HINDENBURG CANNOT

Within a few days Hindenburg has halted his Amiens operations to attack the French fifty miles southeast along the Ailette river, and has curtailed his efforts there to assail the British front nearly 100 miles further north.

The old Hindenburg spirit of dogged pursuit along a well mapped out course is no longer apparent. Harried indecision has taken its place. Hindenburg's activities, in fact, are suggesting more and more the idea that the now west front has barred him in and he is rushing about his cage, vainly seeking some way of breaking the bars and gaining liberty of action.

In this situation it is General Foch's apparent purpose to let Hindenburg wear himself out. Since the German general staff seems to believe there is still a chance of capturing Calais and Boulogne, it is admirable strategy for the allies to encourage the knifer and add to his reputation as the exterminator of human manpower.

The channel ports are unquestionably safe. The more Germans are killed before Hindenburg recognizes that fact

SOCIETY

By CAROL S. DIBBLE

Messages of congratulation are finding their way south in response to the announcement received by Salem friends of the arrival of a son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William G. De Selm in San Diego, California, April the eighth. He has been named William Clifford, Mrs. De Selm, a former popular Salem girl, was Miss Ethel Brunk before her marriage, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Brunk, who reside near Eola.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hatch and small son of North Bend, who have been spending several days with Mr. Hatch's mother, Mrs. Lou R. Hatch, returned home today. Mrs. Hatch's daughter, Mrs. Murah Hatch Warner, who has also been the guest of her mother, will remain in Salem several days longer.

Of interest to her large circle of acquaintances throughout the state is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Lucile Danforth, state manager of the Girls' National Honor Society, to Otto George Voss, engineer with the Hawaiian Pineapple company of Honolulu. Miss Danforth will be well remembered by Salem people, having visited in Salem last year, when she assisted in forming the Girls' Honor Guard here.

The engagement of Miss Danforth and Mr. Voss was announced Saturday night at a dinner party given by the sister of the bride-elect, Mrs. David L. Hoggan. The bridegroom-to-be is a graduate of Oregon Agricultural college, is a member of Delta Sigma Delta fraternity, and attended Washington State college for some time. He is a native Oregonian with many friends in the state. Miss Danforth organized the Honor guard in nearly every county in Oregon and is popular here and in Washington. She has spent the past few months in Seattle, visiting with her father, Mr. C. M. Iman, at his home in Seattle with 1400 members. Miss Danforth is the daughter of Mrs. Dora Danforth of Portland.

Miss Danforth is in Portland for a few days and will return to Seattle to complete her work before sailing for Honolulu where the wedding will take place, Miss Drisko, of the Seattle Y. W. C. A., will accompany Miss Danforth to the islands.

The Willing Hands Red Cross auxiliary was pleasantly entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. M. Iman at her residence, 1445 Mission street.

Week end guests at the home of Mrs. Charles Elgin were Mrs. E. J. Seeley and daughter, Alice, of Portland, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson and son, Richard, of Portland. Mrs. Seeley and Mrs. Jackson are sisters of Mrs. Elgin.

Mrs. Rachel Mishler of Albany, who has been the guest of Mrs. O. P. Mishler, returned home the forepart of the week.

The Yomareo Sunday school class of the First Methodist church enjoyed a pleasant evening of diversion last night, when Mrs. F. E. Zimmerman entertained the members of the class at her home on Strassman street. Assisting the hostess in serving were Mrs. Walter Miner, Mrs. Richard Barton and Mrs. Cecil Hawley.

Miss Ida May DeWitt of Portland was a Salem visitor yesterday, when she was entertained by Mrs. George Alden at her home on North Liberty street. Miss DeWitt is the superintendent of the Portland Industrial Center.

Miss Jean Belle is enjoying a short visit in Portland.

The Loyal Woman's class of the Christian church will hold its regular monthly meeting tomorrow afternoon in the church parlors, when an especially interesting program will be given. All members and friends of the church are cordially invited.

Mrs. W. W. Sayer of Seattle is visiting her mother, Mrs. E. W. Hazard, who is ill at her home on South Summer street.

The Aid society of the Woman's Relief Corps will meet tomorrow afternoon at the armory at ten to five. A good attendance is desired.

Some Non-Residents Subscribe Bonds Here

Non-residents of Marion county owning land in the county have been asked by the county equalization board to send a portion of their purchases of Liberty loan bonds to this county, that the credit be given here. One of those who responded was John Persons of Galena, Oregon, sending a check for a $50 bond. A liberal response was made by M. A. Stratton, of 804 East Mill street, Portland, who sent in a check for $300 for the purchase of bonds. But all do not respond so patriotically, and John Bushy, who is on the board with U. G. Boyer and Ben F. West, says many are pleading poverty and as another excuse claiming they have not received adequate returns from the land.

PIONEER OIL MAN DEAD

Tasoma, Wash., April 9.—Widely known as a pioneer in the oil business in Pennsylvania, Joshua Pierce, aged 84, prominent Tasoma citizen, is dead here today of neuritis. The remains will be sent to Philadelphia for interment.

Pierce is said to have built the first oil pipe line in Pennsylvania and to have used the first electric dynamo in one of his mills. Included among his employes at one time was a young man named John D. Rockefeller, who afterward achieved some note as an oil magnate.

COLORES THAT ENDURE

Shortly after the war began, says the New York Independent, we were informed by the manufacturers, shopkeepers, and milliners that, since dyes could no longer be procured from Germany, no colors of any kind could be warranted as "fast." However, since then we have learned of three colors made in the United States that positively will not "run." These colors are red, white, and blue.

McGorty Confident

Racine, Wis., April 9.—"The middle weight title is as good as mine," Edie McGorty claimed today. The Oshkosh battler celebrated his return to the ring with a victory over Frankie Brennan of Detroit here last night. SHE SUFFERED FIVE YEARS

Finally Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Key West, Fla.—"For five years I suffered from irregularities, with terrible pains and an awful weakness in my back. The doctor gave me different medicines but they did me no good. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I found it to be the best medicine I ever tried because it made me well, and I can now do my housework. I am telling my friends about it."—Mrs. J. M. Camus, 728 Caroline St., Key West, Florida.

Many women at some period in their life suffer from ailments peculiar to their sex and which in most cases may be readily relieved by this famous root and herb medicine, Lydia E. MEAT PRODUCTION MUST BE INCREASED INSTEAD OF PRICES

Export Demand and Growth of Population Causes Shortage

Washington, April 9.—The new meat commission appointed by President Wilson at the request of Food Administrator Hoover, met here today to plunge into twin problems of increasing meat production and holding down prices.

While prospect of actual government operation of packing plants is believed to be remote, radical steps may nevertheless result from the probe now on.

Investigators will consider both packing and livestock industries from the point of view of meat prices, producing costs, labor and shortage, transportation difficulties, speculation and marketing and middlemen's margins.

If meat famine in Europe and at home is to be averted, beef and pork production must be boosted tremendously and without delay, experts declare. Department of agricultural officials openly admit the meat situation is unsatisfactory; stock men declare they are losing money, and food administration officials concerned with distribution prices, openly fear flights of retail prices that will mean no meat for the laboring population who need it most.

Prompt action will avert danger, stockmen hold. Over 7,000,000 meat animals were added to America's food resources last year, but the number of cattle is still five million head short of the ten years ago. Population growth has leaped thirteen million and beef exports have tripled in the decade. Per capita consumption of meat has increased. Pork exports are sixty per cent greater than pre war shipments.

Hogs should be increased fifteen per cent this year. Officials believe pork is the form of meat which can be increased most rapidly. Depleted live herds in allied countries growing less with each year of war are throwing a constantly growing burden on American food administration officials. Population growth has leaped thirteen million and beef exports have tripled in the decade. Per capita consumption of meat has increased. Pork exports are sixty per cent greater than pre war shipments.

well as continuing financial aid to our allies. Indeed the marvel is the facility with which the United States takes on all these applications, proving that our financial resources are much larger than ever dreamed of. The first year of war has cost the United States nine billions, of which more than half went to our allies, one third to our own army, one tenth to the navy, and one fifth to shipbuilding. One sixth of this amount was raised by taxation, the balance from liberty bonds.

Industries More Active

In some departments industry has become more active with the opening of spring, and the improvement in transportation. The increase in pig iron production is very striking, the March output being 3,213,000 tons, against 2,319,000 tons in February. This increase was largely due to recovery from the deadlock in transportation which occurred during the severe weather of February. Shipbuilding has also been speeded up with greater regularity so that the output of ships and munitions should also be heavier. Our textile trades are fully occupied, chiefly upon army work and at profitable prices. Food products are active and growers are securing handsome returns. This is true of all agricultural products. Cotton touched another top record, 36 cents, while western farmers are now looking toward $2.50 wheat. Meats are high though not scarce. Crop advices are very favorable thus far, and the April wheat report will show a considerable improvement in conditions compared with last year. The necessity for conservation of flour is still pressing owing to poor quality of last year's crop but the flour administrator authority for the statement that this year's wheat crop promises 800,000,000 to 850,000,000 bushels against 650,000,000 bushels last year. The dustiest industry in the country is probably that of building, because of high costs of labor and materials; also owing to disposition of the government to discourage any important new construction, in consequence of which a scarcity of housing rooms is developing. February railroad returns which reflected bad weather, are particularly poor. Pennsylvania reporting a deficit of nearly $17,000,000 during January and February. Other railroad returns for these months were relatively poor. March reports are expected to show decided improvement owing to recovery of traffic and increase of rates allowed by the interstate commerce commission. What with the restoration of traffic, the advance in rates and the government guarantee of dividends on the last three years' basis, the railroads would seem to have little or nothing to fear for some time to come.

Stock Market Strong

The stock market behaves well; very well considering the strain and diversion of war. Activity is limited; yet there is a confident undertone, and all setbacks are followed by prompt recoveries. Prices respond much more readily to good news than to bad news. There is a decided disposition to resist bad news, evidently part of the confident war spirit. Stocks appear to be concentrated in strong hands, speculative holdings being remarkably light. Good railroad shares are selling low considering the returns offered and improved general conditions. Bonds are inactive, while short term notes find more ready purchasers under present monetary and investment conditions. Government loans naturally absorb a large part of the war capital and savings. During March the amount of new enterprises reported of a million or over was only $128,000,000 against $250,000,000 a year ago; while the similar totals since January 1 were $458,000,000 and $809,000,000 respectively. In other words war has cut down home investments in new enterprises fully one half. This means that when the struggle is over there will be a rush of deferred enterprises in this country, which added to other demands means widespread business activity, implies a great demand for capital and labor, and continued high prices. Our government continues to extend its powers over business affairs and there is now some talk of its taking over the most packing industry, which may possibly include a very wide range of animal side products.

One of the latest steps in government regulation has been the stoppage of short sales, which in business circles will generally be regarded as a mistake for the reason that such transactions always create a buying power that is invaluable in checking undue depression and panic. Financial operations must be continued upon conservative lines, credit and security markets still being particularly sensitive to the shocks and uncertainties of war.

Suffered Tortures of Gastritis for Many Years

Thought She Had Cancer of the Stomach

Regains Healthy Digestion Within a Week and Now Eats Whatever She Likes.

The following extract from a statement made by Mrs. Tina H. Pratt of Rochester, N. Y., carries a message of cheer to thousands of sufferers from dyspepsia, gastritis, indigestion, acidity, etc. Read it carefully and be guided by her experience.

"For years I suffered tortures from gastric indigestion. Everything I ate seemed to turn to acid and gas and the most delicate food caused intense pain. I consulted doctors in America, Paris and London, took their medicine and paid big fees; but with no result. I continually grew worse and began to believe I had cancer of the stomach. At last an eminent chemist, who was a friend of my husband, urged me to try Bi-nesia, a healing antacid, which he said was being used extensively in some of the leading hospitals in just such cases as mine. I took a teaspoonful of Bi-nesia in half a glass of hot water and within two or three minutes that awful burning, oozing pain in the pit of my stomach had entirely ceased. I then tried it after eating and found that my food for the first time in months was digesting perfectly without the slightest pain. I kept on with the use of Bi-nesia after each meal and within a week my stomach trouble had disappeared and I could eat whatever I liked without the slightest pain or inconvenience. I have related my experience to many sufferers from stomach trouble and almost invariably they have reported the same wonderful results."

TINA H. PRATT.

Mrs. Pratt's experience has been that of thousands of others who after suffering untold tortures for years and spending huge sums in doctor's bills and treatments without success have at last found relief and freedom from pain and discomfort simply by taking a teaspoonful of Bi-nesia in a little hot water after meals or whenever pain was felt. No matter how bad your case may be—no matter how many remedies or treatments you may have tried—you should give Bi-nesia a trial. Get a fifty cent package from your druggist today and after your next meal take a teaspoonful in a little hot water and note the freedom from the pain that usually follows taking food. Take it the next time you have that terrible pain in your stomach; then look at your watch and note how quickly the pain disappears. And best of all, remember this, if the test fails it costs you nothing, for every package of either powder or tablets contains a binding guarantee of satisfaction or money back.

IMPORTANT—The Bi-nesia mentioned above is a harmless but wonderfully effective remedy which you can make at home or any druggist can prepare for you by mixing 1 1/2 ounces bicarbonate with 1 ounce magnesium carbonate. If, however, you wish a guarantee of satisfaction or money back, be sure to ask for an original package of Bi-nesia.
