

SOCIETY and CLUBS

By ALINE THOMPSON

SOCIETY in New York, as well as in some of the other larger cities, has decided it is a duty to the world at large to host proudly and upon all occasions of just the number of men who have gone from each family, and lest anyone should miss the opportunity of hearing the tidings a "Service flag" has been devised.

With its first appearance there were many queries, one could hardly be expected to imagine without any hint of explanation that this banner was merely a way of letting the world in general and in particular know that every house or place of business that flew it contained no element of "slack."

The service flag is no gentle thing of pastel tones that one might pass by as merely a decorative effect. It is very design invites inquiry—a brilliant red background broken in the center by an oblong of white, which is marked by huge black stars. Each star represents one member of the family who has joined the service. Needless to say, its first appearance created no end of excitement, that amounted to almost a furore when it became known what was its purpose.

The idea is traveling slowly across the continent, and is reaching Salem, where many a home will be found flying the flag of honor. Several prominent business houses already are flying these banners and that the city will be dotted generously with service flags when the custom is fully adopted here needs no assurance, and in many a household there would be not one but several.

Perhaps the largest and most interesting affair of the week, was the delightful reception given Thursday night, by the Salem Woman's club, in its new auditorium at the Commercial club.

Huge palms, laurel and cedar decked the attractive rooms, making an effective foil for the rich cream walls and lovely old blue velvet hangings. The Woman's club is made up of the most prominent women in Salem, and various members were about the rooms to greet the scores of guests who flocked there to attend this auspicious opening.

Mrs. William H. Burghardt, Jr., Mrs. William Walton and Mrs. Samuel Koser were in charge of the decorations and were assisted by other members of the club.

Presiding over the punch were Miss

You Need Not Endure
A Lame, Aching Back
If the Spine Is Right

It is not even necessary to endure a lame back, when the call is for every patriot to do his duty. Remember hand adjustments of the Spinal Column, given by a competent Palmer School Chiropractor, removes all nerve pressure thus allowing the normal vibratory impulses to flow freely through the tissues and organs of the body, this is humane construction and humanely constructive, and is absolutely necessary if we want the power to carry out our ambition, and that ambition is to see our glorious Star Spangled Banner, the emblem of that which is a nation's right—Liberty floating in the air.

It is backbone that makes our men fight like demons to keep it aloft. If your nerve power is curtailed, what you need is backbone. Undiluted Palmer School Chiropractic will give you the nerve power to fight the Kaiser or war disease.

Remember, if the spine is right, the man is right.

Charming young girl, who will play the role of "Ethel Granger-Simpson," in "The Man From Home," the Elks' big Red Cross benefit play to be given at the Grand, December 12-13.

Mabel Withycombe, Miss Dorothy Pearce, Miss Florence Cleveland and Miss Mabel Robertson.

During the early hours an address of welcome was given by Mrs. Alice H. Dodd, president of the Woman's club, and was responded to by Frank G. Deekobach, in behalf of the Commercial club.

A delightful feature of the evening was a programme, including a patriotic reading, "Old Glory," and "We've Done Our Hitch in Hell," by Mrs. Anna Rogers Fish, and songs by the quartet composed of John Todd, Paul Irvin, Albert Miller and J. W. Leonard.

Among December concerts at Aeolian hall are those of chamber music by David and Clara Mannes, the Minutaphilharmonie, the Chamber Music society, the Salzedo Harp Ensemble, Lortie and Thibaud, Kreisler and the Knutsen. A list of almost daily recitals includes Frieda Benneche, George Hamilton, John Powell, Ada Lombardi, Guionar Novae, Sarah Friedl, Martha Phillips, Emma Roberts, Edna de Lima, Aurelio Giorni, Helen Stanley, Eleanor Altman, Louis Boultier, Chah Mouradian, Winifred Byrd, Ralph Lawton, Mai Kahn, Rola Hecht and Harriet Foster.—New York Times.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Durbin are planning to leave the latter part of next week for New York, where they will spend the holiday season with their son, Frank Durbin, Jr., who is with Company M, at Camp Mills.

The Ruben P. Boises are going east at the same time to be with their son,

Miss OLGA GRAY

Breyman Boise, who is also at Camp Mills, and on Christmas they will expect to be together in Washington, with Senator and Mrs. Charles L. McNary and Mrs. M. E. Breyman who have been in the east for a week or so.

A delightful feature of the evening was a programme, including a patriotic reading, "Old Glory," and "We've Done Our Hitch in Hell," by Mrs. Anna Rogers Fish, and songs by the quartet composed of John Todd, Paul Irvin, Albert Miller and J. W. Leonard.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Livesley have asked a few of the married set to their home tonight for an informal dinner party.

Their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Channey Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sargent, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Asahel Bush, Mr. and Mrs. W. Melvin Plimpton and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Young of Albany.

Mrs. Owen G. Hutton returned to Portland, today, after passing several weeks in Salem as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Ben W. Oleott.

She will remain in Portland only for a week or two, returning to be with the Oleott family for the Christmas holidays. During her stay in Portland, Mrs. Hutton will spend the greater part of the time at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Oswald West.

Salem friends are anticipating the visit of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan G. Oaks and their small son, John Oaks, of Jamison, Oregon.

The Oaks are planning to come to Salem during the holidays and will be with Mrs. Oaks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Herron.

Mrs. Oaks as Miss Lela Herron, was very popular in Salem and her visit here will be the source of much joy to her host of old friends, who have not had an opportunity of seeing this attractive young matron in several years.

Miss Harriett Griffith, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Griffith, entertained a group of the younger contingent last night, with an informal theater party at the Oregon, followed by a supper at the Spa.

The affair was on the occasion of the young hostess' birthday anniversary, and her guests included Miss Mary Jane Albert, Miss Margaret Griffith, Miss Maxine Buren, Miss Josephine Baumgartner, Miss Ruth Barnes, Miss Gladys Moore and Milton Stein, Charles Robertson, Jr., Paul Stanley, Earl Schaefer, Axel East, Ralph Wilson and Harold Millard.

Mrs. C. P. Bishop has gone to Brownsville for a visit, and will be away until the middle of next week.

Miss Mabel Withycombe will be hostess for an informal evening on Wednesday, when a dozen or more girls will assemble to knit.

Her guests will include the same little coterie of girls that have been gathering together for these delightful affairs since early in the season.

Thursday night, Miss Florence Hoffer entertained with a similar affair.

Mrs. William H. Lytle, who has been in Portland for the past week or so, came home Wednesday. While there she divided her time between Mrs. C. G. Sabine and Mrs. J. R. Bowles.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Gabrielson, accompanied by their son, and grandson, First Lieutenant Carl Gabrielson and Master Robert Bishop, returned Friday from a few days sojourn in Portland. The Gabrielsons and the boys were on their way to meet Mr. Gabrielson, who arrived there the same day from Spokane.

Thursday, Lieutenant Gabrielson attended the Lambert-Snow nuptials.

Mrs. George G. Meyers, who has been here for the past few weeks attending to business interests, returned to San Francisco last night.

During her stay, Mrs. Meyers spent her leisure time with old friends and relatives.

Friends of the Meyers will be sorry to know that Mr. Meyers' health is unimproved, and that their sojourn in the south will be indefinite, if not permanent.

Mrs. Henry J. Schulderman is passing a few days in Portland and is the house guest of Mrs. Charles R. Frazier, of Irvington.

Mrs. Louis W. Josse will have with her for a few days next week, her mother and sister, Mrs. J. S. Barker and Miss Velle Barker, of Roseburg, who are going to Portland for the holidays.

Mrs. Frederic D. Thielens with her small son, Frederic Jr., has gone to Astoria for a visit. She will be there for about two weeks, and will divide her time between the George F. Rodgers, Robert Eakin and Kinney families.

She was accompanied to Astoria by Mr. Thielens, who returned yesterday.

Members of society who are friends of Captain and Mrs. Harry E. Clay, who have been much missed this winter, will be interested to know that Captain Clay has been transferred from the reserve corps into the regular U. S. army.

The Clays have been domiciled in an apartment over Presidio way since their arrival in San Francisco; and like many others, are in rather an unhappy dilemma of not knowing how long they will be there; Captain Clay expecting to be ordered to France at any time.

The members of the Merry-Go-Round club will gather at the Max O. Burgh residence on Tuesday night for a few games of "500."

Mr. and Mrs. Percy A. Young motor to Salem, from Albany, this afternoon and will remain over the week end as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts.

Mrs. L. K. Page will return early in the week from Seattle, where she went before Thanksgiving, to visit her sister, who is there from Ida Grove, Iowa, spending the winter with the Misses Irma and Frances Northrup, nieces of Mrs. Page.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Livesley are back from Seattle, where they have been since early in the week.

Mrs. Clayburn M. Walker, who has been home for several days, returned Wednesday to Newport, where she and Mr. Walker are spending the winter. While here Mrs. Walker was with her daughter, Mrs. W. Connell Dyer.

Mrs. Elmer Halden (Beulah Myers) who, with her small sons, Robert and Walter, has been here since Thanksgiving time visiting relatives, returned to Sea View, Washington, yesterday. Mr. Halden, who accompanied his family to Salem went home earlier in the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller are in Portland for a short stay. Mr. Miller having come to attend the hotel convention. He will be there only until tomorrow, while Mrs. Miller will remain for a few days longer to visit relatives.

Since Miss Clementine Lambert and "Mack" Snow both have friends in Salem society, and have visited here on several occasions, the following account of their marriage, from Friday's Oregonian, will be interesting:

"Yesterday Lieutenant Macornack Snow and Miss Clementine Lambert exchanged the nuptial vows at 4 o'clock in St. David's church, Rev. A. A. Morrison officiating. Although the affair was planned hurriedly and there was little or no time to get out invitations, nevertheless, the hundreds of friends of the popular young couple turned out en masse to witness the solemn and impressive ceremony.

"The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Hewitt as maid of honor, and her brother, Joseph Lambert, arrived from American Lake to act as best man. The bride was given away in marriage by her father, A. W. Lambert. She was attractive in a charming gown of ivory tulle, with silver applique and silver lace, the court train being fashioned of ivory satin. Her veil was arranged in a simple design, bordered with silver and adorned with a spray of orange blossoms. It is the same veil worn by her sister, Mrs. George P. Englesby, (Iona Lambert) on her wedding day. The bridal bouquet was a shower of spray orchids and bouvardia.

"Miss Hewitt's gown was of lavender tulle, worn with a picturesque hat of tulle, and her bouquet was of the dainty pink bouvardia and ferns.

"The church was simply decked with white chrysanthemums, palms and ferns, and it was thronged with relatives and friends of the couple. A small reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, in East Main street, and Lieutenant and Mrs. Snow left for a brief wedding trip to the coast. They will be at home in American Lake after December 15, where Lieutenant Snow has orders to report for duty.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lambert, and received her earlier education at St. Helen's hall, finishing at Dana hall. Lieutenant Snow is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Zera Snow. He first attended Portland academy and later the University of Oregon, where he is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. He also was graduated from Harvard law school.

He was practicing law with his father previous to entering the service, and is a member of the leading clubs of Portland.

Mrs. Henry J. Bean entertained a dozen or more matrons who make up the Happy Hour club, informally, on Friday afternoon.

Varying from the usual afternoon of bridge, the guests passed the hours chatting and sewing for the Red Cross.

Keen enthusiasm is being manifested in the Elks' benefit show, "The Man From Home," to be given at the Grand theater on next Wednesday and Thursday nights. A large number of Salem folk already have reserved seats for one of the performances, and there is little doubt that the play will be one of the best amateur things that the Elks' have ever given.

James Mott, who enjoys considerable reputation as an actor, is directing the cast, which is made up of Salem's most clever local talent.

Mrs. Edwin L. Baker went to Portland this morning to spend the week end with friends.

First Lieutenant Carl D. Gabrielson who has been home on a short furlough, will leave the middle of the coming week for American Lake, where he has been ordered to report for duty.

Mrs. Daniel J. Fry was hostess Thursday, when about a dozen matrons, who are members of the Priscilla club, dropped in at her home for their usual afternoon of knitting.

The holiday festivities will start off with a burst of activity on Monday night, when the Monday night dancing club will give another party of the series of delightful affairs, scheduled in this winter's social calendar.

These affairs which are usually more or less informal, as are so many functions nowadays, are attended by a large number of the married contingent and a generous sprinkling of young folks.

Miss Ida Haase of Oakland, California, arrived in Salem Wednesday and is visiting her mother, Mrs. Mary Haase, on Front street.

Miss Haase will be here for several weeks, returning south soon after the first of the year.

The annual Episcopal Junior Guild bazaar, which always attracts a large following of Christmas shoppers will be held this year on December the 12th and 13th (Wednesday and Thursday) in the guild rooms at St. Paul's church.

HE HAS IRON IN HIS BLOOD

That is why he is such a great winner, accomplishes so much, why he overcomes obstacles and knows no such thing as failure.

Iron in the successful formula for Peptiron, which also includes pepsin, nux, celery and other tonics, sedatives and digestives, helps to give strength, color and body to the blood; reddens pale cheeks, steadies the nerves, nourishes and gives stamina to the whole body.

Peptiron is in pill form, chocolate coated, pleasant to take, easily assimilated—the most successful combination of iron that its makers, C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass., know of. It is the medicine for you. It will put iron into your blood.

A feature of the bazaar this year will be a "mystery table," which will be brimming over with all manner and kinds of packages, for the sum of 25 cents. Each of these parcels will contain an artistic article which will be worth their value, and will make attractive Christmas gifts.

Besides the usual array of fancy and useful articles appropriate for the holidays, the bazaar will sell Canadian war cakes along with the receipt.

Thursday night the Misses Ida and Alice Schunk entertained the members of the drill team of the Yeoman lodge at their home, on 1213 Court street.

The evening was passed informally, with games, which were followed by a short business session. Later refreshments were served.

Those present were: Mrs. William Prunk (Verna Cooder), Mrs. Nellie Varley, Mrs. R. Watson, Mrs. C. Houck, Mrs. L. Biever, Mrs. Bernice Johnson, Mrs. Corn Nengabauer, Miss Mildred Earley, Miss Letha Weiss and Miss Daisy Varley.

Mrs. Ben W. Oleott is home from Portland, where she has been visiting the Oswald West family for a week or so.

The many old friends of Dr. W. B. Morse's mother, Nancy E. Dolman, of Portland, will be glad to know that she has returned to Salem to pass the remainder of the winter.

While here Mrs. Dolman will be at the Frank K. Lovell residence on Center street.

Miss Helen Jane Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Watson Hamilton, will become the bride of Arthur C. Clarke, on Saturday, December 15, at the home of the bride-elect's parents in Roseburg.

Mr. Clarke is a well known young attorney recently coming to Portland from Chicago. He now makes his home in Corvallis—Oregonian.

After spending several days in Salem, as the guest of relatives, Mrs. Eunice Roberts and her daughter, Miss Gertrude Roberts, returned to Portland early in the week.

Mrs. Pauline Josse left last night for Portland, where she will visit her daughter, Mrs. L. G. Haack, for several days.

Mrs. Hal D. Patton and two children went to Portland for a few days visit Friday.

A PLEASING PERSONALITY.

Vigorous health and a pleasing personality do not usually go with bad eyesight. Restless sleep, insomnia, headaches and eye strain are caused by faulty vision which undermines the health.

We have made a careful study of the effect of poor eyesight upon the personality of our patients. We aim to improve not only their vision, but their appearance and self-possession as well. You cannot hope to impress others with your keenness or your optimism, if your eyes are crying out for relief.
