VANCOUVER DEFEATS PORTLAND AT HOCKEY

Only One Goal Made—Northwestern League Magnates Hold Meeting

Portland, Or., Jan. 17.—Playing one of the most sensational, although cleanest hockey games ever seen on local ice, the Vancouver Millionaires and Portland Rosebuds wrestled for one hour and twelve minutes before Lloyd Cook, on his stomach, slashed the puck through Tommy Murray's defense, sagging the Portland net for the winning and only goal of the first game, Lehman and Cycline Taylor played a wonderful game, the latter carrying the rubber to the Portland net and although not being able to net the disc, made the Portland defense men work harder than they have ever before been called upon to do.

There was only one penalty issued in the game and that only for three minutes and was given to Dunderdate, the Portland center by Referee Ion.

Charlie Tobin once netted the puck just after an offside and Ion's whistle informed the enthusiastic crowd that it didn't count. This was the nearest thing to a score that the Portlanders could register.

notify them all by telegraph by tonight.

Dr. Garfield said the secretaries of war and the navy were to furnish him with a list of industries to be permitted to run.

This class will include industries producing immediate necessities for war purposes, Dr. Garfield said.

"Why was this closing order issued," asked Reed.

This order is because there was a lack of coal for domestic consumers, utilities furnishing heat, light, power and transportation to the public," Garfield said.

"This was due to lack of transportation facilities rather than lack of coal. This was accentuated by the recent severe winter weather."

Resolutions Introduced.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Senators Hitchcock, Neb., and Gallinger, New Hampshire, today introduced resolutions calling on Fuel Administrator Garfield to delay for five days operation of his order suspending industries to save coal.

Both resolutions request action be delayed that time may be given for protests to be heard, investigations made and information obtained regarding the order.

Senator Hitchcock asked immediate adoption of his resolution.

"This thing came on us like lightning out of clear sky," said Hitchcock. "It will throw hundreds of thousands, even millions of men out of work and deprive them of wages they vitally need. It will slow up production of war munitions at a time when we've been straining every effort to have this production going at full speed. It refers to plants operating by waterpower and using only a small amount of coal. It shuts factories whose bins contain coal to run them another month."

Senator Vandaman declared the resolution should be adopted to avert "an actual calamity."

Congress was amazed and puzzled by Garfield's order.

Many members of both houses expressed indignation at the order which they termed calamitous.

Senator Penrose, author of the legislation under which the fuel administration was created, thinks it inadvisable to issue the order, which "will do more harm than good."

"I'll have to be shown the need for it," he said.

Senator Reed, Missouri, declared the order is a blow at effective conduct of the war and maintenance of our industrial establishments.

"A practical man of hard common sense said to me today: 'Why are factories that have a supply of coal not allowed to run until they exhaust it?'" said Reed. "A highly educated man never thought of that."

The belief was general in congress that Fuel Administrator Garfield was not the real author of the order.

Members of both houses who expressed the conviction that the order was issued because Director General McAdoo has found it impossible to keep pace with the coal demands with the present equipment. The effect of the order, it was pointed out, would be to let the railroads catch up with the demand for coal.

"It is the penalty of priority," declared Senator Harding of Ohio. "We are getting a taste of war's denials. The danger of last year and the severity of the winter have forced a different situation. The country will protest, but we have to make the best of it. I would gladly make any denial to keep up with the coal demands. We pay for blunders in the denials they force upon us."

Senator Townsend, Michigan, declared that the fuel administration should have begun denying coal to producers of non-essentials long ago.

"If it had, there would have been no need of such an appalling step," he said. "If it is necessary, it is an awful indictment of the fuel administration's activities."

Senator Cummins of Iowa said he believed the step was necessary and, therefore, proper.

Senator McLean, Connecticut, said he would withhold comment until he learned all the facts in the case. On the face of it, he said, it looked like a criticism by the fuel administration of its own efforts.

Representative Rainey of Illinois, of the ways and means committee, was one of the few who stood by the fuel administration.

"It is the first battle we must fight to win the war at home," he said. "The procedure is so radical that the necessity for the order must be great. The proposition should be supported by the people."

But William H. Carter, Massachusetts who employs 2,000 men himself believes the whole plan is economically wrong.

"If, however," he says, "the president declares the step is necessary the New England manufacturers who will be greatly effected will carry it out to the letter."

"It is a great hardship and injustice to labor," said J. P. Maher, chairman of the house labor committee, "and I can't believe it is necessary. It will throw thousands out of work who can't afford it."

"The domestic consumer should have coal," said Representative Madden, Illinois, "but how is he going to get it if he can't earn the money to buy it?"

The country's confidence in the fuel administration was shattered by the step, Representative Rodenburg, Illinois, said.

WASHING WON'T BID HEAD OF DANDRUFF The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

DO MOTHERS ERE? When we hear of so many school girls and girls in stores and offices who are often totally unfit to perform their daily duties because of some derangement peculiar to their sex, might this not have been prevented by the mother who, perhaps through neglect or carelessness, failed to get for that daughter the one great root and herb remedy for such ailments, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? This old fashioned medicine is said to have alleviated more suffering of womanhood than any other remedy known to medicine.
