The state board this afternoon re-elected State Bank Superintendent Sargent for the term of four years. It also sustained his action in refusing to grant a charter to the State Bank of Lewiston. It is understood however that a charter has been given it by the general government and it will be opened as a national bank.

TRAFFIC ORDINANCE AND STREET PAVING

Assessment Against South Commercial Property Owners Objected To

The new automobile traffic ordinance and the bill calling for the assessment of abutting property to cover the cost of improvement of South Commercial street were the two chief matters of importance to receive the attention of the city council at its session last evening.

The traffic ordinance was in an extremely precarious situation for a time after its introduction Alderman Wilson proceeded to go at it with long, sharp criticisms and it soon became apparent that certain sections of the ordinance would receive no mercy at the hands of Mr. Wilson.

After its introduction Alderman Wilson proceeded to go at it with long, sharp criticisms and it soon became apparent that certain sections of the ordinance would receive no mercy at the hands of Mr. Wilson.

That portion of the ordinance, however, prohibiting the parking of automobiles in the business sections of Commercial and State streets, however, has been amended to provide that automobiles parked within the fire limits shall be backed against the curb, head to the right at an angle of 30 degrees, and as close as possible to the curb next in line.

Considerable discussion was heard on the section of the ordinance dealing with the method of passing other vehicles on the street, and the matter of age limit of boys who are allowed under the present ordinance to drive cars on the streets only on permit of the chief of police.

Vigorous protest was made by Oliver Jory against the bill for assessment to cover cost of improving South Commercial street. Mr. Jory asserted that facts pertaining to the cost of the improvement had been misrepresented to the property owners and directed his accusation mainly at the head of the present administration.

The assessment was passed unanimously by the council. On motion of Alderman Ward it was ordered that employees of the city who have gone into war service are to receive their positions back when they return, according to action taken last night.

A petition for lights was received and filed from business men on State street opposing the proposed automobile ordinance was received and filed. The ordinance bill provides that autos shall not be parked in the business sections of State and Commercial streets.

A resolution was adopted providing for signs at the city limits at points where important thoroughfare enters the city, warning automobiles to slow down to fifteen miles an hour. The city recorder was authorized to advertise for bids for the signs.

Alderman Elliott moved that the city attorney be empowered to employ the assistance of an abstracter in obtaining description of property covered by street assessments where any difficulties in description are presented.

Deductions Made on Claims. Alderman Unruh representing a special committee, reported on claims filed against the city by the Salem Construction company and the Salem Sand & Gravel company, recommending that 10 cents a yard be deducted from the amounts claimed for all concrete gravel and crushed gravel furnished the city, for the reason that on May 7 the street improvement committee was authorized to pay 65 cents a yard while later the companies sent in bills asking 75 cents.

The amount of the claims were $22.50, $1107.69, $522.80 and $618. The report recommended that the warrants be held up until the actual amounts due are figured after deductions of 10 cents a yard. The total deductions will be about $400. The report was adopted.

Street Commissioner W. S. Lo reported a total of $1098.62 spent on streets during November. The items were: Street repairs and miscellaneous work, $738.19; street cleaning, $327; sewer repairs, $33.43. Other expenses totaled $65.25.

Articles of incorporation were filed today as follows: Eureka Manufacturing & Improvement Company, Newburg, increased its capital stock from $9,000 to $12,000. Oakland Meat Market Company of Oakland, Douglas county, capital stock $3,000, and object to conduct a butchery business.

Liberty Market, Portland, capital stock $5,000 and object to conduct a public market and deal in meats, fish, poultry and vegetables.

PEACE CONFERENCE IN FORMAL SESSION

Bolsheviki Commander Claims Complete Control of Russian Armies

London, Dec. 4.—Prince Leopold of Bavaria welcomed the Russian delegates to the conference for an armistice at Brest, Litovsk, and the armistice has actually commenced, a wireless message sent from Petrograd announced today.

Mr. Mangis stated that owing to the steps which the government has already taken and the uncertainty as to just what action may be taken by the government in the future, his firm has practically discontinued handling all produce except potatoes and the market even in this product is extremely slow.

The first is the shortage of cars, and the second is the standard of grading which has been set by the government. The stock of potatoes is small this year and below the average and it makes it extremely difficult for dealers to meet the standard that is required.

Mr. Mangis said that as a result of the meeting of the dealers in conference with federal agents, two government inspectors will be appointed for the state, who in turn will appoint deputies to assist them, and every car of potatoes shipped from the state will first have to be inspected and certified to as to its quality and fitness.

F. E. Mangis Tells of Action Taken at Portland—Grading Essential

Washington, Dec. 4.—Senator La Follette sat like a graven image in the house today as President Wilson delivered his war message. He did not applaud any time, did not rise when other members did.

Not a senator would walk with La Follette from the senate to the house. Others marched in pairs. La Follette walked alone. He took a seat within twenty feet of the president. No one took the next seat to him.

The applause greeting President Wilson as he entered the chamber and mounted the rostrum was prolonged. The members, standing, burst into cheers. As the president reached the words, "our object is to win this war and we shall not slacken our weaken until it is done," tremendous applause broke out.

Again, when he referred to anti-war agitators, the applause became deafening. And when he urged an immediate declaration against Austria, the members again rose in a wave of applause. Allied diplomats joined in the clapping. The president ceased speaking at 1:05. As he left the chamber, he was given a tumultuous send off.

Mrs. Juliet Adams Prominent Resident of Polk County Cured of Cancer of the Face.

To Whom It May Concern: For 6 years I suffered with cancer of the face. I was handicapped by the realization that it was steadily becoming worse. As a last resort I applied to Dr. S. C. I cheerfully recommend Dr. Stone and his treatment. Mrs. Juliet Adams, Route 1, Box 14, Salem, Or. Nov. 30, 1917.

INTER-ALLIED COUNCIL ENDS FIRST SESSION

Members of Conference Are Well Pleas With Result of Exchange of Views

By Lowell Mellett (United Press staff correspondent) Paris, Dec. 4.—So far as military exigencies permit, the inter-allied council proposes to allow the public of the allied nations to see the workings of the war machine.

With the closing of the inter-allied council and the first session of the supreme war council, it was stated today that arrangements were being made to publish a summary of the resolutions adopted at the first named conference.

Publicity is regarded as one of the allies' strongest weapons in the fight against autocracy. Notification to the people of what their chosen representatives propose to do with the peoples' money, the peoples' lives and the peoples' property in the fight for democracy, will stand out in vivid contrast to the German autocratic assumption of divine right over lives, money and property of its citizens.

On every hand today great satisfaction was expressed at the progress achieved in the conferences here. The meetings, while preliminary in their nature, resulted in a firmer resolve for unity of action and in a broad, general plan of elimination of wastage by standardization. In yesterday's United Press dispatches mention was made of the plan for such standardization of the allied aerial warfare. The same plan is being worked out for other branches of the military arm.

Best indication that the meeting was preliminary was in the fact that the American request for re-statement of allied war aims—a joint statement, to which all allies should be signatory—was left for later consideration. The delegates apparently were agreed that first consideration at the moment were the actual physical weapons of offense and defense.

A desire for peace of the same sort and to that extent the message may be regarded as bullish but there appeared to be nothing to indicate that peace was possible in the near future, that the Tenton rulers had reached the point of chastening which have been done. To that extent the message was bullish. The president's remarks on the necessity for congress to go still further in setting limits to price; that while profiteering had been eliminated in many branches of industry, it was impudently rampant in others, where not conducive to sustained strength. Net changes in the steel, motor and specialty and equipment shares were up. There was a better tone among the powers.

In the late session, the general list recorded in quick orderly trading. United States Steel was below 91. The marines continued to give way lightly. Rails were neglected and lost much of the gains of the early afternoon. General weakness developed in active selling just before the closing.
