Stayton Birthday Club Has Enjoyable Meeting

(Capital Journal Special Service) Stayton, Or., Nov. 23.—Last week members of the Birthday club received invitations from Mrs. J. P. Wilbur inviting them to inspect city and suburban homes at his residence on Tuesday, Nov. 20. So on that date the club ladies gathered there and a most enjoyable time was had. The entertainment for the afternoon was indicated by the invitations and the ladies greatly enjoyed selecting and furnishing their homes. The ladies had a huge stack of magazines and cut pictures out of these to fit up their homes, so had a chance to make their selections at no cost whatever. When all the furniture had been gathered up and placed on large cards, these were collected by the hostess and the ladies were asked to vote on them. Mrs. Daugherty and Mrs. Pollis tied for first place, and were each presented with a cup and saucer. Mrs. Elder received the citation, a doll. Then the ladies were given clotheings and tissue paper to dress them, and these dolls were later used as place cards. Most excellent refreshments were served, and the table decorations are described as very beautiful. Autumn leaves and chrysanthemums were used. The affair was complementing Mrs. Wilbur's daughter, Mrs. Roy Hall, who will leave soon for her home in eastern Oregon after having spent the summer here. G. H. M. Brewer and wife of Aumsville were visiting relatives here Thursday.

Mrs. T. W. Creech of Linn county motored over Thursday to trade with Stayton merchants. Mrs. A. Kirk of Halsey and Mrs. I. Van Winkle of Portland are visiting at the J. P. Wilbur home. Loren E. Wilson who is in the navy and has been stationed at Honolulu for some time writes to home folks that he is once more back in the "good old U. S. A."

Mrs. A. Ruef was a Stayton caller Thursday. Several new people are moving to Stayton, among them are Edd Burnett, Miles Marshall and the George Miller family. Wednesday was Little Miss Louisa Thoms' sixth birthday and she entertained a party of little friends in honor of the occasion. John Blakely and wife left the first of the week for Crabtree, where he has installed a pitch camp. Mr. J. R. Blakely and little daughters left this week for their new home in Tacoma. They were accompanied as far as Albany by Mrs. Willard Goodman.

Workmen are busy at the Trotter building this week taking out partitions etc., getting the building ready for the big and dance which is to be held there on Thanksgiving eve. As stated before in this paper the proceeds from the dance will go for comforts for our boys who have joined the colors. The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gehlen has been seriously ill for the past week and the services of a trained nurse have been secured to help care for the little fellow. Will Walls who has been on the sick list for a week or more is now able to walk down town. The High school students went to Jefferson Wednesday afternoon where they put on a program before the Jefferson high. Later that school will return the visit.

THE MARKETS

The grain market undergoes considerable changes today. In general the tendency is upward. In fact there isn't any such thing as a lower price on anything made of wheat or corn, especially corn. There isn't any corn to be had, even in Portland, according to a commission man who was in the big city yesterday trying to buy cornmeal. Live turkeys will bring in Salem today from 19 to 21 cents, cash.

WAR BULLETINS

Rome, Nov. 23.—Counter attacks in the Asiago plateau region, the war of attrition continued, resulted in capture of 108 Tonicino prisoners. "Between the Brenta and Piave rivers," the statement said, "following violent artillery, the enemy attacked in dense infantry masses at dawn. The fighting throughout the day was of the most bitter character. Several positions more than once were lost, but promptly re-taken. In the evening," the statement continued, "the last enemy attack was definitely stopped after heavy costs to them."

Extension of "Barred Zone" by Germany

Amsterdam, Nov. 23.—Extension of the German "barred zone" for shipping to include the Azores and Greek waters, was announced in a Berlin dispatch received here today. The statement described the Azores as "containing important hostile bases for Atlantic navigation." Belgian relief ships and neutrals were allowed one week in which to withdraw from the new barred zone.

Burns family will move onto the place in a few days. The Bates family are enjoying a new Ford.

Fruitland Items

(Capital Journal Special Service) Fruitland, Nov. 23.—"The Huns were a warlike tribe of the Mongolian race, of uncouth, and hideous aspect and dreadful ferocity."—Anderson, Gen. Hist., p. 23. In the 5th century the Huns, under Attila defeated several Roman armies and ravaged the eastern empire from the Euxine to the Adriatic. "After extorting immense treasure from the empire of the east at the price of peace Attila formed an alliance with the Franks and marched into Gaul (now France) where he was defeated with terrible slaughter by the united forces of the Romans and Goths."—Anderson, pp. 125, 6. It is said he left on this field, at Chalons 300,000 dead (Gibbon, Dec. and fall of the Rom. emp.) which was an immense slaughter for the days before gun powder and modern man killing machinery. Attila, king of the hideous Huns, gathering a half million of savages, set forth westward, ravaging not to stop until he reached the sea. He called himself the scourge of God and boasted that where his horse set foot grass never grew again."—Iarna history of ancient, medieval and modern peoples, p. 268. The historian further states that as he was about to march on the city of Rome the pope met him and persuaded him to "spare the city," p. 249. The modern Huns are trying to do the same this fall. Whether the present Pope Benedict can persuade them to keep away remains to be seen. Some Bible expositors believe that Attila is foretold as fulfilling the third war trumpet of the book of Revelation; that he is the star and wormwood of chap. 8. "Answer not a fool according to his folly, lest thou also be like unto him" Solomon, Prov. 26:4.

Stock Market Today More Encouraging

New York, Nov. 23.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said: Today's stock market clearly reflected encouragement in two directions. In the first place, the short interests which were rendered extremely cautious by recent steps taken by the stock exchange authorities to look into short selling, are gradually getting back their courage and the accession to selling for the short account shows some expansion in consequence. On the other hand, new developments, as well as the psychological element have proved positive in imparting impetus to investment buying and in a more limited sense speculative as well. Stocks were not offered freely. While there were, therefore, occasional recessions in the general list, strength underlay the market and gains were at times one to four points and were well sustained.

Mr. Lewis Sawyer of Silverton is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Beer this week. L. Stevens left Sunday for Oregon City to visit his daughter, from there. WON'T EAT FRIED CHICKEN

Washington, Nov. 23.—Fried chicken and other delicacies were offered suffragettes by Occoquan workhouse officials today in an effort to break the protest hunger strike. All refused the tempting meal, suspecting a "plot" in connection with tomorrow's habes corpus hearing in Alexandria, Va.

City of Salem Must Build Adequate Wharf

If the city really wants any more money spent on the Willamette river in order that Salem might be granted water rates, the city itself must get busy and provide an adequate wharf, according to a communication to the Commercial club from the war department. In other words, the war department puts it up to Salem to build a municipal dock and then take the chances of securing greater river traffic and then after the river traffic and wharf are in evidence, there might be an appropriation for deepening the river instead of deepening the river to bring about river traffic and doing what it can to bring about this business, whereby a municipal dock might be necessary, the war department intimates there should be a dock first even if business does not justify it. F. G. Deckebach is chairman of a committee appointed several months ago to take up the municipal dock proposition, but it was dropped as the city seemed to have plenty of trouble on its hands solving the Willamette bridge proposition.

CITY NEWS

The county teachers' institute will be held in Salem three days beginning next Monday with sessions in the assembly room of the high school. Among the state institute teachers who will deliver addresses are J. A. Churchill, President Ackerman of the Monmouth Normal school and President Campbell of the University of Oregon. Professors Beck, Matthews and Elson of Willamette University are on the program for addresses. Monday evening Justice Wallace McCamant of the Supreme Court will deliver an address on Abraham Lincoln. The Salem grade and high school teachers will conduct various departments of the institute.

"Watch Your Step" on at the opera house this evening is undoubtedly one of the biggest shows that has come to the city for several years. It is a show billed at the Helig for four days and at the Metropolitan in Seattle for a week. Manager Bligh says that he can bring good shows to the city if there is the patronage and the one this evening will demonstrate whether the people in Salem really want first class entertainments. If the patronage this evening seems to indicate good shows are wanted, Mr. Bligh will arrange to bill others. But if first class entertainments like "Watch Your Step" are not appreciated, the chances for good plays in the future will be pretty slim. Tonight the show is a really New York Broadway musical entertainment.

Saturday is tag day for the Red Cross. The selling of the tags will be in the hands of the Honor Guard girls under the direction of Mrs. August Hucklestein, Jr. The tags are of a buff color with the printing in red. The money received from the tag day contributions is to be used entirely in purchasing presents for soldiers in the northwest. All letters received from Red Cross headquarters in Seattle tell of the need of more Christmas packets for the soldiers as so far the chances are that hundreds of soldiers will be without a Christmas remembrance unless the Red Cross can arrange to send them in greater numbers. The tags are ten cents each.

DENVER HIGHWAYMEN

Denver, Colo., Nov. 23.—Two highwaymen at noon tested the Italian-American bank here, covered the cashier with revolvers, took $1700 in cash, overlocking $5000 more and escaped in an automobile. To avoid paying pensions for the next two or three generations the government has gone into the insurance business. All enlisted men who are married or who pay money to have a child in support, are compelled to make an allotment of not more than half of their monthly pay and not less than $15 a month. A soldier who is, say 21 years old, can take out a maximum policy of $10,000 for $6.50 a month or $78 a year. If the soldier will make his wife or any other dependent an allotment of half his pay, the government will give the same amount. It is a 50-50 game. The amount the government will pay is fixed by law—$15 for a wife, $25 for a wife and child, $32 for a wife and two children and $5 for each additional child. For one parent the amount is $10, for two parents $20 and $5 for each brother or sister. The soldier of course must give more than half his pay and he cannot give less than the minimum. More information as to the insurance features of the army and navy may be had at the local recruiting office for the army on State street, or the navy recruiting station at the postoffice.

Wool Market Awaits Arrival of Foreign Clip

Portland, Or., Nov. 23.—Rather quiet tone is shown at the moment in practically all world's centers for wool. Arrival of cargoes of Australian wool is being generally awaited by the trade of the United States. While some business was reported recently in the Argentine count markets at previous prices, the tendency of mill interests has been to hold back to see what effect the foreign offerings would have upon the market. The Philadelphia Public Ledger says that pending arrival of Australian wools in the United States is acting as a drag on the local market. This first shipment from the 35,000 bales of released wools is due at Vancouver, B. C., some time this week, and those mill men not holding off entirely are endeavoring to make use of the event as a means of beating down prices. As a result of the attitude of the manufacturers, the market is more or less quiet. Although values of wool are no higher than a week ago, prices continue firm and sellers are obtaining asking figures.

TELEPHONE STRIKE APPARENTLY SETTLED

Portland, Or., Nov. 23.—Striking operators, linemen and repairmen of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company will probably return to work by the first of next week, following announcement of the agreement reached in San Francisco last night. Strike leaders here today declared they were much pleased with the agreement, recognition of the operator's union being their one particular cause for joy. Before they can return to work, however, a referendum vote must be taken. The strikers will meet tonight to discuss the situation and will probably vote tomorrow night to return to work. Following are the six vital features of the settlement as communicated by secretary of Labor Wilson, head of the mediation commission, to President Wilson yesterday at San Francisco: 1. Recognition of operators' unions and treating them as part of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. 2. Wage increase for operators. 3. Wage increase for men employees. 4. Provision for negotiations upon any further increases between company and employees and arbitration by a representative to be appointed by the secretary of labor as a last resort. 5. Provision for machinery to dispose of all grievances peacefully with the federal mediator as the court of last resort. 6. That the president's mediation commission is a party to the agreement, which is 40-40-20.

The tuberculosis hospital has been having considerable trouble with its water supply which is, and has been for some time, insufficient. Work of bringing in a supply begun some time ago has been delayed by inability to get pipe connections which were ordered from Portland. These are now available and a crew from the state hospital will rush the work, so that in a week or two the trouble will be over. Articles of incorporation were filed today as follows: P. E. Alvord company of Portland, capital stock $1000 and object to deal in unimproved real estate and to subdivide and place such properties on sale.
