Hazel Green News

(Capital Journal Special Service) Hazel Green, Or., Jan. 21.—Alvin Van Cleave was the recipient of a pleasant surprise Thursday evening. On coming home from his sister's new house he found a jolly company of friends who had assembled to help him celebrate his twenty-second birthday. The evening was pleasantly spent with games. The refreshments included a handsome birthday cake which was lighted with 22 pink candles. Miss Nellie Patterson of Weacoda added much to the evening's pleasure by her vocal selections. Those present were: Miss Nellie Patterson, Otto Miles and Ward Russell of Weacoda, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Aspinwall and daughter, Leonida; Mr. and Mrs. Weir Baskill and daughter, Laura; Miss Laura Farmer, Miss Lucella Eden, Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes, Dovey, Eula, Opal and Forest Rhodes, Merle Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Cleave, Mr. and Mrs. Belle Franklin, Howard and Frank Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. T. Van Cleave and Alvin Van Cleave.

The Red Cross Auxiliary will meet for work at the home of Miss Emma Fisher, Tuesday afternoon, January 22. Dr. Patterson, the veterinarian from Salem, was out Thursday evening, and successfully treated a very sick cow belonging to Bliss Zeilinski.

TURNER NEWS

(Capital Journal Special Service) Turner, Jan. 21.—Friday, Jan. 18, will be a red letter day in Turner society; Mrs. Massey was hostess assisted by Mrs. Thiessen, at a reception in honor of Mrs. F. Marling, wife of the minister of the Presbyterian church. The reception hall and living rooms were beautifully and appropriately decorated for the occasion. During the afternoon fifty two ladies called to greet Mrs. McParland and to leave a token of remembrance for future use. The following program was rendered: Instrumental music, Mrs. Mary McKinney; reading, Mrs. Williams; duet, Mesdames Lathrop; reading, Mrs. J. E. Waggoner; recitation, Mildred Bones; solo, Mrs. Mary McKinney; reading, Mrs. Rachel Enzi; solo, Mrs. Mildred Thiessen. After each gift had been opened and admitted, refreshments were served by the hostess. Adieus being said, everyone voting Mrs. Massey as among the ideal hostesses and always counting for further favors in the future. R. O. Thomas and wife are here from Portland for a few days.

WILL LIVE IN SALEM.

J. F. Hutchason, formerly district manager for the Mutual Life Insurance company, with headquarters in Roseburg has again made a contract with that company, and has been assigned to the territory from Salem to Roseburg, inclusive, as a salesman. Mr. Hutchason will make his headquarters at Salem, in letters to friends in this city, he states that his family will shortly come from Spokane to join him at Salem, where they will make their home. After leaving Roseburg, Mr. Hutchason went to Spokane, where he was offered a promotion in the work, but difficulties developed and he went to San Francisco, where considerable publicity was given the event. Mr. Hutchason has since been employed in a department store, but on receiving the offer of again working for the insurance company, returned to this state a short time ago. He visited in this city several days while on his way north.—Roseburg Review.

Your Rheumatism

The twists and aches of rheumatic sufferers usually yield to the rich oil-food treatment in when everything else fails. Besides helping to purify and enrich the blood Scott's strengthens the functions to throw off injurious acids and is especially beneficial during changing seasons. Many doctors themselves take Scott's. You Try It.

That was Aunt Margaret's slogan: "If you will look hard enough, you can find it in the house." Whatever the immediate need might be, it had to survive that test before anything could be bought, and thrift became a pleasant and ingenious family game under its stimulus.

There were not great resources in the house; either a chest, several place bags, a hand box or two, a junk box, a few tools. It was amazing what treasure they could be made to give up. Little finds—cushion covers that could be turned into knitting bags, paper clips tacked up for toothbrush holders—were a daily matter of course; but the slogan met the test of producing lace hats and wool-winders and wood boxes, and even the back of a sofa did not break it down.

One of the girls wanted to scrap the useful cot in her room and buy a proper couch. "It looks so impossibly cozy, like that, with no back," she declared; "and you can't find the back of a sofa in the house!" Aunt Margaret's face took on its familiar brooding look, and she began to poke about on shelves and in closets. Presently was heard what the girls called "the hum of creation"—a little tuneless humming that always followed successful inspiration. Then sawing and hammering. A low wooden

Breezy Letter from Wellknown Salem Man

January 15, 1918. Dear Mr. Sargent: I received your letter in due time, also the circular letters sent out to banks in regard to membership in federal reserve system, and correspondence with the department, etc. My address for some time to come will be in care of Receiving Ship, San Francisco, Cal., and I shall surely appreciate your kindness if you will remember me from time to time in sending out reports and abstracts, etc. I have been basier' the Dickens in the last three weeks—running on eight cylinders the whole time. I like the work very much because it is so interesting, and I am doing my best to make good, for I hope they will give proper instruction. Last week two young doctors from this station were sent to the far east. One of them was like a thunder bolt from a clear sky, very unexpected.

The fellows with whom I work here in the office are fine men. I thought, as I am a reserve officer, that the regulars would sore of "rub it in," but it is just the opposite, they do all they can to show me the work. The pay master is a good fellow, he has done a lot for me in seeing that I receive my pay. The day I reported, I was assigned to the U. S. Ship Rainbow, then serving as receiving ship, and as all the rooms on the ship were occupied, the executive officer of the ship informed me that I would have to sleep in the fore-cabin, with the sailors; I told him that was the least of my troubles, or words to that effect. About twenty minutes later he came to me and told me that I could occupy his quarters, that he slept ashore—pretty soft, for he furnished me with sheets, blankets, etc., which I otherwise would have had to buy. The meals on the Rainbow were the best I have eaten in a long time—with the exception of a roast duck dinner which Carl and I ate at Clay's. The meals on the Rainbow cost us about $17 per month. Talk about the service—three Filipinos did the honors, and a darky cook—the St. Francis way. The Rainbow was ordered away in December, since then I have been living ashore.

Ten days ago one of the ovens—a regular pay clerk—was ordered to San Pedro, and I was assigned to his desk. I have charge of the ship's store or station store. I have to draw up the proposals, assist in awarding the contracts—new contracts are made every quarter—order the goods, pay the bills, take an inventory occasionally, and watch things in general. I just finished the quarterly inventory. During the quarter just ended we sold over thirty thousand dollars worth of goods, namely, tobacco, cigars, candies, toilet articles, etc. I expect to be transferred to other work soon. This is the busiest time of the year, which is very fortunate for me. Two more men from this office—pay clerks—go to Mare Island tomorrow, which means more work for me. As I said before, the work is very interesting, although somewhat complicated to a beginner like myself.

At one time, two weeks ago, we had over five thousand men stationed here. All recruits are held in quarantine for three weeks, and are not permitted to leave the detention camp. Being fencible in for three weeks is extra hard on some of the fellows who have been used to doing pretty much as they pleased. Five fellows from the First National bank, Portland, are stationed here and just got out of the detention camp. I was surprised to see them.

I received a letter this morning telling of the departure of Fritz, Jim and Dan. I hope they like the work. I was clerk and stenographer in the ordnance department of the 3rd Oregon while on the border—they will always be in the midst of shot and shell, or where the bullets are thick as they are.

How is the assistant superintendent of banks—give him my "love"; also —r. Hooper, I received a Christmas card from each of them. I certainly enjoyed reading "Long Live the King"—all of Mary Roberts Rinehart's books are "thrillers." I thank you and Mrs. Sargent for the kind remembrance. In a recent issue of the Capital Journal which I received yesterday, my name appeared with the "delinquents," or those who failed to return the questionnaire to the board. I never received a questionnaire. They will be sending me for trying to evade the law.

Please remember me to Schramm and Miss Holcomb. I thank Miss Holcomb for the card and kind wishes. Please write me a letter—when you're not playing golf, examining marks, etc. My kindest regards to Mrs. Sargent. Sincerely yours, —BARTH.

clothes-horse had been brought up, and unfolded, it was just the length of the cot. That was enough for Aunt Margaret. Off came the top projections and a few inches from the bright, strips of single nailed on, kept it straight, the cot's house cover was nailed over the top, cushions were ranged against it—and the slogan stood, breathless but triumphant.

Shallow dr wires have acted as serving trays in the house, recessed doors long disused, have waked up to find themselves tacked into cupboards, brass wire, based on tacks, kept a row of boots from the closet floor. One of the girls has just defied her to find a grand piano in the house. Aunt Margaret is still considering the dare—but there is no doubt that she will do it, and at no expense whatever.

Yeoman News Notes

Mack Standifer and son Carson have taken a job of slashing and grubbing for William Setak of about 2 acres; they expect to get it finished in about 2 months and then Carson says he is going to eastern Oregon.

E. P. Mills and wife were greatly surprised a few days ago when they got a letter from their son, Bennie, who joined the army almost 2 years ago, but never let his friends know anything about his whereabouts until he wrote about 2 months ago that he was sergeant in company M at Lee Hill, Va.

Mrs. Mather of Halls Ferry is visiting at the home of Mrs. Mack Standifer for a few days, and then she expects to move to Oregon City. Mrs. Harry Lundean is spending a few days at Turner visiting friends and relatives before she moves back to Oregon City.

There was a large number of ladies attended the Red Cross at the Fruitland church Thursday; they made pillows during the afternoon. The box social held at the Fruitland school house Thursday night, the proceeds I understand go to pay for the piano, that was bought for the literary.

SAFE, GENTLE REMEDY CLEANSSES YOUR KIDNEYS

For centuries GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been a standard household remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and stomach trouble, and all diseases connected with the urinary organs. The kidneys and bladder are the most important organs of the body. They are the filters, the purifiers of your blood. If the poisons which enter your system through the blood and stomach are not entirely thrown out by the kidneys and bladder, you are doomed. Weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, headache, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, difficulty when urinating, cloudy and bloody urine, rheumatism, sciatica and dumbago, all warn you to look after your kidneys and bladder. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are what you need. They are not a "patent medicine," nor a "new discovery." For 20 years they have been a standard household remedy. They are the pure, original imported Haarlem Oil your great grand mother used, and are perfectly harmless. The healing, soothing oil soaks into the cells and lining of the kidneys and through the bladder, driving out the poisonous germs. New life, fresh strength and health will come as you continue the treatment. When completely restored to your usual vigor, continue taking a capsule or two each day; they will keep you in condition and prevent a return of disease. Do not delay a minute. Delays are especially dangerous in kidney and bladder trouble. All druggists sell GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They will refund the money if not as represented. In three sizes, sealed packages. Ask for the original, imported GOLD MEDAL. Accept no substitutes.
