumulated waste to the sufferer's intense relief. One dose is usually sufficient to indicate its efficacy. Traxo is a tonic alternative that is most effective to rebuild and restore the weakened, run down system.

A booklet of special interest to those who suffer with stomach trouble can be obtained by writing to the Pinus Laboratories, Monticello, Illinois.

ine engineered their coup with Germany's direct aid. In this connection it was regarded as highly significant that cables reported a German fleet near Helsinki, Finland. Svenborg, one of the great Russian naval fortifications, guards Helsinki and is one of a chain of naval defenses constituting the Baltic sea approaches to Petrograd.

Kronstadt, the fortress nearest Petrograd, has always been a fever spot of Bolshevik strength. Once, early in the summer, the garrison there revolted.

demonstrations in Petrograd, many of the paraders were Kronstadt sailors. Presumably Trotsky and his associates in the immediate peace plan now are supported by Kronstadt. If so, the German fleet would have no difficulty at all in sailing up to the Russian capital.

Heretofore the Bolsheviks have shown strength only in the larger cities like Petrograd and Moscow. The sentiment elsewhere throughout Russia for the faction has been negligible. The Petrograd council (Soviet) of workmen and soldiers has always been overwhelmingly Bolshevik. But this all Russian council of workmen and soldiers, an organization of all the local councils, has heretofore been anti-Bolshevik. Attention was called here today in connection with the Bolshevik claim of endorsement by this all-Russian body of their revolt, that only 200 members out of the full roster of 250 members were present. The number is significant, it was stated, since 200 is exactly the strength of the Bolshevik forces heretofore shown in that body. The Leninite and Trotsky supporters, therefore, laid their plans carefully, having only tried and true Bolshevik members in attendance.

Civil war is certain in Russia, but whether the war would be confined to Petrograd, or would rend the whole nation, could not be predicted.

In the meantime, a real winter is fast coming to close its icy grip over the nation. With the government utterly disorganized, Petrograd cut off from the rest of the nation, the whole population aligned into two groups and no organization for handling of food and supplies and industry paralyzed, the country faces a winter of horror.

It was the belief that the Bolshevik revolt would develop some liberal, holding Kerensky's views, but with

MR. ROBERT KINNEY (Althea Moore) of Astoria arrived in Salem yesterday for a visit and is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Moores.

Dr. George W. Grannis of Long Beach, Cal., who is passing a few weeks in Salem and vicinity, will be a week end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Vandervort.

Mrs. Stacey Reeves of Astoria arrived in Salem today and is visiting relatives for a few weeks.

Mrs. M. C. Pettys of the Wallace road was hostess for an informal afternoon on Wednesday, when she entertained the members of the Sweet Briar club.

About 14 guests shared in the hostess hospitality and the afternoon was made delightful by readings by Mrs. E. O. Moll and Mrs. G. Adams.

Two new members were initiated into the club and later the time was passed with needle work.

The rooms were prettily adorned with chrysanthemums and autumn leaves, and the hostess was assisted in the serving by Mrs. A. N. Bunn.

Mrs. John Ferguson who has been visiting Mrs. J. C. Ferguson several weeks, was a guest of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Jones left today for a short visit in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Henry Byars have had visiting them the former's brother, Benton Mires of Drain, Or.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Leith of Dixon, Ill., are visiting Mrs. D. W. Mathews and other relatives.

The Salem Woman's club will meet Saturday (tomorrow) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the public library.

Reports will be given from delegates who attended the State Federation recently held in Prineville.

Mrs. Roy H. Mills will have as her guest this week end, Mrs. Elmer Thorne of Newberg.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. B. L. Steves opened her home to the members of the Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church.

Over 40 ladies assembled for the meeting. During the afternoon Miss Twidwell gave an interesting talk on the "Peacocks' work among the Italians in San Francisco," and Miss Irene Dunbar sang a solo, accompanied by Miss Genevieve Finley.

Embassy Encouraged.

Washington, Nov. 9.—The Russian embassy was tremendously encouraged by the United Press report from Petrograd that the Kerensky government was taking a stand against the Bolsheviks. The embassy regarded as highly "improbable" the Stockholm report that Kerensky had been arrested.

"This is the first direct report of an encouraging nature we have had from Petrograd," said Secretary Sookline of the embassy, "and the Stockholm rumor must be considered as unauthentic and highly improbable."

Sookline said he was still without official advices from the provisional government and that fact alone gave the embassy concern.

The embassy reiterated that it was their belief the defection was purely local and confined to the Petrograd soldiers and workmen's council.

A report of the refusal by two Cossack regiments to obey the provisional government's orders does not impair Kerensky's authority seriously, stated the embassy.

Greater American war measures and deep anxiety over all-Russia's attitude toward the Petrograd revolt, were the principal official developments here today from Kerensky's deposition and flight. Russia was officially regarded as through with offensive fighting against Germany for some time.

Official hope that the situation is not as dark as the Maximalist reports from Petrograd painted it, is based on the absence of demands for a separate peace and Kerensky's strength outside of Petrograd. However, if the Bolshevik's platform is taken up by the entire nation and the army at the front, officials admit there will be little hope of Russia's active assistance against Germany until the Slavs' internal problems are settled definitely.

Kerensky's hesitancy in applying the mailed fist to the extreme radicals is blamed for the present chaos.

War Will Be Prolonged.

London, Nov. 9.—Kerensky's fall at Petrograd means indefinite prolongation of the war, according to belief of the London press today. It means also, in the belief of editorial writers, that henceforth a heavier burden is saddled on the United States and the allies.

The seemingly inevitable civil war was held to mean further disorganization, permitting withdrawal of more German troops from the Russian front—if not worse.

A majority of the London press made

Japan Cannot Assist.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—The new developments in Russia are evoking the sympathy of the Japanese government and the Japanese people for the Russian provisional government, according to Baron Megata, head of the special Japanese financial commission to America, here today.

"As a representative of the people and the government of Japan, I can sympathize heartily with the Russian provisional government," said the Baron.

"I hope, as my people hope, that they will come down to a settled state, whatever that will be, and make themselves once more a factor in the world war."

Megata pointed out that it would be impossible for the Japanese government to send troops to the front because of the difficulties of transportation, but that the navy is doing all it can to aid the allies.

A liberty loan for Japan, based on the American plan, may be a result of the visit of the Japanese.

"A liberty loan for Japan is highly desirable; I would heartily advocate it," said Baron Megata.

"Japan has been taking her full part in the war so far as she could. But money is tight; materials are scarce; food prices are up and conditions are far from normal. A source of revenue for the government, made possible by a liberty loan, would enable us better to co-operate with the allies."

Megata stated that Japan is building every ship that the yards can turn out, but the supply is far below the demand owing to lack of materials.

The Baron was the first Japanese graduate of Harvard, having received an LL. B. degree in 1874.

SIMPLE WAY TO END DANDRUFF

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single bit of dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

where they came or why. You wanted the land populated and gave no thought of the reasons that induced them to come.

"Although the Atlantic had by cable and steamship been contracted till it was no wider than the Mississippi you thought that America was isolated. But in the white house sat one man who thought otherwise and this man, President Wilson said, 'Keep still—don't discuss the war!'

"But America did not heed the warning. The war was discussed everywhere and finally the talk drifted to the Kaiser. He listened and misunderstood. Believing that America was so honey-combed with German sentiment that it would not dare declare war and thinking that if war was declared German sentiment would paralyze the arm of the government Kaiser Wilhelm announced his ruthless submarine campaign."

All this happened, Mr. Marshall declared, because Americans would not keep their mouths shut on war topics. If the Kaiser, he said, had known what he knows today—that the United States could raise 85,000,000,000 in six weeks and organize an army of a million men in less than six months—he would never have said the Lusitania or any other ship on which there was a single American.

"All this time, Wilson, criticized by many as 'too proud to fight,' sat in the white house watching, loving peace as he loves his God and hoping that neutrality might be preserved. Then when the Kaiser thought America divided and announced that he would sink all ships coming within certain limits, the last straw was laid on the camel's back and on the second day of April, 1917, President Wilson presented the facts to congress and that body almost unanimously voted to declare war."

"The people are to blame but I believe that the Americans will fight this fight as they have always fought—ready to spend their money and shed their blood in order to win. The Kaiser has submitted the decision to the barbaric method of battle, we have no choice but to do the same.

"But we must retain our ideals, we must not kill our principles. It is not our purpose to enforce anything on the German people that they themselves do not want. If the Germans want to keep the house of Hohenzollern we will be satisfied if we can keep it within Germany under a sentence of death if it steps as much as six inches over the German line."

The one compensation of this war, Mr. Marshall believes, is the fact that disproves the charge often made against the American people, that they are a money mad race without courage. "This can never be said again," he continued, "for no nation has ever raised as many men or as much money in so short a time as the United States."

"It is my belief," said Mr. Marshall, "that this is a divinely made and a divinely kept government, destined to make the whole world free, whose cornerstone is not composed of written documents but consists of the Golden Rule, 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.'"

"This war," concluded Mr. Marshall, "will never be settled for good by any mere treaty of peace. There must be some power to make peace. I hope to see a world tribunal. The only way for real peace is to have every person in the world represented in the government. The war had to come to work out the salvation of the world."

one common cause; winning this war for the cause of democracy.

"This is not the war of the administration," Mr. Marshall declared, "this is your war. You made it and you are responsible for it, and this is why you are here."

"When the war began in August of 1914, you, and every other American citizen, thought we were in no danger of becoming embroiled in it.
