Fruitland News Items

(Capital Journal Special Service)

Fruitland, Or., Jan. 18.—The family of Peter Stevens now occupies the John Minger property. Mr. Stevens was a large land owner in Alberta, Canada, and purchased this farm last fall, paying $12,000 for the 42 acres. This included some personal property, horses, cows, grain, etc. This is the second Canadian family settling in Fruitland within the last few months. Mr. L. E. Brown having purchased the north part of the C. E. McLewain place last September. We extend these new neighbors a cordial welcome and trust they will find our community a pleasant place in which to live.

A writer in the Capital Journal of January 12th says: "A few years hence this evolution theory will be dead and buried." Don't think it. The theory is too fascinating and too speculative to die in a few years or in many years. Human speculation has a long life-line and will ever live along with reason and common sense. Darwinism is but one form of organic evolution, resting on "natural selection and the "survival of the fittest in the struggle for existence." Other forms will and do exist, yet that of Darwin is as good and as sensible and as wanting in demonstration as any. He has said speaking of his own work in preface to 2nd edition 1874 of "Descent of Man" "It is probably, or always certain that several of the conclusions will hereafter be found erroneous. ' And on page 360, last chapter "Many of the views advanced are highly speculative, and some no doubt will prove erroneous." Yet Mr. Darwin builds his vast structure on these same speculations. I have his "Descent" in my library. Have read it carefully through, some parts two and three times, and must say it appears to be a well written scientific romance. Evolution is not yet ready for burial, notwithstanding Mr. Darwin's admissions.

The regents of O. A. C. have spoken publicly to the people through the press Their justification for the act of advancing President Kerr's salary I fear will not prove satisfactory to the taxpayers. A public servant may be efficient yet that may be no good reason for increasing his pay. It might not at the time be good business policy. Again Dr. Kerr could do little at the head of the school without helpers, and teachers. Why not bring them into consideration too? Why bestow it all on Prof. Kerr? That increase of $1400 is itself much more than the income of many small taxpayers of whom this writer is one. Yet we are helping to pay it. If Mr. Kerr did not ask for this increase and if he at this time would stand well with the people of the state he will refuse it or return it back into the treasury. We shall see if he does so. I am surprised that Mrs. Waldo, Mr. Spence and some others would lend their influence to this affair. And the governor, too, I am sure the readers of the Capital Journal would like to hear from these, or others as to the real necessity, especially at this time, for adding this expense to the already burdened taxpayers. Personal favoritism or desire to do a nice thing for a friend will not do. Especially with other people's money. I suppose the columns of the Journal will be open for the purpose suggested.

Mr. Maurer of Pratum goes his daily rounds in all weathers delivering milk to the Garden road cheese factory. He has been on the route two years or more and is so sure to come at a certain time that one could almost dispense with a clock.

As I look from my window across I can see Clark station. Though there is no boot-leg joint within its limits it is nevertheless a famous stopping place for automobiles. They stop because they cannot go on. The station has its one main street and like a suction pump draws in as well as down, and your chug chug wagon must be pushed and pried out like a balky ox. A few loads of gravel applied at the proper time would relieve the reputation of this spot.

The teacher informs me that his attendance is 98 per cent of the enrollment. Being a country school and with rain and muddy roads this is a good showing.

The family of John Minger have moved to Salem, the farm being sold and vacated.

Mrs. E. Van Allman of Stanfield, Oregon, is a guest in the family of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Eggler.

John E. Miller is building some new fence just north of Clark station. It is the old "Virginia worm" variety and John is making the rails.

In noting a short time ago the "What and Who" of Fruitland, I forgot to mention the church. It belongs to the Evangelical Association. The pastor is Rev. Jacob Stocker of Salem. The membership is about 25 perhaps, though several have moved away. There is a flourishing Sunday school and Young People's Alliance.

All our unmarried ladies are young of course, as all women are young till they get married. Our girls are sensible, modest and good-looking. None of your "O pick up" girls, or girl variety and this is not strange when we consider the mold and character of the mothers. N. B. the fathers don't "cut much ice" as it were, in the matter. With no 30-cent mothers you cannot expect two-bit girls.

Is there a Fruitland edition of the Capital Journal. Not that I am aware of, but I guess about every in Fruitland takes the C. J.

Petitions are being circulated favoring Judge Bushy for nomination to succeed himself for county judge. They are being numerously signed.

GARFIELD EXEMPTS

Situation in New York

New York, Jan. 18—The fuel conservation order will result in a loss of $12,000,000 daily to the New York merchants ,according to estimates by the merchants association. Of this amount clothing dealers will lose $2,000,000, it was declared.

Manufacturers and merchants are still in a state of uncertainty today. Local fuel administrators were just as much at sea as the persons affected. Bodies of men met and planned what to do. The telephone and telegraph companies admitted their inability to handle the tremendous flood of business. The National Board of Fire Underwriters issued a special warning against fire, pointing out danger that sprinkling system pipes might freeze.

John Mitchell, former head of the United Mine Workers and one of the best posted men on labor conditions, estimated that 2,500,000 men would be thrown out of work in New York state. The pay for the state, he estimated, would approximate seven million dollars daily.

The Retail Clothiers' association alone estimated that one million men employed by its members would be out of work. Business failures are certain, it was stated.

Lindley M. Garrison, former secretary of war, expressed the belief that Fuel Administrator Garfield's order could not be enforced. He doubted the law's existence that clothes the administration with such power.

This city's stores will remain open today and tomorrow, it was stated, but they are uncertain what will be done Monday.

Eleven ships were coaled yesterday in this port. There were then on the waiting list one hundred and sixteen.

Ernest Bohm, secretary of the Central Federated Labor Union, with a membership of more than 500,000, issued an appeal for employers to carry their men on the payrolls.

"It is their patriotic duty," he said

In Middle West Field

Chicago, Jan. 18.—A billion dollars worth of capital was loafing in Chicago today, made idle by Fuel Administrator Garfield's coal conservation order.

About half a million workers, with a combined daily wage of a million dollars, will have little to do for the next five days but watch their living expenses mount, it was estimated. Seventy five per cent of these are industrial employes.

Many concerns will pay their workers regular or part wages during the layoff.

Production at the rate of a billion and a half dollars a year has been stopped. Chicago is the first city in the United States in the amount of money invested in manufacturing industries and the second in production.

Chicago businessmen and commercial organizations carried their fight for a modification of the order up to its signing late yesterday by Dr. Garfield. When this was done, however, they resolved to be "good soldiers" and carry out its provisions in every detail.

The whole middle west took the attitude.

Plans were under way today to employ thousands of temporarily idle workmen in clearing away the record snowfall in this section still blocking many railroad switches, mines and manufacturing plants.

State Fuel Administrator Williams issued a list of general rules interpreting the Garfield order in its application to Illinois. His ruling that all industries, other than those whose principle business in the production of food or fuel or their distribution, are affected, was accepted as practical exemption for the big packing plants at the Union Stockyards. Many of the packers anticipated the order yesterday ,however, by voluntarily closing all departments not engaged in production of perishable articles.

The matter of wages being paid to idle employes will be determined by the various industries individually. The state food administration urged the formation of welfare clubs to aid employes and suggested advancement of wages to persons receiving less than $3 a day, but it was indicated early today that the majority of employers will be unable to pay workers who are laid off.

The same situation that prevailed in Chicago was general throughout the middle west. In Milwaukee nearly a quarter of a billion dollars in invested capital was idle; in Detroit nearly $300,000,000.

Swift and Armour Pay

All employes of Armour and company and Swift and company packers, who are affected by the Garfield closing order, will be paid full wages during their inactivity. Announcement to that effect was made today by the Armour and Swift general offices.

Only the sections of the packers' plants producing other than food are closed under the Garfield plan.

No demonstrations of disapproval by workers had been reported.

In every large middle western city representatives of the federal department of justice were watching for violators of the order.

The first alleged violator was taken into custody by Hinton G. Clabaugh, chief of the department of justice in this city. He refused to make public the name of the alleged violator. Several establishments are under investigation here.

Use Labor to move Cars

New York, Jan. 18—A suggestion that idle labor, thrown out of work by Dr. Garfield's sweeping coal conservation order, be employed in the constructive work of moving freight cars, was given to eastern railroads today by A. H. Smith, assistant to the director general of railways.

Smith, in a telegram dispatched to railway heads, said he had been informed the closing regulations did not forbid the loading and unloading of cars at warehouses and terminals. The constructive point in Dr. Garfield's order, he said, would be to get cars emptied for other work and to clean up railway congestion.

It was suggested that railways might communicate with closed industrial plants, hire all available labor and bend every effort toward clearing up the situation. Bonuses for the work, it was said, might be paid.

Smith, in his message, told the presidents of eastern roads formal notice of the exemption to unloaders and loaders of cars would be sent out from Washington, but said he was giving it out in advance.

Men Will Not Be Paid

New York, Jan. 18.—The United States Steel Corporation probably will not pay its thousands of employes for the time they will lose through the order issued by the coal administrator, according to a statement issued today by Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the corporation's board of directors.

At a meeting of the finance committee, it is understood the same position was shared by members of the committee.

Employes of the Ford Automobile company's Long Island city plant will not lose so heavily. Salaried men will be paid as usual. Men who are paid by the day will lose.

Attempt to Increase Efficiency of Transport

Washington, Jan. 18.—To increase efficiency of American transports under the navy department, the "naval overseas transportation service" was established today.

All the fast cargo and troop ships controlled by the navy will be directed by the organization and manned by efficient naval reserve crews.

This will eliminate the difficulties caused by sulky, lazy or drunken civilians—some of them aliens—found in many of the present crews.

The move also tends to co-ordinate the general transportation service though the army and shipping board still maintain their own service. The three bodies, however, are working harmoniously, and the army has given the navy some of its transports.

Complete Recovery In Wall Street

New York, Jan. 18.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said:

Wall Street marked time today. There was complete recovery in sentiment from the shock of the abrupt fuel order. Rail stocks were almost neglected and active stocks could be counted on the fingers of one hand.

The market opened fractionally lower with a weak tendency but the trading in its early stages was quiet and almost entirely professional.

During the day there were rallies and reactions but no generally sustained or significant movement.

The Krupp munition plant in Germany now employs over 25,000 women.

It is predicted that woman workers on the railways have come to stay.

Not a Corn or Callus on Feet
Apply few drops, then lift them off without pain.

A noted Cincinnati authority discovered a new ether compound and called it freezone and it now can be had in little bottles for a few cents from any drug store.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone upon a tender corn or painful callus and instantly the soreness disappears, then orby you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it off with fingers.

No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying freezone or afterwards, and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses, just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful! It works like a charm. Try it!

Women should keep freezone on their dressers and never let a corn ache twice.
