High Grade Shoes

The Brown Shoe Co. is a wonderful organization of many specialty shoe factories owned and operated by one management, but each factory equipped to produce one particular class of MEN'S, WOMEN'S, OR CHILDREN'S SHOES. The machinery is adapted for a certain class of work and the workmen are trained for that particular class of work. That's why every shoe bearing their trademark is the best of its kind.

BUSTER BROWN SHOES FOR BOYS

are built of selected leather suitable for boys wear, and every pair has best grade oak tanned leather soles, which means honest service. We carry them in a variety of shapes in lace or button to suit individual tastes. The boy who goes out of his way to kick tin cans and brick-bats needs a pair of our sole leather tip shoes. We have a shoe cut through the tip to show how they're made. You should ask to see it.

BUSTER BROWN SHOES FOR GIRLS

have proven so satisfactory that mothers who wore them when they were young now insist upon having them for their daughters. Of course the styles and lasts have changed with the seasons, but the same high grade leathers and workmanship still make them the most popular shoes on the market for girls from infant's sizes up to the young ladies' who prefer the comfortable foot shaping lasts with moderate height heels, rather than the regular ladies' lines. The vamps are made from Vici Kid, Gunmetal Calf, and patent leathers with best oak tanned leather soles.

You will find that it is true economy to buy the best standard footwear in these days of leather scarcity and inferior substitutes so freely used by many factories. Our plan of business insures lowest possible prices.

AMERICAN TANKER

Apparently picking her own position, she remained slightly on the vessel's port stern and fired from that position, the forward gun's shells still dropping short.

Fight at Close Range.
"The submarine then drew closer, using both guns at tandem fire, the shells falling on both sides of the ship. Shrapnel was now being used and some of the shells burst before contact, scattering about the deck. One of the shells burst against port bow.

"Shells fell in all directions on both a shell burst close to the ship's stern. Fragments became embedded in the wooden deck at the rear of the gun crew. A German shell burst alongside of the starboard bow. The tremendous concussion threw all the men on the platform to the deck face forward.

"Both of the Paulebors's guns now had the range of the submarine and a rapid fire was kept up. The submarine had apparently dropped back and the ship's shells either fell on top of the submarine or close to her bow.

"The submarine then ceased firing, swung broadside to, and submerged or sank, bow first, with the stern up at an angle of about 15 degrees. She disappeared in about 20 seconds. It is believed that the submarine was damaged and in distress."

The Vacuum Oil company praised the gun crew and the master of the vessel, Frank W. Chapman, added his praise for them, for Reiter and for Conrad Johannson, who was at the wheel.

GERMANS BEGIN

to waste their strength in the present onslaught. Already, therefore, a slight reaction is appearing in Germany against the promises of the Hohenzollerns that the Kaiser's human sacrifices would win the war for those German people that were left.

With the French army still fresh, German socialists are beginning to see that the battle now raging cannot be decisive for Germany. Soon, a realization on the part of the American army is yet to play in the struggle will add more powerfully to the reaction.

There is no reason for pessimism in the face in the manner in which the fighting is now proceeding. At every important point, the Germans are being held and there are increasing indications that the initiative is beginning to pass to the British and French. The allies' line is now being strengthened by fresh reinforcements, while Von Hindenburg's reserve lines are growing fewer. The Kaiser is losing his gamble with death.

ALLIES ARE READY

cannot make this drive a victory. The greatest optimism prevails as to the outcome.

Assting Chief of Staff March is in constant touch with developments as they affect the whole allied problem, and particularly the American end thereof. General Bliss at the international war council is keeping him advised of the most intimate details.

A report from Bliss last night revealed the main facts as contained in yesterday's communications, while another message from General Pershing, perhaps containing interesting data on the drive, was in late last night for despatch. March has promised to give what information he safely can, as soon as possible.

Loss of territory means nothing.

SCHOOL GIRL TELLS OTHERS

How They Can Find Relief From Periodic Sufferings.

Nashua, N. H.—"I am nineteen years old and every month for two years I had such pains that I would often faint and have to leave school. I had such pain I did not know what to do with myself and tried so many remedies that were of no use. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and decided to try it, and that is how I found relief from pain and feel so much better than I used to. When I hear of any girl suffering as I did I tell them how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me."—DELINA MARTIN, 28 Bowers St., Nashua, N. H.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

State Veterinarian Lytle announces that the state livestock sanitary board will meet in Portland on the 28th of March to consider the question of dipping sheep this year. This is supposed to be an annual affair but has not been done over the state as a whole since 1907. This year was to see the whole state dipping ordered, but as it is almost impossible to secure competent help, it is probable that the affair will be postponed another year.

The second junior Rainbow regiment is about to be filled and it is probable that the last 100 names will be added by Superintendent Churchill today. This makes 2000 Oregon school children who have sold at least $50 worth of thrift stamps, and it is believed that the average for those in the regiments is nearer $100, as almost all have run over the quota. In addition there are probably twice as many more children who have tried but did not manage to sell the required amount.

Are You One of the Ninety Per Cent?

Only 10 per cent of the population of the United States are taking any interest in their teeth. Only 10 per cent brush their ivories, use mouth washes and keep in hailing distance of the tusk inspector.

The other 90 per cent don't care a whoop whether their fangs crumble to pieces through decay and fall out or have to be snaked out by a journeyman snag hoister.

Think of 90 per cent of what are supposed to be an intelligent nation letting the most useful apparatus in the human body go to the dickens like a grand piano left outdoors all winter.

A man will keep his face shaved regularly and a woman will zealously brush and comb his hair, but both, like as not, will let a healthy tribe of germs roost in their jaws year after year, keeping house and raising fat families of trouble breeders.

The reason why such a large percentage of human beings ignore their teeth until it is too late is because most of them don't know any better. The Dental Trust doesn't believe in educating the public about tooth caution.

And, then, lots and lots of others fear the dental chair, the forceps and the buzzing dental engine—just as a four-year-old fears papa's slipper. That's because they don't know about painless dentistry—or don't believe in it.

Perhaps you are not in either class. Perhaps you are just putting it off, waiting until you can brave the dentist, prepared to let him stand you on your head and shake the last stray nickel out of your pockets. That's because you don't know of the toothsmith who is willing to defy the Dental Trust and charge a fair price to fit a slim pocketbook instead of demand the dizzy fees, prescribed by the amalgamated porch climbers.
