CITY NEWS

The class on "War Bread" will meet for the second time Saturday at 2:30. Ninety women were present at the previous meeting, but there is room for more. A very interesting part of the lecture is the free discussion of experiments the ladies had tried. Miss Anthony promises that the second lesson will be just as helpful to those who were not present before as to those who were. All housewives are cordially invited. The class meets in the auditorium in the basement of the public library.

Sol M. Stock left on the late train last evening for his home in San Francisco, after spending yesterday and the fore part of the evening in this city. Mr. Stock was formerly a prominent business man of Salem, being located here about twenty years ago, and was one of the original members of the local order of Elks. He attended the meeting of the Elks last night and met many of his old former associates.

King Bing Hal D. Patton, of the Salem Chiropractors, has received a letter from the Liberty loan committee of Portland asking that a delegation of Chiropractors go to Portland and participate in a big liberty loan parade which is planned to have in Portland on April 6. Mr. Patton has called a meeting of the "nobles" to consider the matter, but is very doubtful if the invitation can be accepted as it is probable a similar parade will be held in Salem on the same date.

The cradle roll superintendent, assisted by the ladies of the First Methodist church, will entertain the mothers and babies of the cradle roll department, Saturday afternoon, March 30, from 3 to 5 o'clock, in the Sunday school room of the church. Refreshments will be served and a musical program enjoyed.

Much interest of the Willamette student body centers in the debate which is to be held at Waller hall tonight between the local institution and Puget Sound university. The topic debated is "Resolved, that the United States should adopt the essential features of the New Zealand system of arbitration for labor disputes." A rivalry has existed between the two colleges for many years. Willamette representatives tonight will be Miss Anderson and Mr. Paulus, who recently scored in the debate between Willamette and Pacific college, at Forest Grove. Judges of the contest will be Walter H. Evans, J. O. Stearns, Sr., and Prof. A. P. McKinley, all of Portland. The contest will begin at 8:30.

Dean George H. Alden will be one of the speakers at the Sunday school convention which will be held next Sunday, March 31, at the Keizer school house north of town.

The wood sawyers of the city have long beheld the spectacle of price raising for everything else except that for sawing a cord of wood, which has been about 50 cents, the sawyers say.

TO THE PUBLIC

I wish to state that I am not pro-German in any respect, and that I mean what I said relative to the capture of troops in France simply as a joke. All that is reported I did not say or do.

I now realize how serious it is to joke in such a manner. My wife is and has been engaged in Red Cross work, and I have done my best in many ways.

I am of Scotch-Irish and French descent, American born, and my wife is American born Scottish descent. I am very sorry I have been so misunderstood as I have been.

CHARLES E. STEELE

SOCIETY

The regular parent teachers meeting will be held this evening at Mount View school house, Polk county. Miss Sylvia Bell will speak on "Democracy in Education" and Miss Gregory will give one of Mary Wilkins Freeman's readings, entitled "The Revolt of Mother." The meeting is called for eight o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisher are entertaining Mrs. Fisher's sister, Mrs. E. McElmood, and daughter, Miss Nellie McElmood, of Chesham, Washington. They arrived last evening and will remain two weeks.

The Three Link Needle club held its regular social meeting last Friday at the home of Mrs. Fred Swanson. Needle work for the Red Cross occupied the afternoon, after which a simple luncheon was served.

Over two hundred invitations have been issued for a dancing party next week, Saturday, April 6th, to be given by the Three Link club at Cotillion hall. It is a benefit dance for the degree team of the Rebekah lodge, which is planning a trip to Seaside this summer, where the grand lodge convention will be held.

Mrs. Fred Bechtel has returned from a brief visit in Portland with relatives and friends.

PETTY ADVANCES

from Avion (one mile south of Lens and about three north of Arras) to below the Scarpe, which crosses the battle line directly east of Arras, about six miles south of Avion, was the scene of a hurricane bombardment of high explosives, gas shells and shrapnel, inflicting actions followed.

The conditions were identical with the initial "kick off" a week ago Thursday. Fierce fighting developed, the enemy making headway south of the Scarpe only, in massed formations, at frightful cost.

Hill is Corpses Strown

Orange hill, around which a great battle swirled in April, 1917, is again strewn with corpses, unformed in grey-green. Telegraph hill, nearby, like wise is covered with dead, as the enemy desperately attempts to reach Arras.

(Telegraph hill is about midway between Lens and Arras. On its north is the famous Vimy ridge. To the south is the labyrinth.)

Meantime the struggle kept up north and south of Albert, from where the Germans are trying to push westward, with greedy eyes on Amiens, (12 miles to the southwest.) Here they have made little or no progress, the British driving them back with heavy losses.

The Franco-British forces on the south bank reported hard battles with little enemy headway.

Hindenburg has put fresh divisions after fresh divisions into the struggle since it commenced. Well over seventy divisions (approximately 840,000 men) have appeared on the fighting line.

Commanding the enemy troops in the storm centers are the pick of the German generals—Otto Von Below, on the north; Von Hofacker in the center and Von Hutner on the south.

Below must not be confused with Fritz Von Below who lost Vimy ridge and his job simultaneously. Otto commanded the Eighth army. Later, during the allied drive in Macedonia, he commanded the Bulgarian-Germans and there won the order pour le merite for personally leading the Ninth Jager battalion in a "forlorn hope" having a dangerous situation.

At the same time, it is hinted in well informed circles that the allies are playing a deep game in the battle and the possibility of a surprise stroke on the Germans seems expected. There is a strong sense of replacement waiting among allied military men.

Summit is Reached

Washington, Mar. 29.—Confidently and expectantly, America looked out upon the west front death struggle.

Today and tomorrow, many officers said, will tell the tale of good news for democracies on the "frontier of freedom," or will mark for them a gloomy chapter.

All the news from the authorities early today, however, cheered them. They forecast that British and French legions, with some of the American victory reserve, would stand off the Germans, hammering at the gates of western civilization.

News from General Pershing indicated that the enemy has drained his reserve to the utmost and has now drawn upon the east front for further reinforcements. He is staking his all on the west line, but the British, French and American strategic reserve apparently is now getting rapidly into the struggle. The German spike driven out at Montdidier is heaved. The gallant French pounding at the flank apparently are developing a strong counter offensive, which will menace the Germans considerably. Meantime, the British defense is solidifying. The German has been slowed down and his

H. G. Starkweather Asks Democrats to Make Him Candidate for Governor

H. G. Starkweather, so far the only democratic candidate for governor has filed his notice with the secretary of state. As his slogan he has adopted "Unity, the state's agricultural, industrial and commercial forces to win the war." The following platform is announced:

I will, conduct the executive affairs of the state to an efficient and business like manner, and will have no interest to serve out the public interest.

The great overshadowing question before the people of the state at this time, is how can Oregon do her full duty in winning the war?

To this end, all agricultural, industrial, and commercial forces of the state should be brought into the closest harmony, in order that we may have unity of purpose and action in securing increased production and in facilitating the delivery of the various products of our state.

AN ARMED FIGHTER

Crystal Springs, Miss., Mar. 28.—Henry Hopperich, a German man who is said to have cursed the United States, may die as the result of being attacked by Alexander Kerenki, an armless Pole.

Kerenki wrapped his legs around the German's body and bit him in the face and neck. Physicians say he has little chance for recovery.

EVERY MEAL A POISONOUS INJECTION

Few folks suffering from kidney and bladder troubles ever think that the meals which they were taking are hastening their death. Every morsel of food taken gives up its quantity of uric acid. This poison is taken into the system through a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder. In the healthy man nature provides an outlet for this poison. Those in ill health must take a medicinal help to drive this death dealing poison from the system. For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL HAMMILL'S CAPSULES have been doing this work. They effect prompt relief in all diseases arising from kidney and bladder troubles. Don't put off this vital matter of attending to your health until it is time to make your funeral arrangements. PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH vitality is being sapped by death and injury.

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache, no yawning, sniffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly. It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

The American Part

The extent to which American troops have participated and will participate in still a matter of secrecy. They are known to have had some part and it is assumed by high officers that perhaps 100,000 will have a share in smashing the foe.

The German drive about Arras is regarded as an effort to straighten out his line, so that it would not be menaced by a British counter attack there. But, though yesterday, the tide of battle veered considerably on the British section, the struggle there, as a whole, was favorably viewed by American military men.

They now incline to the belief that Hindenburg designed to crash down upon the channel ports, but they believe that this move—or a re-drive for Paris—has been and will continue to be thwarted.

While their line operations proceed, the Germans apparently are redoubling their submarine efforts. Last week's roll of shipping—29 vessels—is the largest since the United States entered the war. Naval experts believe the Germans are putting every available U-boat into the ocean to aid the land drive by bagging the hurrying transport ships.

May Stir to Revolt

On the psychological side of the situation, diplomats saw a possibility—admittedly based mainly on a hope—that the Teuton casualties will stir up a revolution in Germany. They pointed out that Germany is now saying her losses about "normal" except at more important points. "Normal" means a mighty loss when considered in the light of Hindenburg's prodigious onslaughts. Much depends on the success of the allied counter offensive. If this jolts the German sufficiently, internal difficulties are likely to follow, diplomats say.

The Teuton disposition feeds on success and despair at reverse, they declare, and government information indicates that the people of Germany will not stand for a defeat on the west line, in view of Hindenburg's promises of success.

Official Rome dispatches today related that Austria is surprised and disappointed that the British and French have not been forced to withdraw from Italy to aid on the western lines. The Italian military organization thinks Austria fully expected to see a drain on the allied forces in Italy and to follow it by a drive across the Piave.

This bit of miscalculation, the dispatches suggest, has upset the Teuton plans temporarily, but reserves are still being massed and a blow against Italy is still anticipated. Artillery is being brought in from Rumania and Southern Russia.

MOTHERS TO BE

Should Read Mrs. Monahan's Letter Published by Her Permission.

Mitchell, Ind.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me so much during the time I was looking forward to the coming of my little one that I am recommending it to other expectant mothers. Before taking it, sometimes I suffered with neuralgia so badly that I thought I could not live, but after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was entirely relieved of neuralgia. I had gained in strength and was able to go around and do all my household work. My baby when seven months old weighed 15 pounds and I feel better than I have for a long time. I never had any medicine do me so much good."—Mrs. FEARL MONAHAN, Mitchell, Ind.

Good health during maternity is a most important factor to both mother and child, and many letters have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., telling of health restored during this trying period by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dentistry Done to a Standard Not to a Price

I don't advertise set prices for dental work. You will never see me promising to sell to all comers gold crowns for $3.50, porcelain fillings for $2.00 or bridge work for $5.00, and talking that sort of nonsense to you.

I am selling reasonable priced but expert dentistry. I'm not peddling hand-me-down molars. I'm not trying to run a five-and-ten-cent store with a few gross of second rate incisors on the counter. I'm not in the business of foisting on the public shoddy, catch-penny goods—not in this line of work where vitally valuable human teeth are the price of unscrupulousness.

No honest dentist can tell me that he can give every patient the same job for the same time, care and price. No two dental operations are identically alike. Human teeth are the same all over the world, but careless habits, indifference, neglect and, often, other physical causes bring about abnormal conditions. How, then can I conscientiously promise you that a gold crown on your upper bicuspids will cost exactly what it will to put a gold crown on your neighbor's lower molar?

It's cruel to tip off the professional secrets of some of the merry maxillary mechanics of my acquaintances, but I can't resist explaining that the advertising of fixed prices is merely a rude dodge to bait customers into the dental "parlor" and there talk them into contracting for work much more expensive than that so glibly advertised.

Dental operations that are cheap in price are too often cheap in workmanship. The Painless Parker offices are a unit in their insistence on the best of skilled work, all up to a fixed standard. The prices vary, of course, but, with our perfect business organization, our corps of specialists and our ability to buy the best goods in bulk at a low rate, we can quote figures far below Dental Trust fees—and still make our reasonable profit.
