BIGGS ASPIRANT FOR LEGISLATURE

Announcement Was Made at Meeting of Businessmen's League Last Night

At a meeting of the Business Men's League last night announcement was made of the candidacy of Z. J. Biggs, Salem druggist, for a seat in the next legislature on the republican ticket.

W. A. Denton called attention to the fact that the business men of the state, especially the merchants, should get organized and be prepared to fight certain measures which are expected to come before the next session. He stated that the trading stamp forces which were defeated at the last session are expected to come back with increased strength, and that the Salem delegation to the annual convention of the state retail grocers' association which meets in Portland next week will make a strong effort to have next year's convention brought to Salem, which will take place at the same time the legislature is in session. Mr. Denton urged that as many members of the league as possible attend the meeting in Portland next week.

One of the interesting addresses of the evening was that of T. F. Rhoten, representative of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, who is now making his home in Salem. Mr. Rhoten spoke on war savings thrift stamps sales.

W. A. Wiest handed in his resignation as attorney for the Business Men's League, giving as his reason his new duties as deputy clerk of the supreme court. The resignation was accepted and a successor will be appointed by the board of directors.

In the absence of Director Fullerton, Hal D. Patton presided at the meeting last night.

Mischiefous Boys Are Endangering Life

Manager W. M. Hamilton of the Willamette valley division of the P. R. L. & P. company, states that lives and property are being endangered along the high power transmission line between Salem and Mount Angel by the careless or mischiefous breaking of insulators along the line. The wires carry 57,000 volts of electricity, 500 or which will kill a person. Mr. Hamilton says that a large number of insulators have recently been broken by being shot at with rifles or struck by stones thrown by school children going along the road. Frequently when the insulators are broken it will cause a short circuit, burning the wire in two and allowing the ends to drop to the ground. Should children or live stock come in contact with these live wires it would mean instant death. Mr. Hamilton states that recently 16 insulators were put on in one day. Letters have been mailed to residents along the line urging them to take the matter up with their children.

Great Britain's Big War Machine Grows

London, Feb. 13.—Eight hundred and twenty thousand men were added to the British army in 1917 while 730,000 men and 804,000 women were assigned to essential war work. Chancellor of the Exchequer Bonar Law announced in the house of commons this afternoon.

The chancellor said that Great Britain now had 30 per cent more guns and twice as many airplanes as in 1916 and had built 1,163,000 tons of shipping—twice the amount built in 1916.

Willamette U. Notes

Last evening in the college chapel, Prof. Florian Von Eschen delivered his lecture on "The influences of the war on our chemical industries." Prof. J. T. Matthews occupied the chair. The lecture was preceded by a vocal solo by Paul Sterling.

Prof. Von Eschen outlined the present needs in the line of chemical manufacturing, and the way in which America is meeting them. He spoke especially of the munition and dye industries. He said that our shortage of dyes is due not to lack of chemists, but to bad legislation which renders the dye industry impracticable.

The second portion of the lecture dealt with the problem which will confront us after the war when competition with foreign countries will again set in. Prof. Von Eschen says that with adaptation, cooperation, and good legislation America will be able to dispose of all the chemicals she can manufacture, and will be in a position to compete with any and all foreign industries.

Judge and Prosecutor Clash Over Death Penalty

San Francisco, Feb. 13.—Superior Judge Cabanis clashed with District Attorney Fickert when the second trial of Israel Weinberg, charged with complicity in the preparedness day parade bomb explosion opened in Judge Cabanis' court today.

The judge ordered Fickert into the courtroom. He declared that word had reached him that Fickert didn't want the trial held in that court because Judge Cabanis opposes the death penalty.

Fickert was summoned and sat silently while Louis Ferrari, assistant district attorney, fought vainly for a lengthy continuance of the trial. After the judge had put the case over to next Monday that subpoena may be served, he turned to Fickert.

"I am opposed to capital punishment in some cases but not in all," the judge remarked. "Have you any comment to make?"

"Nothing that I haven't already said," Fickert replied.

During the morning two other features developed:

Frank C. Oxman may be brought as a witness at the second Weinberg trial, and J. M. Crowley, witness in the Billings case, may never again give testimony in an earthly court.

"Word we have received indicates that Crowley was lost on the Tascania," Ferrari announced.

Intimation that Oxman may again be produced was given when Attorney Maxwell McNutt said:

"We will agree to have his, or any other testimony read into the record—that is all except Oxman."

Ferrari demanded to know why Oxman was accepted.

"You had a chance to bring him in at Weinberg's first trial and you didn't do it. I don't know what you'd want him for now," said McNutt.

"That's no indication we will never use him again," Ferrari retorted.

The judge denied a continuance until after the supreme court acts on the case of Thomas Mooney. He insisted that Weinberg be tried at once and set Monday for the time.

State House News

F. A. Erixon of Salem has been awarded the contract for the construction of the memorial building at Champege, for which the last legislature appropriated $5000. The contract price is $4298.

State Highway Engineer Nunn is in receipt of a letter from G. Lomonosoff, president of the Russian mission on ways of communication, which consists of Russian government engineers and is now in New York. The letter asks for information on highway construction in this state, and says the Russian commission desires to obtain all the information possible on American machines and methods in highway work and also railroad and water transportation, as one of the big tasks before that country is to build ways of communication.

Situation In Austria Regarded As Serious

Zurich, Feb. 13.—"The seriousness of the internal situation in Austria must be borne in mind," the Berliner Tageblatt declares, in copies received here today.

"Government is no longer possible, since the Czechs, Jugo-Slavs and Poles form an important majority against which the German parties are powerless."

MANY AVIATORS KILLED.

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 13.—Lieutenant Wray and Cadet Peter of the Canadian royal flying corps were killed at Hicks field this afternoon when their machine fell to the earth.

Approximately forty aviators have been killed at the training fields near here since the aviation camps were opened.

REAMES TO SEATTLE.

Portland, Or., Feb. 13.—Clarence L. Reames, who resigned as federal district attorney for Oregon to become a special investigator for the department of justice, goes to Seattle Sunday to begin work for enforcement of war protective measures. The new position carries a salary of $7200 yearly.

Two Americans Were Wounded In Action

Washington, Feb. 13.—Two members of the American expeditionary force in France were severely wounded in action February 11, the war department announced today.

The wounded: Sergeant Samuel B. Roper, Passaic, N. J., and Schuyler M. League, Jefferson, Texas.

Slightly wounded: Corporal William F. Taylor, Albi, Scotland; Arthur C. Schoenfeldt, Larsen, Wis.

Following are deaths reported from natural causes:

John P. Perrotta, Mission, San Jose, Cal.; William Logan, Arcadia, S. C.; Sergeant Howard E. Leonard, New York; George E. Edwards, Torrington, Wyo.

Berling's report today developed the fact that Joseph Biggs, American field artillery, wounded in action February 9, returned to the fighting on February 11, and was again wounded in action. Biggs lives in Roxbury, Mass.

German-American Editor Protests His Loyalty

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 13.—A petition from the 143rd League to the city council asking that all papers printed in an alien enemy language be stopped and their representatives barred from the council floor caused an exciting session of that body today.

Max E. Socha, editor of "Germania" a German newspaper, defended his paper, declaring it is patriotic and could serve a patriotic purpose by carrying messages of patriotism to those Germans who cannot read English.

He said the files are open to inspection and would have them translated for the council on request.
