San Francisco, Mar. 30.—Chairman Will H. Hayes of the republican national committee is coming to California

WHY WE ARE AT WAR WITH GERMANY

By
EPHRAIM DOUGLASS ADAMS
Executive Head, History Department
Leland Stanford Junior University

"The object of this war is to deliver the free peoples of the world from the menace and the actual power of a vast military establishment controlled by irresponsible government, which, having secretly planned to dominate the world, proceeded to carry out the plan without regard either to the sacred obligations of treaty or the long-established principles of international action and honor. It is the ruthless master of the German people. It is our business to see to it that the history of the rest of the world is no longer left to its handling."
—President Wilson, August 27, 1917.

THE MATERIAL AIMS OF GERMANY

Germany believes that she has the right to dominate the world. Her militaristic autocracy believes that this war is a step toward such world domination, but that German demands for the present may rest satisfied with substantial gains in Europe. For years German political writing has been full of the "terms of peace" after a war, and today those terms remain unaltered. The Russian negotiations have served to prove that what has for a long time been public opinion, is now official opinion. The quotations will show this.

First, the more general purposes: "If we come victorious out of this war, we shall be the first people on the earth, a rich stream of gold will pour over the land." "Expansion of our power both East and West, if possible also over seas; political and military domination combined, indissolubly connected with economical expansion, this is our war aim." "The territory open to future German expansion must extend from the North Sea and the Baltic to the Persian Gulf, absorbing the Netherlands and Luxembourg, Switzerland, the whole basin of the Danube, the Balkan Peninsula and Asia Minor."

Second, the immediate aims: "Our relations with Turkey have drawn us into this war. . . the Bagdad Railway must be extended by us to the open sea, even to India itself." "Belgium must remain under German domination. . . there exists no better line of attack for the German army in a future war with France, whom it is necessary 'to weaken to such a degree that she can never again be dangerous to us.' "Will anybody believe that we will hand over the lands which we have occupied in the West, on which the blood of our people has flowed? "We are not an institute for lengthening the life of dying states."

But it is on Poland and Western Russia that Germany has all along fixed her eyes. "We ought not to let fall the sword from our hand before we have assured our future. Our eastern boundaries must not remain where they are." "Livonia, Kurland, Esthonia, have been for more than seven centuries sister-countries united through German traditions. It is true Germans do not yet represent 10 percent of the inhabitants; but their character filters through the whole." "Let us bravely organize great forced migrations of the inferior peoples. Posterity will be grateful to us. We must coerce them! This is one of the tasks of war. Such forced migrations may appear hard, but it is the only solution." "The inefficient peoples, discouraged and rendered indifferent to the future by the spectacle of the superior energy of their conquerors, may then crawl slowly towards the peaceful death of weary and hopeless senility." The writer of this was here viewing especially the non-German populations of South America.

How is America interested in the European political and territorial results of this war? Well, first, we are at war. Germany believes that peace now, on the terms she outlines, means a German victory. That means a continuance of military autocracy in Germany—a continuance of an aggressive policy—a continuance of German faith in its special destiny to rule the world.

Against that German ideal we are fighting. But we are also fighting to save the Americas from the "next step" in German imperialism. In the first year of the war, the one great fear expressed by German officers was that a long war in Europe would "cause America to wake up." Wake up to what? Not to the need of American participation in the war. The German officers thought America negligible for the time. But they did, and do, fear that America would awake to the danger to herself, her ideals, her institutions, her interests, and that being awakened, Germany's next step in world domination would be harder than the present one.

There is no hope of a changed Germany—of establishing those peaceful and friendly relations which should determine international conduct—if Germany gains her objects, or any part of them, in this war. She has set her heart upon certain material objects. We must see to it that she does not gain them. Then her first step blocked, we may hope that her people may awaken from their dream of empire. We fight for a world peace, yes; but we also fight for self-preservation, and our best chance to save ourselves is this present moment—now.

This is the second of a series of ten articles by Professor Adams.

Washington, March 30.—Administering America's food supply stimulating production, stabilizing distribution and encouraging food economy, has cost the nation to date $1,097,337.41, the food administration reported today to congress.

This does not include the lamp $50-000,000 fund invested in the establishment of the grain corporation which buys and sells for the allies.

Willamette Valley News

Auburn Red Cross Auxiliary Is Active

The Auburn Red Cross auxiliary was organized in January. The ladies held their first sewing circle Wednesday, January 17th and have met to sew, one afternoon each week. They have made and turned in to the Willamette chapter 712 articles as follows: 93 abdominal bandages, 105 four tailed bandages, 5 T bandages, 226 handkerchiefs, 20 triangular bandages, 43 operating leggings, 14 pair drawers, 8 pair knitted socks, 8 strings of gun wipers. And have almost as many more articles made waiting for tape.

The ladies of the East End have the following officers: Mrs. D. A. Brees, cutting; Mrs. Wm. Troy, pressing, folding and packing; Mrs. A. M. Lewis, returning finished articles to chapter; secretary, Mrs. W. Bray. The West End circle officers are as follows: Cutting, Mrs. J. Sutter and Mrs. A. J. Mathis; pressing and folding, Miss Myrtle Mathis; secretary, Mrs. L. Mathis. The work has been very neatly and accurately done.

The business meeting of the auxiliary is held at the school house each month. Very good speakers have been secured, also good music. Nearly 70 members have been secured. A Red Cross benefit is being planned for April 13th. An excellent program and ice cream and cake, sandwiches and coffee are among the plans. Admission tickets will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. More definite announcements will be made later.

TURNER NEWS

(United Press staff correspondent)
Turner, April 1.—The Masonic and Eastern Star orders gave Rollo A. Wagner and wife a farewell reception on the 27th. Brother Wagner is P. W. M. of Pearl Lodge, A. P. & A. M., also present secretary. After a regular banquet, Judge John Duncan was toastmaster, several recitations and solos and patriotic songs, Brother Wagner was presented with a Masonic ring as a token of appreciation from his brothers.

Walter Miller and R. Withersall have gone to the barracks. Miss Hallie Thomas of Portland and Miss Duena Bickel of Salem were in Turner Saturday evening.

Miss Alma Baker was home for the Easter holidays. C. F. Jones is in the garage now. Mrs. John Darby of Shaw was in town Wednesday, calling on friends.

Richard Gray spent Easter with home folks, returning to Eugene Monday morning.

Ulvin Denyer and family will move to Portland, where Mr. Denyer has secured a position.

The parent teacher association will not meet this week, owing to so much outside work being done.

Mrs. B. A. Briggs was in Salem Saturday shopping.

Herman R. Peetz is carrying the mail filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of R. A. Wagner.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Meekham spent Monday in Salem, the guests of Mr. Meekham, Sr.

DIED IN PORTLAND

Mrs. Bud DeSart was taken to Portland the fore part of last week where it was expected that an operation would be performed but she was too weak to undergo the operation and passed away Thursday night at about one o'clock. The family has the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement. For a number of years she has lived on a farm west of this city.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at one o'clock from the family home and interment was made in the Bethany cemetery.

Mrs. DeSart was forty seven years of age and had lived in Oregon all her life.—Silverton Appeal.

Auburn News

(Capital Journal Special Service)
Auburn, Or., April 1.—Several Auburn residents are spending the day in Salem.

On Sunday evening, March 31st, there will be a special Easter service held at the Zion church, beginning at seven o'clock; everybody invited.

Grant Erb is seriously sick with pneumonia. A doctor was called on Tuesday.

Mrs. L. D. Yoder and daughter, Wilma, and Mrs. Henry Deetz and Grandma Kaufman, visited at the home of A. F. Yoder and family last Tuesday.

Hubbard Men Have Refused To Aid Government

The Portland Journal publishes a list of Hubbard people who refused to buy war stamps on various grounds. Some are opposed to war, some declared themselves financially unable to buy (though considered fairly well to do), and others appear to be disloyal. Thirty Hubbard citizens have absolutely refused to support the government by buying stamps.

Those so refusing are Edward Z. Yoder, A. P. Troyer, Mr. H. Hostettler, Mrs. John Kropf, John Hamilton, David Shrock, A. J. Leis, Jos. Kaufman, Milton Burke, George Wachtman, A. E. Jones, Chas. Kropf, Arlan Saabe, S. S. Miller, S. L. Miller, Harvey Kropf, Mrs. S. L. Sals, Susan Sals, Anna Hostettler, A. D. Erb, S. A. Yoder, J. D. Mialler, Mrs. P. Hooley, Wm. Bond, D. Stauffer, Albin Hamilton, Levi Roth, L. D. Yoder, Jeff Yoder and Ben Stanton. The attitude of these individuals was disclosed by house to house canvassers who covered Hubbard last week in the interests of the thrift stamp and war savings stamp campaigns.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

That Easter Moon
(By Olive E. Henry)
Was you there that morning in spring-time
Did you go with the throng to the feast?
With the poor little lambs and the sparrows;
And the wine and the bread without yeast?
He was coming for you and for me

Did you see the King riding the real,
And the children bestrewn the street;
Shouts of Hosannah, acclaiming the tale
With palms and with song, Him to greet?
Fulfilling for you and for me.

Did you enter the gate of the temple?
Hear those words so lovingly kind?
See those hands so tenderly laid
On the sick, the deaf and the blind?
He was weeping for you and for me.

Was you called to the home of the friendly;
Eat the sweet pascal meat with the King?
See 'em bathe the feet of the lowly;
Sorrowing, yet helping to sing?
He was teaching for you and for me.

Did you go with the friends to the garden
Listen to counsels so heavenly divine?
Alone, was you thoughtlessly sleeping
While He, praying for yours and for mine,
His grief was for you and for me.

Did you enter the King's court of justice?
Hear the cursing and falsehood so bold?
See the body all weakened and bleeding?
Hear the stripes so brutally told?

Did you see all those bones out of joint
So long standing on the nails thru the feet?
That face so smitten and bleeding
One day at the judgment we will meet
Appointing for you and for me.

He was suffering for you and for me.
Did the priests offer prayer in the morning
While the tortured was carrying the cross?
And the soldiers were jeering and scoffing
And the people bemoaning their loss?
He was toiling for you and for me.

Did you follow all the way to the hill top?
And laugh while the nails were driven through?
Hoping for the wailing and weeping
Never thinking he was dying 'for you'?

He was bleeding for you and for me.
Did you see all those bones out of joint
So long standing on the nails thru the feet?
That face so smitten and bleeding
One day at the judgment we will meet
Appointing for you and for me.

DEATH OF JESSE STRAWN.

It was a sudden transition for Jesse Strawn, of Woodburn, last week which called him from all the life and good time of a sixteen-year-old school boy and in a few short hours to his death bed. He was taken seriously ill with appendicitis and brought to the Hubbard hospital last Thursday where the operation was performed, which because of the development of the case offered little hope at any time. Death followed Friday morning at 5:30. The young man was a half brother of Ivan Hochstetler of this place, and Simon, who enlisted in the aviation corps and is across the waters. Services were held in the Church of God at Woodburn, Sunday morning at 11:30 conducted by Rev. Oscar Lewis. Interment was at Brownsville cemetery. The mother of the deceased, Mrs. Salome Strawn, resides at Woodburn.—Hubbard Enterprise.

LOST OPPORTUNITY

One should not be presumptuous. Neither should he be unfair. But in thinking over problems That one should do or dare; Now can one be contented? Or, how can he 'ere forget, He lost the very sweetest, The kiss he didn't get!

Of all sad disappointments One is called upon to bear, Is the parting at the doorway With one who's good and fair; The parting—oh, so formal, Leaves longing and regret For there sure was something missing 'Twas the kiss one didn't get.

STUMEZE STOMACH TROUBLE RELIEVED BY FIRST DOSE

"I was bothered with nervous dyspepsia and chronic stomach trouble as badly the doctors could not give me any relief. They were going to take me to the X-ray but STUMEZE saved me the expense. One dose of STUMEZE and I got relief within twenty minutes, and am now back to myself again after months of agony. I have taken several bottles of this wonderful medicine and cannot recommend it too highly."—W. C. McDougal, Coronado, California. If your stomach hurts, if you have gas, sour eructs, belching, dyspepsia, indigestion, a tarth of the stomach or intestines, go now to your druggist and get a bottle of this master prescription for stomach and digestive ills. It is guaranteed.
