Next Saturday there will be another tag day in Salem. This time it is for the benefit of Willamette Chapter, American Red Cross. And while people are doing something for the Red Cross the fact remains that while the soldiers are in France have been pretty well cared for in the way of Christmas packets, the boys at home in the cantonments are to be remembered. Hence the call for 415 additional packets of Christmas presents from the local Red Cross.

Under the direction of James W. Liott who has so successfully put on several plays in the city, the local Elks lodge will present "A Man From Home." The manuscripts have already been received and rehearsals are under way. The leading parts will be taken by prominent people of the city who have heretofore assisted in home theatricals. The play probably will be given the first week in December and the proceeds given by the Elks to some patriotic organization.
For several generations there has been a rather indistinct idea as to what the infernal region look like. This undesirable locality is sometimes called Sheol, then again Hades, and again Gehenna. The Anglo-Saxon word is just plain "hell." What we intended to say was that at the Bligh theatre this evening there will be shown this infernal region with all its fire and brimstone according to the ideas of Dante, who wrote all about it after taking an extensive tour of the place where the wicked are supposed to go. Anyhow, it's an interesting picture and one of the best the Bligh has offered for many a day.

It will be fine practice for the school children and also be appreciated by the soldier boys. In the Salem high school and also the three junior high schools, the English departments will write letters to the boys of Company M and tell them what is happening along the Willamette. In letters received from soldier boys the big complaint is that they do not receive enough letters from home.
The oldest inhabitants will be obliged now to talk of the remarkably dry fall weather and also the fact that on the 21st of November of 1917, the river was 1.5 feet below zero. Just about this time of the year the normal gauge of the river is four or five feet higher.

The women of St. Joseph's parish will give a card party Thursday night at Knights of Columbus hall. Cards at 8. Dancing at 10. Hunt orchestra.

G. H. Sellers received word yesterday of the death of his father at Cadlington, Ohio. He left for east last night.

A lecture on Christian Science will be delivered Thursday evening at the First Baptist church by the Rev. F. W. Carstens of Medford. The lecture is entitled, "Is It Christian?" This lecture has been delivered by Mr. Carstens in many places and is highly commended as a thoughtful, frank and courteous presentation. The lecture is free and a silver offering will be taken.

Owing to the many attractions that will be on Thanksgiving eve, Salem lodge B. P. O. E. announces that its Thanksgiving dance will be held on Monday evening, Nov. 26, instead of Thursday evening as first announced. These dances have now become so popular with the Elks that to lodge room were taxed to its capacity at the two former dances.

At a meeting of the Central Trades Council held last evening the principal address was delivered by Otto Hartwig of Portland. Delegates from all the local unions were present. Arthur W. Lawrence presided as toastmaster and the evening's entertainment included a program of music and short talks, followed by refreshments. Two telephone girls and a line man who is on a strike were present and explained their position claiming loyalty to the government but that there was some grievance to be adjusted.

The man who is mechanically inclined is sure of a good job in the navy. A man who can qualify as a chief special mechanic, which means that he could become a foreman, will receive $145.70 a month and all found. A special mechanic of the first class will get on the payroll at $94 a month and all found. An engineerman of the first class starts in at $65.50 a month. The age limit is from 21 to 35 years and the navy wants thousands of men.

"For the benefit of our wives, daughters and sweethearts". This is the announcement made by the entertainment committee of the Elks through the secretary H. J. Wiedner, announcing that a musical entertainment will be given at the Elks' lodge Thursday evening of this week to which the ladies of the Elks' families are especially invited. The famous Hatcher quartet, which includes a harpist, violinist, singer and pianist will give the entertainment. E. Cooke Patton, chairman of the entertainment committee says this is something unique and that he was fortunate in securing such high class entertainers. There will be a brief session of the lodge and the entertainment will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Dr. Mendelsohn Will Leave On An Extended Vacation

Dr. M. P. Mendelsohn, the eye specialist, will leave Dec. 10th for California on a well deserved rest. The doctor has been working hard during the last six months and is very much in need of a vacation. The Doctor will meet with his children and their families in Fresno, California, on Dec. 14th when a family reunion will be held. Then the Doctor will spend ten days at Byron Springs for the benefit of his health, returning to Fresno in time to take Christmas dinner with one of his daughters, returning to Salem about January first.
